BLAME GANGSTERS FOR HIS MURDER

Shooting Occurs At Rooming House—Assassins Are At Liberty

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 18.—They got Jack "Legs" Diamond, gangland's human sieve today—and his assassins got away.

For years his enemies had been ventilating the notorious beer runner. And finally as dawn was slipping through the grimy windows of a tawdry rooming house, two men crept into the second floor front and pumped three bullets at close range into the unclad Diamond.

In his underwear, the dark prince of the underworld was found sprawled across the bed. Powder marks from the wounds in his head, neck and body showed how close the killer had stood when he fired.

Even the gangster's hair was singed.

Whether the two killers had attended the party given by Diamond in celebration of his acquittal on a kidnaping charge was a matter of conjecture.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

North Mercer street, north of Clenmore boulevard, has been put in condition at the intersections of Hillcrest and Fairmont avenues. Recent rains made gulleys across Mercer street and owing to the thoroughfare being travelled considerably repairs were made immediately.

Chief of Police Horner's instructions to patrolmen that they are to inspect traffic signs and report those which need repair should meet with approval. His plan to ascertain the condition of the signs is good as policemen tramp through all sections of the city and notice such things.

It looks to Pa Newc as if the weather man is storing up some vicious weather for us this winter. Last year at this time, we had two severe wintry spells, when the weather dropped to a few degrees above zero. So far this season, the weather has been comparatively mild.

A local man tells Pa that he saw a new license plate on a car in seventh ward yesterday with the following lone inscription "CP."

Moratorium Plan Will Be Passed By Congress Says Swick In Address

"In my opinion there is no question of the moratorium plan of the president passing the present session of Congress" declared Congressman J. Howard Swick at the luncheon of the Lawrence County Road Supervisors and Auditors held Thursday afternoon in the third floor dining room of the Y. W. C. A.

"There will be considerable debate upon the plan" continued Dr. Swick, "but I am confident that the president would never have instituted such a program had he not been sure of support enough to pass it. When I received his telegram asking me my stand on the question I answered that I was in favor of withholding the debt payment for a year, but did not favor a cancellation of all foreign debts. I still feel that way about it."

Bridge Experts Cannot Fathom Some Of Strange Bids That Have Been Made

By J. C. OESTREICHER

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Apparently thriving under criticism and attack, Ely Culbertson today held a lead of 4,985 points over Sidney Lenz(his opponent in the marathon contract bridge tournament.

Dismissing with a few words the onslaught of F. D. Courtenay, president of bridge headquarters, who charged the whole tournament was a "publicity" stunt and that the principals were playing like "monkeys," Culbertson went into last night's session against Lenz and Oswald Jacoby, partnered by Theodore A. Lightner.

Helpful Start

Lightner, who replaced Mrs. Josephine Culbertson when the wife of the "approach forcing" master decided it was time to give some Christmas attention to her children, grabbed the spotlight on the very first hand dealt by bidding game in no trump and making three overtricks.

It gave the Culbertson team a helpful start, and with the aid of powerful cards and ultra-conserva-

Nurses Awakened To Find Man In Their Apartment

Pays Good Fine On Disorderly Conduct Charge At Police Court

Answering a call shortly before 2:30 o'clock this morning to the Jameson Memorial Hospital Nurses Annex in the former Connor residence, northwest corner of Wilmington avenue and Garfield avenue, which was in effect that a man had been found in the place, Officers George Kennedy and Joseph Greer, found and arrested a man, who gave his name as David Williams, whom the janitor of the hospital had caught and was holding for the police.

Williams had been and continued to use very abusive language after being arrested.

The officers found that a number of nurses sleeping on the first floor of the place, which is used by the nurses of the hospital, had been awakened by the noise made by Williams. It was not definitely determined how Williams got in, as the door was locked and no one saw him get in.

When he appeared before the mayor this morning, he was assessed a fine of $25 on a charge of disorderly conduct. He paid the fine.

Assure Hoover Of Action Upon Debt Moratorium

Rep. Rainey, Illinois, Majority Leader, Says House Will Be Kept In Session

REP. McFADDEN IS EXCLUDED

House Will Likely Pass Legislation Giving Federal Land Banks $100,000,000

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—President Hoover appealed to House leaders today for bi-partisan and quick action on the more important of his legislative proposals—and got it.

After a White House breakfast conference, Rep. Rainey of Illinois, majority leader, announced that the House would be kept in session until midnight if necessary to ratify the one-year moratorium.

Hoover Assured

Tomorrow, Rainey said, the House will enact the necessary legislation to give the Federal Land Banks $100,000,000 more capital, and after that it will tackle Mr. Hoover's recommendation for the creation of a $500,000,000 "reconstruction corporation" to alleviate credit conditions.

The White House breakfast saw the first "disciplining" of Rep. McFadden (R) of Pennsylvania, chairman last session of the important banking and currency committee, and now ranking Republican member.

McFadden Excluded

McFadden was excluded from the invitation, and the next two Republican members below him in rank were asked—Strong of Kansas, and Luce of Massachusetts.

McFadden savagely attacked the moratorium proposal earlier in the week and accused Mr. Hoover of "selling out" to the international bankers.

Mrs. Culbertson Is Indicted On Murder Charge

Pittsburgh Woman Who Shot Her Husband During Argument, Held For Murder

CORONER'S JURY INDICTS WOMAN

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 18—Mrs. Laverna Culbertson, attractive mother of two children and prominent Mt. Lebanon clubwoman, today was under indictment on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband, Albert L. Culbertson, an engineer, last November 15.

The shooting climaxed a gay week end party following the Pitt-Army football game in which Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Walker of Mt. Vernon, O. guests of the Culbertson's, participated. According to testimony at the coroner's inquest, all four had been drinking.

Culbertson was shot, according to detectives, as he struggled with his wife for possession of a shotgun. Mrs. Culbertson was said to have objected to his plans to go on a hunting trip with the Walkers'.

Slayer Hanged In Washington

(International News Service)

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Dec. 18.—George Miller, 48, was hanged today at the state prison for the murder of John Ivester, a Spokane, Wash., express messenger, October 30, 1929.

Rain beat a gentle tattoo on an outdoor canopy as the trap was sprung.

As the black cap was placed on his head he asked guards:

"Hadn't I better have these glasses taken off?"

Here's Your Chance To Aid Needy Folks

An opportunity to aid the mayor's relief committee in making Christmas a happy one for the unemployed residents of New Castle is offered in the Christmas basket movement, which got under way today.

Chairman James K. Love stated today that the committee is planning to add some extras to the baskets distributed next week to the unemployed of the city, who have applied to the committee for aid.

There are many New Castle folks, however, who would like to do a little more along this line by furnishing a basket for some deserving family, and the mayor's committee appeals to them to aid with the Christmas baskets.

The idea of the mayor's committee is to provide as much as possible for as many as possible at Christmas time.

Organizations and persons intending to distribute baskets are requested to furnish the mayor's relief committee with the names of the

Paden Again To Head Supervisors

Re-elected At County Convention In This City On Thursday

WORK ON TOWNSHIP ROADS PROJECTED

Milo D. Paden of Mahmoning township will again head the Lawrence county road supervisors and auditors, his re-election occurring Thursday afternoon at the close of the 18th annual convention held in the Y. W. C. A. Holliday Newton of Wayne township was elected vice president and Dr. Frederick Taylor of Pulaski township was elected secretary. F. A. McCreary of Hickory township was elected treasurer. Two delegates were elected to the state convention, the two being C. O. Weigle of Scott township and Dale Fullerton of North Beaver. Alternates elected are Henry J. Kenehan of Plaingrove township and Frank McVey of Mahoning township.

The report of the committee on resolutions this year was a light one, there being but two resolutions offered. The first suggests that the year of road supervisors and auditors end on January 1, instead of December 1, and the other recommends that a program of work relief on the township roads be considered by the county commissioners in connection with the present unemployment situation.

Rep. McFadden To Be Ostracised By G.O.P. Colleagues

Senators Reed And Davis Will Move To Defeat McFadden Upon Re-Nomination

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18—Louis T. McFadden, of Canton, Pa., Republican representatives of the 15th congressional district, will be read out of the Republican party, Senator David A. Reed, Keystone State Republican declared today, following a visit at the White House.

McFadden is to be ostracised by the G. O. P. for his attacks upon President Hoover, in connection with the proposed moratorium to European nations. McFadden in a house speech, accused the president of "selling out" his country.

Henceforth said Reed he and Senator Davis would direct patronage in McFadden's district. They have instructed postmaster general Brown to this effect.

Should McFadden move to recapture his seat next year, an administration Republican will be placed in the field against him, the Senior Senator of Pennsylvania threatened.

Fire Causes Loss At Clintonville

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Dec. 18—A fire at 3 p. m. today at Clintonville, completely destroyed the combined garage and hardware store of G. A. Blair and Son causing a loss of $20,000. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The flames also devoured a dwelling house adjoining the garage, in which Jack Eakin lived. The household goods were saved, but a loss of $1500 was sustained.

The flames also swept across the street, damaging the Blair home and show room.

No Agreement Reached Over Postal Lease

Settlement Of Lease For Small Building Still Holds Up Acquisition Of Site

NO NEW OVERTURES MADE TO AGENTS

As far as could be learned today, no further overtures have been made to the United States Treasury Department in regard to effecting a settlement over the lease for the building on property owned by Mrs. Mary Clark on the Diamond.

Agents for the government are still hopeful that some agreement can be reached which will not necessitate condemnation proceedings.

It is stated that the government is prepared to sign the deeds and take the necessary steps toward construction of the new Post Office, but that nothing can be done until an agreement is reached in regard to the lease on the one small property, which is a small frame structure with a frontage of sixteen feet, adjoining the Clark home.

The lease, signed this fall by Sparano and DeLillo, barbers, gives them a five year tenancy to the building, with the privilege of a ten year renewal after the five year period expires.

It has been intimated that condemnation proceedings will be instituted in the near future unless the tenants reduce the demands they have made on the Treasury Department for surrender of the lease. This would mean a delay of several more months in starting construction of the building.

As the matter now stands, if the property would be taken over today, at least sixty days would have to be given the occupants of the various buildings to vacate the property and other necessary steps would delay the proceedings still further, so that it would be late in the spring before actual construction work could get under way.

If condemnation proceedings are instituted, hearing of the litigation could not start until April, it is stated, and this might drag the project along until next summer or early fall.

Benefit Program Expected To Draw Big Attendance

Legion Of Honor Sponsors Entertainment For Relief Of Members

With arrangements completed to handle a record crowd, members of the Legion of Honor of the New Castle Consistory are looking forward to a big attendance at the benefit program which will be staged this evening in the Cathedral.

A fine program of entertainment, which will feature some of the most talented artists in the city, has been arranged by Ivor M. Richards, general chairman.

The admission, as has been stated before, will be the equivalent of 25 cents worth of groceries. The response has already been most generous among those who will be unable to attend tonight's program, and enough to take care of the demands through the winter is expected to be received.

funeral chamber indicated there had been many guests.

The two killers after doing their job leaped downstairs and into a waiting automobile—a large blue sedan.

Mrs. Laura Wood, landlady, said she did not obtain the license number of the car.

"One of the men shouted: 'We got him this time,'" said Mrs. Wood.

Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Ethel Smith, her sister, John Storey, supposedly a friend of Diamond, and the racketeer's wife, Mrs. Alice Diamond, were held by police as witnesses.

A score of detectives were searching the rooming house and its environs for clues to the slayers.

Special orders were sent out to police of the entire state to apprehend Marion "Kiki" Roberts, reputed sweetheart of Diamond, who had been with him a short time before assassins made an unsuccessful attempt to kill him in a New York hotel room.

Found Not Guilty

Diamond vanished from the court room in Troy last night immediately after a jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty" in the Duncan case.

His wife, who had shown great emotion when the decision was announced, left with him.

Diamond refused to say where he intended to go. His comment on the trial was:

"It was a wonderful tribute."

The trial marked the second unsuccessful recent attempt by the state to put Diamond, reputed leader of a gang of bootleggers, behind the bars.

The first attempt, in which he was accused of the torture of Duncan and Grover Park, also ended in an acquittal for Diamond.

Definite information that Mrs. Diamond was not present when Diamond was slain came from Mrs. Wood. The landlady said as soon as she discovered Diamond's body she called Mrs. Diamond on the telephone in a Broadway speakeasy.

Mrs. Diamond hurried to the house in a taxi and was there when police arrived. The police said Mrs. Diamond fought with them when they attempted to take her out of the house to the police station, and that she kept crying, "Poor Legs," "Poor Legs."

tive bidding on the part of Lenz and Jacoby they raced through five straight rubbers. The Lenz-Jacoby outfit had to be content with taking the last rubber of the evening.

Good Hands Underbid

Experts who thronged the hotel where the match is in progress were at a loss to understand the pall that fell over the usual brilliant playing of Lenz and Jacoby. Numerous instances were cited where good hands were hopelessly underbid or passed, while bickering marred the hitherto perfect relationships between the pair who are pitting Lenz' 1-2-3 system against that of Culbertson.

Culbertson peppered the session with a statement accusing his opponents of being "bad losers."

"Another session like last night and Mr. Lenz and Mr. Jacoby will acquire a reputation of being the world's worst losers," he said. "I have yet to see so much petty squabbling, unknowing gestures and petty despair as was in their game. They are showing all the symptoms of bad losers. Perhaps they are only human, but I wish they wouldn't be so abominably human."

anxiety for friends and relatives who maintained a constant vigil since her disappearance. Blair was held for further questioning.

Mrs. Donnelly told police she had been held captive in a farmhouse southwest of Kansas City and had been driven in an automobile for about thirty-five minutes before released.

Although blindfolded most of the time since her abduction Mrs. Donnelly said she was not harmed by the kidnap gang.

Bum Job

"We did a bum job of kidnaping a woman," Mrs. Donnelly quoted her abductors as saying just before they shoved her and Blair from their car. "Wait here and you will be picked up in a minute."

A short time later a police car drew up in front of where she and Blair were standing, Mrs. Donnelly said, and she thought that the kidnapers had returned.

The police identified themselves and satisfied Mrs. Donnelly that she was to be returned safely to her home.

Mrs. Donnelly's first concern on reaching home was her husband, Paul Donnelly, president of the garment company which she founded, and her recently adopted son, David, 14-weeks old.

She rushed into the arms of her husband weeping almost hysterically. She was immediately ordered to bed by the Donnelly family physician.

Former U. S. Senator James A. Reed, attorney for the Donnelly family, who rushed here from Jefferson City yesterday to negotiate with the kidnapers, promising that the $75,000 ransom would be paid, would not say this morning whether or not the money was paid to the kidnap gang.

The new Cantonese government, whose leaders today began the difficult task of picking up the reins where they were left by the resignation of President Chiang Kai-Shek, threatened further violence against the students, and it appeared that order would not be restored until these threats were carried out.

Arrests Ordered.

Troops were ordered to round up the rebelling youths and forcibly ship them back to their colleges, and Peiping groups immediately announced their refusal to submit to the order. They barricaded themselves within the walls of the Central university and beat off repeated attacks by troops, who finally laid a siege around the buildings.

One of the first acts of the Cantonese delegates after their arrival here was to go into conference with Chiang Kai-Shek, who returned here after having left ostensibly to retire to his native home.

Punishment Promised.

Following the meeting, a statement was issued declaring the new government was stressing its efforts to regain the territorial sovereignty of Manchuria, at present well under the control fo the Japanese.

The new leaders announced they would punish all those convicted of responsibility for the recent trouble there.

Organizations and persons desiring a list of names to whom they may contribute baskets will be furnished the same by the mayor's relief committee.

Organizations and persons who are desirous of filling baskets but do not want to distribute them are urged to donate such baskets to the mayor's relief committee and they will see that they are carefully distributed.

The mayor's committee is distributing food daily, but will add to the baskets to be given out at Christmas time by putting in a roast of meat and other foods which it is impossible to furnish regularly.

The commitete is desirous of the cooperation of all other organizations, however, to guard against omission of any deserving family from this Christmas distribution.

People who wish to give information to the committee in regard to deserving families who are in need of assistance are requested to mail this information with as much information of the person's circumstances as they know. roads was prophesied by Congressman Swick for the near future, perhaps in the present session of Congress. "It is something that will certainly come" said he. "We regulate the railroads, we supervise their hours of employment, their number of men on crews and yet we allow heavy trucks to roll over our roads with little or no regulation. No man can drive a truck for 12 or 16 hours continuously and be a safe driver. It is my idea that he should be regulated to eight hours a day and that a man should be forced to ride the rear of the truck as a matter of safety."

Slack Water Project

Discussing the proposed slack water of the Beaver and Shenango rivers, Congressman Swick said that the report of the survey of the engineers would not be presented much before March, but that he was assured that it would be a favorable report.

Congressman Swick discussed the development of the Federal Road System in an interesting way for the Supervisors and Auditors and mentioned some of the costs that have been incurred as a result of it. His address was one that fitted the occasion in a timely manner and at the conclusion of it he was given an ovation. He was introduced by Assemblyman William McElwee, Jr., member from the Second District of Lawrence County.

State Senator George T. Weingartner was the chief speaker of the afternoon and he spoke on the road program of the state which this year added 20,000 miles of township road to the state system, thus relieving the township supervisors of about 25 per cent of their upkeep of roads.

Two selections were rendered by Mrs. John Wink and Mrs. Avery Rigby. The services were very largely attended by relatives and friends. The Sons of Veterans Reserve, the Sons of Veterans, three members of the G. A. R., D. M. Clark, commander Post No. 100, C. B. Hamilton, Adjutant and A. R. Kerr senior past commander, and members of various auxiliaries of the G. A. R. and affiliated organizations were in attendance.

Sons acted as pallbearers. At Oak Park Cemetery full military honors were conferred on the deceased. The Sons of Veterans Reserve furnished a firing squad consisting of Captain W. D. Park in charge and the following members, George Partington, Frank Grannis, Art Grannis, Clarence Grannis, George Foster, Chas. Miner and Herman Gilbert.

The services at the grave were conducted by Chaplain S. H. Gilbert and Commander Walter Cross of Oscar L. Jackson Camp No. 249, Sons of Union Veterans. During the service, the firing squad fired three volleys and taps were sounded by buglers provided by the Sons of Union Veterans. Interment was made at Oak Park Cemetery.

Emerson Weber

Glen Weber, Wallace avenue, received word this morning of the death of his brother, Emerson, aged 42, of Curwensville.

Mr. Weber was taken suddenly ill Tuesday of this week, while in the mountains near Clearfield: he was removed to his home, but gradually became worse and Thursday was taken to the Clearfield hospital where he died at 7:30 this morning.

Ralph Weber of Sharon, formerly of this city, is also a brother.

Mr. Weber is survived by his wife, Rossie Weber and three children.

Announcement of the funeral arrangements has not been received.

George Veslo.

George Veslo, aged 35, a resident of Ellwood City, died Thursday at 2 a. m. in the Dixmont hospital, after a long illness.

Mr. Veslo was a soldier in the United States army from 1922 to 1925. He is survived by his parents, in Roumania, and two uncles in New Castle.

The body is at the Roumanian Hall, South Jefferson street, from where funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 p. m.

Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Catherine Modliszewski.

Mrs. Catherine Modliszewski, aged 61, Chewton, died Thursday at 3 p. m. in the family home, following a three weeks' illness. She had lived a number of years in Chewton and was highly respected in the community.

She was preceded in death five years ago by her husband. She is survived by four daughters: Mrs. Stella Zack, Shenango township; Mrs. Sophie Kozier, Chewton; Mary and Bolvine, at home; and three sons, John of Chewton, Raymond and Rudolph, at home.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 9 a. m. in St. Monica's church, with Rev. Fr. Maloney officiating. Interment will be made in Hoytdale cemetery.

Mrs. Nellie B. Marquis

Mrs. Nellie B. Marquis, wife of William E. Marquis of 323 Neshannock avenue, died about ten o'clock this morning at the Blairsville, Pa. hospital following an illness of several months due to complications. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Urge Hoover To Close Markets

Oil City Chamber Of Commerce Urges President Close Stock Exchanges

WOULD AID IN CURBING HYSTERIA

(International News Service)

OIL CITY, Pa., Dec. 18—President Hoover today was urged in a telegram sent by the Chamber of Commerce to order a general closing of the nation's stock exchanges 'until the present hysteria subsides."

The chief executive was requested to "persuade the directors of the New York stock exchange, New York curb exchange and other exchanges to close them until such time as the "present hysteria subsides and the country returns to a true sense of values."

Officials of the Chamber said such action, in their opinion, was "more imperative than the existing war debt moratorium" uncertainty.

Name January 7 Date For Scout Council Meeting

Lawrence County Executive Group Meets For Brief Confab Thursday

The annual election of officers and transaction of business for the Lawrence County Boy Scout council will come on Thursday, January 7, 1932, the council's board of executives, meeting at Chamber of Commerce quarters Thursday afternoon, decided.

The president, Dr. C. J. Williamson was in charge. Scout Executive H. G. Horton and six other board men were present.

Councilmen D. B. Hawkins and the Rev. G. S. Bennett were named by the president to act as a nominating committee in the presentment of names of deserving leaders who they feel are eligible for the high Silver Beaver patrol medal which the National council awards. The names will be submitted to the board for its approval sometime before the end of the year.

The Silver Beaver rank goes to men who have been most faithful to Scouting during the last year and whose work has brought the most outstanding accomplishments.

Other than selecting the annual meeting date and passing on routine council business, the board took little action. The session was a brief one.

COUNCIL WILL NOT MEET CHRISTMAS DAY

Council will meet Monday in formal session then adjourn until Thursday, according to Mayor Gillespie. The meeting which is generally held each Friday will occur a day ahead of time owing to next Friday being Christmas Day.

Postal Employes, City Workmen Are Aiding Relief Fund

Several Hundred Dollars Is Added Today Through Contributions

Contribution of $106.65 yesterday by employes of the New Castle postoffice, together with additions being made to the fund today by city workers has swelled the mayor's relief fund to $5,219.58.

The city employes had been asked to contribute one day's pay from their November and December pays. Today is payday with the city employes and some of them are giving their contribution today instead of waiting until the end of the month.

COUNCIL FILES KENNELLY'S LETTER

Communication from T. E. Kennelly regarding a sprain to his foot, sustained sometime ago, was filed by order of council when solons met in the city building today. Kennelly's communication related to the opinion rendered by Solicitor White.

Kennelly's letter pointed out that on the same day he sustained the injury the department of streets employes repaired the hole at Water and East streets where he alleged he was injured. Inspector Dysart said there was a hole where Kennelly said he had been hurt.

Kennelly said the damages he asked were reasonable and if he went into court he may ask for "punitive damages".

AUXILIARIES HOLD CHRISTMAS PARTY

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, held their first joint Christmas party in the Legion Home Association building, the children of the members being special guests on the occasion.

The evening's activities started with a tureen dinner served at 6:30, over a hundred sitting down at a prettily decorated table in the assembly room of the home. Favors of red and green, and red and green candles, were used in the table appointments, and two gaily decorated Christmas trees added to the festive spirit.

Reading—Mrs. Mary Arenth.
Song—Evelyn Festosa.
Reading—Alberta Frederick.
Reading—Marian Shaffer.
Song and Dance—Mary Elizabeth Suber.
Reading—Rosetta Treharne.
Reading—Bobby Speed.
Dance—Frances Stickle.
Reading—Oliver Frederick.
Dance—Betty Arenth.
Reading—Clayton Conner.
Song—Carolyn LaRue.
Reading—Catherine Pearsall.
Reading—Charles Arenth.
Reading—Gladys Stickle.
Reading—Marjorie Crawford.

At the conclusion of the program given by the children, remarks were made by Mrs. Ida Suber, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, and Mrs. Evelyn Woods, president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary.

Mrs. Elsie Frederick then appeared on the scene as Santa Claus and gave each child present a treat and a toy.

The success of the affair was due to the efforts of the committees from the two organizations, Mrs. Ernest Treharne being general chairlady, with the following aides: V. F. W. Auxiliary, Mesdames String, Speed, Bell and Smith; Legion Auxiliary, Mesdames Fleming, Wimer, Runkle, Boak and Greer.

Jokers Club

ART CLUB MEMBERS CHRISTMAS EVENT

Mrs. A. C. McCoy of Park avenue pleasingly received associates of the Art club in her home Thursday afternoon for their annual Christmas holiday program, with Mrs. W. W. Sniff as chairman.

Business matters were given attention and at this time Mrs. George Knox gave an excellent report of the blind committee and Mrs. J. A. McNeill reported on the educational committee.

A talk on "Famous Paintings of Boys" was given by Mrs. Donald Lusk, while another interesting subject, "Famous Paintings of Girls" was given by Mrs. E. F. G. Harper. At the conclusion of the entertainment, Mrs. Clinton Keagy led the members in singing Christmas carols. She made and decorated the books used.

The guests were then ushered into the dining room where they were served tea by the committee in charge, comprising Mrs. E. L. Stitzinger, Mrs. George Knox and Mrs. Donald Lusk. Mrs. T. I. Elliott and Mrs. A. C. McCoy poured. The table was beautified with large red poinsettas and tall slender red tapers in crystal holders. This marked the close of a most delightful afternoon.

The next regular meeting will take place on January 21 with Mrs. C. Ed Smith of Highland avenue as hostess.

Birthday Surprise

Philo Rodgers of Plaingrove planned a pleasant surprise for his wife Thursday evening, the date being that of the anniversary of her birth.

He invited a group of relatives and friends to the home to help celebrate the event and a pleasant social evening was enjoyed with a delicious oyster supper served late in the evening.

Mrs. Rodgers was the recipient of many gifts of remembrance.

Those in the group were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Rodgers, Hrs. Ada Rodgers, Montgomery Rodgers and Dr. and Mrs. T. J. McFate and family of New Castle; Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Rodgers and family and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burns and family of Slippery Rock, and the Philo Rodgers family.

Pi Omicron Elects Officers.

On Thursday evening members of the Pi Omicron sorority met in the North street school for their regular session. Mrs. Carrie Jeffries Roberts, instructress, presided. A business session was called and election of the following officers occurred: President, Miss Barbara Schultz; vice-president, Miss Marguerite Cordes; secretary, Mrs. E. H. Williams; treasurer, Miss Arlene Waid.

Plans were discussed for a holiday party to take place on Thursday, January 7, at the home of Mrs. Roberts, and the committees in charge comprise the following: Social, Miss Jean Glenn, chairman, Mrs. E. H. Williams and Mrs. Homer Allen; entertainment, Misses Cordes, Arlene Waid and Virginia Conover.

1926 Ki-Nu Club Meets

A delightful meeting of the 1926 Ki-Nu Club was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Ben Lowery on Neshannock avenue at the annual Christmas party. Election of new officers occurred with the following results: president, Mrs. Gertrude Calderwood: vice president Mrs. Rose Gilland; secretary, Mrs. Eva Nicholson, treasurer, Mrs. Lois Arrow.

The hours remaining were spent in playing bingo, the prizes going to Mrs. Lois Arrow, Mrs. Eva Nicholson and Mrs. Rose Gilland. A delicious menu was served at a late hour as the closing feature.

On Thursday, January 21 Mrs. Gilland of Marshall avenue will entertain in her home.

F. O. F. Club

Mrs. W. B. Shanafelt of West Madison avenue was club hostess to the F. O. F. associates Thursday, when they met for a Christmas party. The exchange of gifts took place, and following, the hours were spent socially with various forms of pastimes. Special guests included Mrs. Maude Adams, Mrs. Harvey Mollenkopf and Miss Ina Cooper. Lunch was later served, with Mrs. Adams and Miss Cooper assisting the hostess.

The next meeting will take place at the residence of Mrs. R. W. Wilson on Ridge street, the date to be decided.

Queen Sewing Circle

Members of the Queen Sewing Circle were entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harry Lach on Hutchinson street. Seven were present, and the hours were spent informally with music and chat. At a suitable time, lunch was served by the hostess. Christmas tones prevailed throughout in the room decorations.

As a special guest, the ladies had Mrs. Orville Potter.

Dinner Event.

CREDIT BUREAU GIRLS HAVE PARTY

Girls from the New Castle Credit Exchange held their annual Christmas party Wednesday evening, Mrs. Howard Welsh of Neshannock boulevard, being hostess. Dinner was served at 6:30, and the succeeding hours were spent in cards and dancing.

The table was beautifully decorated with Christmas appointments, a small Christmas tree, flanked by red and green tapers, in silver candlesticks forming the centerpiece.

Honors at cards went to Irvine Gibson, who with Manager Ray F. Hall and wife, were special guests.

MARTHA SHRINE BANQUET SUCCESS

On Thursday evening an outstanding social event of interest was the banquet given in the Cathedral by the Martha Shrine, which was attended by guests from Butler, Pittsburgh, Rochester, Youngstown, O., Sharon and Cleveland, O., numbering well over a hundred. The spacious dining room was beautifully decorated for the occasion in Christmas tones, and the emblems of the order were cleverly woven in with the appointments, making a most striking setitng.

A delicious menu was served, and following, Dorothy and Stephen Kleckner entertained with a trombone and cornet solo, and Kathryn Hartsuff favored those in attendance with a novelty dance number, each being well received by their audience.

The ceremonial was later in progress, and the supreme guests of the evening were Victoria L. Crouse, supreme high priestess of Hollywood, Calif., and Mrs. Frances Ebert, supreme queen of Pittsburgh.

The affair proved a decided success, and the committee in charge is due credit for the splendid way in which it conducted the banquet.

Reunited Ladies League

Twelve members of the Reunited Ladies League entertained at the residence of Mrs. Mary Skidmore on North Mercer street Thursday evening. As special guests, the women had Mrs. Thorn and daughter Maud Anna.

Bingo formed the chief pastime, with prizes being won by Mrs. C. C. Nolte, Mrs. Mary Wyman and Mrs. Elsie Phillips. Preceding this feature, the annual exchange of Christmas presents occurred. The serving of a delectable menu by the hostess, brought the evening to a close.

In two weeks, Mrs. Mary Williams of East Washington street will be club hostess.

A TIME FOR IDEAS

MEMBERS of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association do not subscribe to the current theory that the country is in the grip of a buyers' strike which knows no others. They have proved their conviction that there are ways to make people spend their money.

The secret is the development and marketing of new and better gadgets. The buying public is fickle, always hungering for the new and novel. Even a new model of something old, such as the automobile, often does the trick when it seems impossible to pry a spendthrift loose from a nickel.

New products that have made good, as listed by the association are super-modernistic furniture, quick-drying paint, new health foods, bread in the form of animals for children with weak or discriminating appetites, a new sausage made of fish, a concrete building material that rises like bread and is very light, artificial wool and illumbinating gas made from corn products.

Almost anybody can go into business in this day and age but vastly fewer can do business. Success in business requires more ingenuity, originality and enterprise today than it did at the peak of the prosperity era. Then production was the thing; today the idea is what counts. The new and clever go over with a bang while old established lines rot on the shelves.

Millions jobless and billions of dollars tied up in deflated securities make it inevitable that there should be fewer dollars for spending purposes, but the fact remains that there are still millions with money in their pockets who are only waiting for the irresistible appeal.

CHRISTMAS FIRE HAZARDS

Fire Chief Lynn issues a warning against the careless use of open lights near highly inflammable material used for Christmas decorations which it will be well to heed in stores and homes which should be provided with hand fire extinguishers conveniently located.

Too much care cannot be exercised in the use of candles, and where possible electric candles should be used.

Here in New Castle a good record has been made in fire prevention work, which should not be marred by the results of carelessness during this period for the spread of happiness and cheer.

ON TO CHICAGO

The Republican national committee has elected Chicago as the scene for the next chapter in the annals of the party—an historic chapter to be lived and written at the national convention next spring.

Chicago was the logical choice if only because it is the nearest large city to the geographical center of population. It is not, like some other convention cities, at the seat of the great national issues of the day because the several issues troubling the political parties are not seated in a single area or belt. Every region has its own issues as well as participating in the several national issues.

It is a foregone conclusion that President Hoover will be renominated at the Chicago convention. The sniping of disgruntled or ambitious elements within the party will prove ineffectual just as the anti-Hoover movements in 1928 did. The party will not make the fatal error of changing horses in the middle of a very treacherous stream.

Dissenters will have their day in court at Chicago, the will of the great majority will rule and the delegates will return to their homes of one opinion and with one goal—members of a grand old party indivisible. That is the difference between Republican conventions and the conventions of other political organizations.

WASHINGTON TREES

As a part of the bicentennial celebration of George Washington's birth next year, millions of memorial trees have been or will be planted under the auspices of the American Tree Association. Women's clubs, schools, Boy and Girl Scouts, various other civic organizations, and even convicts, are taking an active part in this tree planting program.

Pennsylvania is one of the most active states in the movement, Pittsburgh alone having decided to plant 111,150 trees, while 84,000 have been planted by the convicts of two state penitentiaries. In New Jersey, Boy Scouts and the Y. M. C. A. are especially active. In Iowa the hundreds of 4-H clubs will take the lead. Florida will have a three months planting period. Wisconsin women's clubs have an elaborate program. In New York and Maryland, as well as in other states, the D. A. R. will plant thousands of trees.

These are only a few of the projects already under way, and it is expected that every state in the Union will join in making 1932 the greatest year for forestry that any country has ever known.

In fact, the idea of honoring Washington's memory in this manner has spread to foreign countries, the first actual planting of memorial trees having been reported from Turkey.

No method of celebrating his 200th anniversary, perhaps, would be more pleasing to Washington himself, if he could witness it, than this planting of trees in his honor.

A Tough Time With Poison Oak
And With the Devil
But Both Have "Character"

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Such a time I had with Poison Oak.

It wanted to grow in our garden, and we did not want it to grow there . . . So up it had to come.

I'd find its little green leaves showing above the brown soil and I'd cut them off. I'd do more than that. I'd take a spade and dig away down and pick away at the roots of the plant, and gather every inch of them and put them in the garbage can to be taken clean away.

But I'd always miss a tiny scrap, and down there in the moist dark that bit of root would get busy, and months later it would be peaking through the earth again.

It was its business to grow, and it would not give up. It wanted to be a fine little plant with green leaves in the spring and summer and fine red ones in the fall, exuding an acid that poisons the skin and closes the eyes and makes its victim scratch-scratch-scratch. . . . But at last the Poison Oak lost its battle. It's gone from the lot, it's no longer there where it wanted so much to be.

But in those years of struggle I learned to respect the Poison Oak. For our garden it was an evil, for its victims it was a real danger, but it was such a good fighter. It was no coward, it was no sulking traitor, and it would not quit! I had to admire it! It reminded me of that fallen angel, Satan, in Milton's "Paradise Lost."

Long ago, I remember, I used to lie on my stomach under the dining room table and pore over that book with the grand illustrations by Gustave Dore, and it seemed to me then that Satan, for the poet and for the artist, was the hero of the book.

He was evil, but he was such a good and stubborn fighter. He was thrown out of Heaven, and "all day long he fell, from dawn to dewy eve, a summer's day," straight down to Hell, but he was always a fighter, and a fair one, too.

He was bad, but there were good things in him, and he had Character that made you respect him.

And so it is, so often, that our big faults are not our most dangerous ones. They stick out. We can see them. We can fight them off. But our little faults wreck us and sour our lives. Our peevish, petty, trivial weaknesses—the ones that "do not count"—the ones we excuse—are the ones that make us hard to live with and make us miserable.

DOGS AND VISITORS

As a dog owner and dog lover you are unable to understand the person who does not like such animals.

The dog in your house enjoys all the privileges of home.

If he wants to jump on your lap, you make no objection.

You are surprised when a guest seems annoyed by such action.

But you shouldn't be.

Even though a visitor feels kindly toward dogs it does not follow that he or she wishes to hold the brute.

Usually those who call on you are well dressed and don't want to hold a dog under such conditions.

You should remember that none feels toward your dog as you do.

A dog too frendly wth guests is as undesirable as the dog who is always ready to bite a shoe or tear a trouser's leg of a caller.

In some homes the dogs repose in the best chairs, the couch, in fact any piece of furniture.

It is not unkind to prevent this.

They are bound to shed hairs which stick to the clothing of those who sit in places where dogs have been.

Analysis In Hoover Message Inspires Demand For Action

Sincerity Is Found In President's Address To Congress, While Differences Are Shown As To Proper Course In Seeking Betterment

Need of action which will produce definite results in the direction of improved conditions is voiced on President Hoover's message to congress. His analysis is productive of varying estimates of his policies, but it is generally agreed that courageous measures will be required. Special attention is given to suggested credit and tax policies.

"The president's faith in the American economic system" is lauded by the CLEVELAND NEWS (Rep.), which sees "a masterly defense of the principles which have guided from the early days of the republic, one calling for renewed application of the 'ideals of individual initiative and equal opportunity' in connection with the stabilizing influences demanded by the times." The News feels that "congress has a definite program ahead of it," and that "it is one that should encounter little partisan opposition, for it deals with fundamental, not controversial, matters."

Quoting a statement from the NEW YORK TIMES (Ind.) that the message is "in general correct but cold," the HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH (Rep.) draws the conclusion: "Figures are cold and they cannot be discussed with pre-heated enthusiasm. Mr. Hoover in his message deals with facts. He states a problem and offers a solution. He puts his proposals into simply stated, easily understood English." The Telegraph holds that congress should "put its official 'ok' on the Hoover bills and adjourn."

"Mr. Hoover lays stress on various means of extending credit," remarks the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS (Dem.), with the comment: "He does not go to the root of the matter. Public works may be beneficial and are to be preferred to a public dole. Public credit may be necessary in emeregncy. But what the average citizen wants is not credit, but a chance to make a living. And what the average citizen wants is what the average corporation wants." The World-News observes that "this year Mr. Hoover does not stress the idea of goverhment financed public works."

"The message cannot fail to make a favorable impression on the country," thinks the SIOUX CITY JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.), "because of its extreme candor." That paper finds merit in the fact that the president "sets forth in plain words his own understanding of the situation affecting the people, makes various suggestions as to what might be attempted in the country's behalf, and leaves the matter to the legislators with his recommendations but without attempting to command them in any way."

With the conclusion that "a current of optimism runs through the message," the LEXINGTON LEADER (Rep.) sums up the main points of the address: "The president proposes that credit analysis be further relieved, that the vast financial resources of the nation be released for constructive enterprise, and that the railroad problem be treated adequately in order to enable the carriers to function smoothly and effectively and to conserve their resources and strengthen their credit." The Leader refers to the plan that "a new system of taxation should be predicated upon the determination to make increases temporary, and any bill passed should be automatically repealed in 1934, when the depression will almost certainly have passed."

"In dealing with the depression," according to the ATLANTA JOURNAL (Dem.), "Mr. Hoover appears to ignore or to mistake fundamental truths, as when, for instance, he argues that this nation is economically contained, or would be self-contained, were it not for the impact of outside conditions, and yet assumes that our attitude toward those conditions has been well-advised. On the vital question of exports as affected by the tariff, he is silent, notwithstanding that the welfare of industry and agriculture alike depend upon their being able to sell abroad the surplus for which no markets can be found at home. He pleads for international good will and for a constructive foreign policy, but passes over the

THE SHELTERED PLACE

Beside my window pane I stayed
And from my comfortable seat
I watched the wet and cold parade
Of people trudging down the street,
Braving the north wind unafraid,
Undaunted by the stinging sleet.

Safe sheltered from the driving storm
I thought it good to be secure,
To sit with body snug and warm
Where fire and food and peace were sure,
With not one deed I must perform
And nothing that I must endure.

But as I watched them come and go
Beneath the burdens they must bear,
In spite of wind and sleet and snow
And driven by the lash of care,
It seemed to me I longed to know
Once more the thrill of battle there.

I wished again at doubtful pace
To be obliged to trudge the street,
To feel the cold wind on my face
And know the sting of rain and sleet,
For after all a sheltered place
Knows neither victory nor defeat.

What Is This Turmoil All About?

From Philadelphia Inquirer

Months ago President Hoover suggested a moratorium for international debts and reparations—a suggestion which was adopted abroad and which afforded a period for sane thinking. He sought counsel of Republican and Democratic leaders. They indorsed his plan for aiding a severely burdened world.

Interest on debts owing the United States were due last Tuesday. In order that there might not be a technical default it was the plain duty of Congress to legislate promptly. There was ample time between December 7 and December 15 to clear this matter up. A joint resolution would have done it. But the subject went to committees of both Houses, and there it remains, although in the end the moratorium will unquestionably be approved. To reject it, as Under Secretary of the Treasury Mills told the Ways and Means Committee, "would be an everlasting disgrace to the Government and people of the United States."

But there are men in Congress who must have their flings. It was not surprising that a Democrat or two should bombard the White House; that McKellar of Tennessee should oppose the moratorium. But what is to be thought of a Republican of the standing—heretofore— of Louis T. McFadden, representing the Pennsylvania district comprising until recent reapportionment the counties of Pike, Susquehanna, Wayne and Wyoming? Under Republican domination he had been chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee. What has come over him? What has led him to let loose a storm of vitriolic rage against the President of the United States? The Washington correspondents tell us that Representatives and spectators were aghast at his performance. And indeed they might well have been. For he cast to the winds all caution.

It was his right, of course, to criticise the moratorium if he saw fit in a gentlemanly way, but he denounced the President's suggestion as "an infamous proposal." Hoover, he asserted, was in a "conspiracy" with international bankers; had sold out the United States to Germany; had been acting in a manner which "savored more of the ways of an Oriental potentate drunk with power than of conduct proper for a President of the United States to pursue. Mr. Hoover with a dramatic flourish made his proposal, linking it as usual with a lot of false and insincere humanitarianism."

For an hour or so McFadden kept up his tirade, and be it put down to Democratic credit that Representative O'Connor of New York resented it. "Mr. Speaker," he exclaimed, "I want to say to the gentlemen on the Republican side that their President and mine has been unjustly attacked on the floor of this House. If they do not defend him, I shall have to." But the defence was there and it was adequate. Chipperdale of Illinois, a new member, denounced as untrue that the President had negotiated directly with German financial interests. "If there is one particle of integrity in the gentleman from Pennsylvania let him produce proof of his charges or let him take himself from this clamber as the foul traducer of the character of an honest man." And in the face of the challenge McFadden uttered no word. It is evident that this newcomer to Washington is likely to be heard from in future. It is likewise evident that Louis T. McFadden has outlived his usefulness.

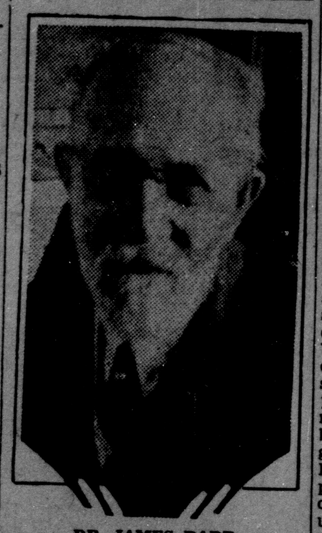
Except among a few—very few of the McFadden brand—there has never been a doubt of the full integrity of President Hoover. He has worked indefatigably for economic stability. He did nothing in an underhand manner when he proposed the moratorium. The public knew all about it. Congressional leaders knew all about it and approved. An attempt has been made by some—there is "Hi" Johnson of California, for instance—to confuse the situation and to link the moratorium with the President's other suggestion that the Debt Commission be re-established in order that the extent of the ability of debtor nations to meet obligations may be examined. The President is firmly opposed to debt cancellation, yet there are those in Congress who insist that re-examination would be a first step toward that end. But the Debt Commission is one thing. The Moratorium is distinctly another. There is not the shadow of a connection between the two.

The debate is unseemly. There is no valid excuse for it outside the realm of mere partisanship. Congress should get the moratorium out of the trenches before Christmas. Those who stand in the way will surely invite—and receive— public condemnation.

Dr. James Barr Nears Hundredth Milestone

Venerable Pastor And Pioneer Missionary Will Be Ninety-Nine On Tuesday

New Wilmington Resident Is Oldest Living Alumnus Of W. And J. College



DR. JAMES BARR

Residents of New Wilmington and students at Westminster College are looking forward with Dr. James Barr to the arrival of Tuesday, December 22, when the venerable pastor will observe his ninety-ninth birthday.

Not only is Dr. Barr one of the pioneers in the Mission fields of India, but he is also the oldest living alumnus of Washington and Jefferson College.

The home on Neshannock avenue, New Wilmington, where he resides with his daughter, Miss Frances Barr, will be the mecca of his many friends and acquaintances Tuesday, as he starts on the last year before he rounds out a century of life, which has been filled with usefulness to his fellow men.

Dr. Barr has been closely associated with Westminster College for many years. His son Herbert E. Barr, M. D., having graduated with the class of 1894, while his daughter, Miss Frances Barr was a member of the graduating class of 1893, and another son, J. D. Barr, now deceased, was graduated with the class of 1898, and for some years prior to his death in 1928 was a member of the Westminster faculty.

Has Had Eventful Life

The venerable pastor has had an eventful life. He was born in Dunningsville, near Washington, Pa., in 1832 and received his early education there. Later he attended Jefferson College at Canonsburg, Pa. Jefferson College was afterwards merged with Washington College at Washington, and has since been known as Washington and Jefferson.

Dr. Barr and his wife left for India in 1861, to serve in the mission field. He made the journey to the far-off land in a sailing vessel around the Cape of Good Hope. There he served in the mission fields from 1861 to 1905, spending much of his time teaching the savage natives in the Punjab. He came to New Wilmington after his return to the United States in 1905 and has since resided there, retiring from the more strenuous duties of life in 1907.

In spite of the fact that he has reached the age when most persons are content to rest on their oars, Dr. Barr is still active. At the present time, is working on his autobiography. Two or three years ago, he started to study medicine, a field of knowledge in which he has always been interested.

A genial, understanding, sympathetic gentleman, Dr. Barr has always been a favorite among the young people, and there are many sons and daughters of missionaries, who tell of looking to him for leadership in inaugurating games and other diversions to amuse themselves in India, long ago.

The students at Westminster College will unite with the townspeople next Tuesday in wishing Dr. Barr happy returns of the day, which has been made vastly better because of his life.

400 PERSONS YEARLY CHANGE THEIR NAMES

(International News Service)

PARIS, Dec. 18.—An average of 400 persons—more than one a day—change their names every year in France.

Statistics show that personal reasons are, for the most part, the cause, but commercial and political matters also have considerable influence.

Apparently, many are even unwilling to bear the same name as a notorious criminal for figures show that every time one is condemned the French Council of State is besieged by scores of persons, similarly named, wishing to change.

According to reports everyone in France called Landru, changed his or her name following the execution of the French "Bluebeard."

Many change because their names are ridiculous or vulgar; others to add an imposing suffix or prefix, usually after marriage.

fact that the Smoot-Hawley bill, which he signed, has bestirred antagonism the world around."

"The measures designed to thaw credit and the taxation proposal" are declared by the PORTLAND OREGONIAN (Rep.) to be "the outstanding sections of the message," and as to the latter The Oregonian states: "Party responsibility is now divided in the legislative halls at Washington. The tax emergency cannot be denied. But there is sound counsel to the leaders of both parties in the president's recommendation that increased taxation be recognized expressly as an emergency policy and that a definite time limit be set upon it. There is opportunity therein also for exhibition of the national patriotism and the unalloyed interest in the public weal of which both parties boast. The impending tax load is so great that it cannot be borne by one class alone. It must be spread with as near an approach to scientific methods as is attainable in taxation and with a sense of justice stronger than desire for partisan advantage."

"What actual legislation is enacted during the session of congress will depart little from his recommendation," in the opinion of the COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL (Rep.), which offers the comment: "The government services must be continued, its credit must be maintained and its obligations met, and, so far in the world's history, no way has been devised to do these things by any means other than taxation." The GARY POST-TRIBUNE (Ind.) feels that "he is asking for credit and renewed opportunity for progress for the business man, the manufacturer, the home owner, the farmer, the railroads, the owner of stocks and bonds, and with this progress will come production and business and jobs."

The message contains, according to the HARTFORD TIMES (Ind. Dem.), "a defensive and expository review of what the government and the country have been doing hitherto in the conflict against business adversity and to assuage the ills of unemployment. It is an impressive account, in many ways praiseworthy, and he emphasizes the material and spiritual gains which the nation has made in the past two years despite handicaps. These are tremendous times. The president has disclosed great effort to deal with the dynamic and vital issues which they have imposed upon the nation with courage, decision and helpfulness. The measure of his success remains to be appraised. For the moment he has opened the gates of controversy as wide as the horizons, on the main point of 'the way out'."

"The chief executive's opposition to congressional revision of the tariff is open to contention," in the opinion of the TEXARKANA GAZETTE (Dem.), which holds that law "responsible for many of the ills of the country." The AKRON BEACON JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.) concludes: "Upon the whole of the country will conclude that Mr. Hoover has done his best to make the most of none too pleasing a situation, even if much of what he offers in the angel of mercy business is the accumtomed fuitility of reaching for the moon, or beating the air vainly."

LIGHT SYSTEM IS RESULT OF BOYISH PRANK

Sun's Rays Effectively Light Parision Building

PARIS, Dec. 18.—A bad boy's prank has proved the key to a worthy invention, according to Jacques Arthuys, who conceived a new sunlighting system from his own youthful misdemeanors.

Flashing a piece of mirror about in a sunshiny window to land a glaring light in teacher's eye or on Sally's slate gave young Jacques an idea that may make him a millionaire. If a tiny piece of broken mercuried glass could make a bright spot in a dark room, then why couldn't a large piece of mirror in the same sun light up a large surface of a dark room? That was the theory upon which the young inventor went to work.

The finished product, as it has been installed in the newspaper plant of "L'Intransigeant" by its author and inaugurated recently by Louis Rollin, minister of commerce, is called the Arthel. It is a simple combination of mirrors and lenses and lights the interior of the building with a phosphorescent glow. From a sklight on the roof of the central stairway solar rays are projected down the six flights and reflected back from a mirror bowl on the ground floor, acting as a fountain. Smaller angled mirrors on each floor catch the strong descending rays and flash them back along the ceiling of corridors or rooms.

"After the original installation of the two huge mirrors in the roof, there is no upkeep except washing them," said M. Arthuys. "Paris has an average of 120 days of sunshine, which is a third of the year, and during that time this system will save a great deal of money. There is also an attachment which switches on the electric light when the sun goes under a cloud," he concluded in explaining his apparatus.

Installed in private homes, the rays could be filtered through a cooling process in summer. In the winter the unfiltered rays would furnish heat for the house as well as illumination in otherwise dark rooms on bright days.

County Boys Are Pledged At Tech

Three Will Be Taken Into Carnegie Tech Fraternities This Year

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 18.—Two students for New Castle and one from New Wilmington have been pledged to fraternities at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, according to a recent announcement.

Loren Fowler Kannenberg, 428 East Winter avenue, New Castle, was pledged to Pi Kappa Alpha, and Harry F. Shannon, 22 Wallace avenue, was pledged to Kappa Sigma. Both Kannenberg and Shannon are freshmen in the College of Engineering.

David C. Maxwell, a sophomore in industrial education, College of Industries, of 410 Neshannock avenue, New Wilmington, was pledged by Delta Tau Delta.

EXAMINATIONS WERE POSERS 75 YEARS AGO

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 18.—The present day high school senior would do well to pass high school entrance examinations of 75 years ago according to Don C. Rogers, director of the building survey for city schools. Delving into the entrance examinations of that period Rodgers found questons which were used at Central High School. Some of the posers which eliminated 44 of 158 applicants included:

Arithmetic—Reduce 35 rods, nine feet and two inches to the fraction of a furlong.

Geography—Describe Bolivia, including ts boundaries, capital cities, rivers, deserts and lakes.

THINKS 13-CLUB HAND DISHONEST

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—When the ordinarily genial O. E. Pantke of La Grange picked up his bridge hand the other evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Meyer in suburban Bellwood, he glanced at the cards, and began glaring at the other players.

"This may be a joke," he said, "but I insist that these hands be played and scored just as if the deal was honest. I bid seven clubs."

There were no opposing bids.

He thereupon laid down 13 clubs.

"If that's an honest deal," he continued, "I'm the one in five trillion to catch such a hand."

Catalan Separatism Gains, Says Writer, Despite Denials

By LAWRENCE A. FERNSWORTH
International News Service Special Correspondent.

BARCELONA, Spain, Dec. 18.—The ghost of Catalan separatism, which is Spain's nightmare, is again rearing its head in those four provinces of northeastern Spain which are known as Catalonia and which have Barcelona as their metropolis and capital. By separatism the Catalans understand the setting up of an independent and sovereign state in complete detachment from Spain.

So strong has this sentiment grown in recent weeks that President Francisco Macia of the Generalitat of Catalonia, who has been doing his best to hold the Cortes at Madrid is considering the Catalan autonomy project—which is something quite different from separatism—has just found it necessary to issue a formal denial of the existence of a separatist movement. But this correspondent is in a position to say that it is gaining considerable headway.

Separatism was strong in the days of the monarchy but was considered to have been disposed of when the Catalans entered into an agreement with the leaders of the Spanish Republican movement whereby the latter would support Catalan demands for autonomy in return for the Catalan support of the revolution.

This autonomy which the Catalans sought, and to which the Republicans agreed, meant that Catalonia would be accorded the rights of regional government with full control in internal affairs while recognizing the sovereign rights of the Spanish republic. Catalonia was to be, in short, a state in confederation with other states, the whole of which would constitute the republic, its powers were to be quite similar to those held by an American state in the Federal Union.

In conformity with this agreement the Catalans drafted an autonomy project and on last August 2 submitted it to a plebiscite of the region. Out of 792,487 registered voters, 592,961 went to the polls, and of the latter number only 3,296 voted against autonomy. It was the greatest turnout of voters in Catalan history.

The project thus voted demanded for Catalonia legislative, executive and judicial powers, setting up for that purpose a regional Cortes, a president, and tribunals of justice. It recognized to the region the right of enacting its own civil laws; exclusive powers to levy and collect direct taxes; full police authority; the right to establish and conduct its own system of schools; authority in labor disputes.

It made Catalan the official language in regional affairs while Castilian was otbe official for relations with the national government. It provided for a president of the Catalan state through whom and by whose consent alone the Madrid government could intervene.

On the other hand it recognized in the national government the supreme authority in international relations, all powers appertaining to the army, the navy and the national defense; control of the postal service, telegraph, telephones and railways, the right to collect indirect taxes and other attributes very similar to those exercised by the federal government in the United States.

When the statute had been voted President Macia went to Madrid, where he presented it to President Alacala Zamora who, in turn, presented it to the Cortes, all in accord with the pre-revolutionary agreement.

There it has lain ever since, while the Cortes has been devoting its attention to the framing of the new national constitution. The national constitutional battle has been largely the battle of Catalonia, for since the constitution itself undertakes to establish the lin between the powers of the government and the powers of the regions, its framers could make it read so as to make the Catalan claims incompatible with it.

This appears to be exactly what is happening in various instances. The Catalan delegation, headed by Macia, has taken a solemn pledge to permit no modification of their project in any point considered essential. However, while the Cortes continues to adopt provisions in the national constitution which run counter to the provisions in the Catalan project, many Catalans are losing patience and using hard words. There are even some who charge the government is trying to double-cross them on their pre-revolutionary agreement.

It is this state of mind which accounts for the separatist movement. If in the end the national government does not accord to the Catalans their statute, to which they feel they have a right, they are out to start trouble.

MAYOR COMPLAINS WALKERS WAKED FOWL

(International News Service)

WATERBURG, Conn., Dec. 18—Roosters have been accused since time began of awakening slumbering humans, but it remained for Mayor Frank Hayes of Waterbury to complain that humans disturbed the sleep of his roosters.

When a hotel guest wrote the mayor complaining that the vocalizing of His Honor's roosters at dawn made sleeping next to impossible, the mayor replied that pedestrians using a passageway between the hotel and his property were at fault for awakening the roosters.

Just to make his words more convincing the mayor followed up with a letter to a mason ordering the passageway sealed up. Now his roosters, they say, sleep so soundly that it is sometimes noon before they begin crowing.

How To Fight Skin Disease In Winter

Treatment Of Annoying Ill Outlined By Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Every year at this time I begin to receive letters asking for advice concerning the skin disease, psoriasis. Most patients find that their troubles become much better in the summer and then break out again in the winer.

The experience of every one of these patients is about the same—that it is a stubborn disease, and while it responds fairly well to treatment, it has an invariable tendency to come back.

The eruption comes out in patches of dry, scaling inflammation of the skin surface. It is particularly likely to attack the back, the front of the legs, the back of the arms, and the scalp and the ears.

So far as cause is concerned, nothing definite is known, except that it seems to attack certain people. It is not in any way contagious.

Nothing arouses more natural sympathy than the plight of these poor patients. It is one of the most annoying things that can fall to the lot of a human creature. It is, of course, not fatal or dangerous, but belongs with those minor afflictions like sinus disease of the nose, asthma, hay fever and slight deafness, which while they do not in most cases seriously affect the person's health, still remain a real cross to bear.

Treatment can do much to mitigate the worst of the discomfort, but for real cure there is little hope. The number of methods of treatment that have been proposed are evidence of the fact that no one method is certain of relief. In some cases, however, treatment will banish the disease for a number of years.

Much can be done by a careful regulation of the life and diet. As one patient told me, it just depends on not doing anything that gives you a good time. Early to bed, frequent warm bathing to remove the scales, keeping elimination open, the avoidance of alcoholic beverages, and a bland diet, avoiding red meat and highly sauced foods, tend to keep the worst of the trouble within bounds.

Light treatments have been used and in some patients work wonders. The X-ray must be used with caution, but in competent and careful hands it has great value. The latest treatment to be recommended is the ultra-violet ray, which has a good record of success in some cases; no one can tell beforehand which patient has been benefited, so if any patient has not tried it, it is worth while making the attempt. A combination of drugs, ultra-violet light, and carefully applied X-ray afterwards, is perhaps the best means the dermatologist has to offer at present.

The use of vaccines and proteins has also given splendid results in some cases.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets by Dr. Cledening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Parents Of Little Edith Riley Found Guilty Of Cruelty

Capital's Sensational Child-Torture Case Is Brought To Close

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The Capital's most sensational child-torture case ended Thursday in the conviction of the father and stepmother.

Harry and Elsie Riley were found guilty by Justice Letts, in District of Columbia Supreme Court, on indictments charging they were cruel to Edith Riley, 13.

The girl was found by police November 6 locked in a dark cupboard of her home. Her brother and sister testified she was kept prisoner there for the greater part of the last four years. She was Riley's child by a previous marriage.

Gasoline Tablets Are Only "Aspirin"

(International News Service)

DANVILLE, Pa., Dec. 18—A gas station attendant here is looking for a motorist with a secret gas tank and $7 which doesn't belong to him.

This particular motorist drove up to the gas station and asked for a pail of water. To the attendant's amazement ,the man poured the water into his gasoline tank, dropped in a few tiny white tablets and then drove off.

About a week later, a salesman visited the filling station and offered to sell the same kind of "gasoline tablets." The attendant invested $7. After the salesman left, the attendant filled his tank with water and trustingly dropped in a few tablets. The machine refused to budge.

Analysis showed the pills were aspirin tablets—good for headaches of the "con" man's victims.

The Supreme Gift Of Love

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another. —I John 4:11.

(The International Uniform Christmas Lesson for December 20 is I John 4:7-19, the Golden Text being verse 11, "Behold, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another. . .)

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

There is more love abroad in the world Christmas week than at any other time in the year. Even the hard-hearted Scrooges who regard it all as "humbug" are unable to "tune out" the Christmas spirit from their lives. It has all of us in its grip.

Christmas is only appreciated as we enter into the spirit of the first Christmas and realize that the world's best Christmas gift was the "unspeakable gift" that made the first Christmas and continues to make Christmas what it is. "God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son." The essence of that first Christmas was love. Of this love John, the apostle of love, writes in our lesson, "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is begotten of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God for God is love." This love divine is the cause, and this Christmas spirit is the effect that continues to radiate from it unceasingly through the ages.

Appreciating Christmas

The love back of Christmas did not originate in the earth or among men. "For love is of God." It began with Him. He made all the advances. All we know of it we first have seen in Him. "Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that He loved us, and sent His Son to be the propitiation for our sins . . . We love because He first loved us." He found us utterly unworthy, but this did not keep Him from loving us. That supreme gift of love that made the first Christmas came not because we deserved it, but because we needed it and could not live without it: "God hath sent His only begotten Son into the world that we might live through Him." As we realize our unworthiness our appreciation is enhanced and Christmas takes on a new meaning.

Sharing Christmas

As the shepherds of Bethlehem went forth from the manger sharing with their neighbors "the things that they had heard and seen," so we must testify as to what Christmas means to us. Only by such sharing has Christmas come down through the ages to us: "We have beheld and bear witness that the Father hath sent the Son to be the Savior of the world." Only as we thus share the Christmas message can we continue to keep it for ourselves: "Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God abideth in him, and he in God." We must share it or lose it.

Perpetuating Christmas

Christmas is too blessed an institution to be confined to one day. It must be perpetuated through the year. The mystery of Christmas was that "God became flesh and dwelt among us, and we beheld His glory." We call this the incarnation. But this incarnation continues after a fashion as we let Christ dwell in us. All that folk see of God they must see in God's children. This is the only way men see Him today: "No man hath beheld God at any time: if we love one another, God abideth in us, and His love is perfected in us." Our lives of serving love are the mangers in which the world beholds God abiding in human form. Thus Christmas must be perpetuated this year. And what an opportunity the year 1932 will afford for this!

Central Church Christmas Music

Church Choir Will Be Augmented By Newly Organized Junior Choir Sunday

The music in the Central Presbyterian church on the square Sunday will be of a special character, appropriate to the Christmas season.

At the morning service the choir will sing "Cantique De Noel" by Adolph Adam, with Mrs. Harry Bornes singing the solo part.

In the evening at 7:45 the church choir, assisted by the Sunday School orchestra and the newly organized junior choir, will present the Christmas story in reading and song, with the program arranged in the form of a cantata, using numbers from various sources, and incorporating familiar carols. Robert Duff is directing the programs.

Preceding the evening program there will be an orchestral and organ prelude and a candle light procession. The program will be:

"March Pontificale" — Gounod — Sunday School Orchestra.
"The Holy Night," Buck—Organ.
Processional Hymn, "Come All Ye Faithful"—Reading.
Invocation by the Pastor.
Response, "Silent Night"—Senior Choir.

ILLUSTRATED BIBLE LESSON

Christmas

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

The essence of the first Christmas was love. "Beloved, let us love one another; for love is of God; and everyone that loveth is begotten of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not, knoweth not God; for God is love." (I John 4:7-8.) "Good will toward men" was the keynote of the message to mankind when the Child Jesus was born.

Shepherds were "abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night," when "the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid. And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people."

"For unto you is born this day in the city of David's Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. . . . Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

The shepherds went unto Bethlehem "and found Mary and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. . . . And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen." (Luke 2:9-20.)

FAMED BUFFALO BROUGHT END OF BIG RANCHES

How Bones Were Gathered By Indians For Fertilizer

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Dec. 18.—The great herds of buffalo, which once roamed the western plains, were indirectly responsible for the breaking up of the great cattle ranches of Montana.

Hunter by the score slaughtered the shaggy beasts for their fur during the first half of the 19th century. They left the skinned carcasses of the animals lying on the ground where the kill was made unless the hunter happened to be out of meat, then he cut away the tongue and the hump of the animal.

Later when the Union Pacific railroad was being built, buffalo meat came into demand to feed the thousands of laborers. Soon the prairies almost became covered with the white bones of the slaughtered buffalo.

A settler happened to think that the bones could utilized as fertilizer and hired Indians to collect them. The Indians were paid $4 for collecting a wagon load of bones and delivering them to the nearest railroad shipping point. Soon bone gathering became one of the principal industries of the West. After a time it became difficult for the Indians to find a large supply of bones easily and some bone-hunter conceived the idea of burning the long prarie grasses to make the bones more visible.

The burning off of the grasses sounded the death knell of the cattle baron because he depended on the sun cured hay to feed his thousands of cattle during the winter months.

The lack of winter feed compelled the cattle men to ship their stock to ranges where there was adequate feed. The price of cattle was so low that the cost of transportation consumed the small margin of profit on the low grade range cattle with which the ranges were stocked, consequently the Montana cattleman was compelled to turn to smaller herds of better quality cattle.

Microbe Hunter Discovers Two Disease Germs

Returns To Chicago From Self-Imposed Exile

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Chagas disease, or relapsing fever, and the fatal equine disease, related to trypanosomiosis, akin to the sleeping sickness of South African origin, were two of the finds of Dr. Herbert C. Clark, microbe hunter who has just returned from a self-imposed exile in the Central American jungles.

He will make his reports to the Gorgas laboratory of tropical and preventative research on malaria among humans and animals of the costal plains of the tropics. Dr. Clark has been in the Canal Zone 22 years engaged in research.

Concerning malaria it has been discovered that prehensile simians are the only speciest of monkey to have malaria, although not quite the some as that afflicting mankind There are eight such speciest of whom the howler, spider and white-faced or organ-grinder varieties.

The equine diseases assumes importance in view of the international highway now being built which would transport the disease into the plains of Texas. The Chagas disease is common in Brazil but so far only six humans have contracted it. Only the marmoset, or squirrel, monkey is known to have it, but squirrels, armadillos, opossums and certain bats and dogs carry the parasite.

INTENDS TO STOCK DEPLETED SECTIONS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—Late December and early January will mark the distribution of approximately 50,000 cottontail rabbits in depleted sections of the Commonwealth, two thousand hares or snowshoe rabbits also will be stocked at that time. Approximately 500 pairs of Hungarian partridges, purchased from Czecho-Slovakia, will be released in sections adaptable to these birds. Experimental stocking of approximately 100 Reeve's Pheasants will be attempted. In this connection areas with varied conditions will be selected in order to determine those under which the birds will thrive best.

80-YEAR-OLD MAN IS FATHER OF BABY

GREAT BEND, Kan., Dec. 18.—Charles "Uncle" Andress, 80, wealthy retired circus man and magician, is "the proudest man in the world" because he is the father of an 8½ pound boy.

"Only one in 65 men of 80 years marry women of 27 and live happily," he said. "And not one out of 200 of these marriages are blessed with children. Virgie and I have broken both records."

Virgie, Uncle Charley's wife, is the former Virginia Pritchard, 27. The couple was married just a year ago.

Italians Lead As State Immigrants

German Immigrants To Pennsylvania Are Second Highest

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 18—Of the 6,359 alien immigrants admitted into the United States during last fiscal year with expressed intentions of establishing permanent residence in Pennsylvania, 1,673 were Italians, Commissioner General of Immigration, Harry E. Hull, revealed in his annual report.

Italian immigrants into the Keystone State during the fiscal period ended June 30, last, by far outnumbered any other race if immigrants moving into the State. German immigrants came second, totaling 977, Irish third, numbering 770 and English fourth, totaling 478.

Other immigrants into the State were listed by Commissioner Hull as: Scotch, 401, Slovak, 384; Hebrew, 266; Polish, 209; Greek; Croatian and Slovenian, 125; Magyar, 105; Welsh, 105, and French, 61. There were 43 Russians, 12 Negroes, 20 Chinese, eight Japanese and one immigrant from Turkey.

An analysis of the professions and trade claimed by these 3,359 aliens intending to reside in the Keystone State presents an interesting cross-section of the skilled and professional class. Forty-three listed themselves as clergymen, four as actors, seven as architects, three as editors, five as lawyers, five as musicians, 22 as physicians and 32 as teachers.

Of the total, 595 claimed to be skilled workers. Of these, 46 registered as carpenters and joiners, 12 as butchers, 125 as clerks and accountants, 18 as dressmakers, four as jewelers, and 21 as locksmiths. There were 12 machinists, 29 masons, five plumbers, 42 tailors, two watch and clockmakers and one wheelwright.

Bankers numbered four, fishermen, two, hotel keepers three and servants, 669.

CHARLEROI CITY HALL IS STORE

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Dec. 18—City hall here now houses a store.

Yes, a real, full-fledged store, complete with everything—except a cash register.

Welfare organizations conceived the idea to facilitate food distribution among the needy. "Customers" serve themselves from the shelves and their choice is unrstricted, so long as total "purchases" don't exceed $3.85.

AIR HUNTING DISLIKED

(International News Service)

JULESBURG, Colo. — Ranchers near Sedwick, Colo., are watching for a bright red airplane with the numbers covered. The plane recently swooped low over a herd of antelope, protected by the state fish and game laws. A hunter in the cockpit fired into the herd twice, bringing down two antelope. The plane landed. One of the quarry was loaded into the plane. A. C. Kasche, a rancher living nearby, appeared and the plane took off without the other antelope.

NEW X-RAY PIERCES THICK STONE WALLS

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 18—So powerful are the newest x-ray tubes developed by science that new precautions must be taken in protecting scientists and their helpers from peramment or fatal burns, college professors attending a meeting of the American Physical Society were told here.

Tubes carrying 600,000 and 900,000 volts are now in use at Cornell University and the Memorial hospital of New York, according to doctors from those institutions.

Rays from these tubes can penetrate stone walls several feet thick and are equal in intensity to the rays given off by radium. Workers using them are housed in lead-sheathed booths, from which they operate the mechanism by remote control, using periscopes for observation.

A letter of the Marine Committee at Philadelphia, July 12, 1776, containing the signatures of Robert Morris, Button Gwinnett, Francis Lewis, George Read and Arthur Middleton (Declaration of Independence signers) was sold for $51,000 on March 15, 1927.

There are more than 10,000 miles of navigable water in the Mississippi river system.

Disabled American Vets Plan Forget-Me-Not Sale

A group of girls employed by the National Headquarters of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War are shown demonstrating how they would sell Forget-Me-Nots if they had the chance.

Saturday will be Forget-Me-Not Day in New Castle, when the little pale blue emblems will be sold on the streets here for the benefit of the Disabled Veteran and his family under the auspices of the Fred L. Rentz Post.

The money received from the sale of these emblems will be used for local relief work and for the support of the national organization.

The spirit of the Forget-Me-Not is exemplified in the following poem by William Ellis Register, "The Forget-Me-Not Speaks."

"Little pale blossom of tints sky blue
Why are you worn today?
Why is everyone buying you?
What do you stand for, pray?

"I stand for a cross in Flanders field
And the Marne and the Wood of Belleau;
For the khaki line that would not yield—
For the prayers from lips that Death has sealed—
I stand for wounds that have not healed,
And Hospital Beds in a row.

"I stand for horrors and wounds and scars,
For bodies shattered and torn;
For battlefields reeking beneath the stars
With sacrifices to the War-God Mars;
For an end to the reigns of Kings and Czars;
And for mothers and wives that mourn.

Mangled while facing the foe;
Belgian soil bears a crimson stain
Where they offered their all, unthinking of gain.
(They know NOW their sacrifice was not in vain!)
In their Hospital Beds in a row!"

Letters To Santa Claus

Dear Santa Claus:
I am a little girl and live at East New Castle. I go to school every day. I would like you to bring me a pajama suit, umbrella, baby doll coat, cap and muff. I think this is all and hope you will do the best you can.

I remain your friend,
MARTHA E. HOUK,
East New Castle.

Dear Santa Claus:
I am a little girl three years old and I am writing to ask you not to please forget me this Christmas. I would like to have a doll and some candy if you could spare it. My mother says I am a good girl.

Yours truly,
AGNES BELL,
604 Sennet Street.

Dear Santa:
I am a boy 6 years old and I have a brother 4, so please bring us some toys, nuts, oranges, candy and apples. We have been good boys and we want a bicycle and cowboy suit.

From LESTER ATWATER,
803½ State Street.

Dear Santa:
Since Christmas is drawing near I think it about time that I send you my order as I have been a good boy. I would like to have an electric train, a pair of boxing gloves, and a punching bag. I also want you to bring me some candy and nuts. Please remember all the other little boys and girls.

Your faithful friend,
JAMES CLARE, JR.,
1219 South Jefferson street.

Dear Santa Claus:
I want you to bring me a baby doll and I want you to bring me a new dress and I want a little stove and I want a box with a lead pencil in it and an ink pen.

Your loving friend,
BETTY JANE PARKER,
101 Hazel Avenue,
Ellwood City.

Dear Santa Claus:
I am a little girl eight years old. My name is Virginia Hayne. I am in third grade at school. Please don't forget the poor children at Christmas time. Please bring me for Christmas a big doll that goes to sleep, a big wagon, a school bag and big pencil box, a pair of bedroom slippers, a pair of gloves and a banjo. Don't forget my little cousin and my Uncle Johnny. Please don't forget my mother and father.

Your friends,
VIRGINIA HAYNE,
Volant, Pa., R. D. 4.

Dear Santa Claus:
I would like for you to bring me a pencil box, a pair of gloves, some candy and mints. I don't want much for there is not much work this year. I will close with love, from

CHARLES WHITE,
Volant, Pa.

Dear Santa Claus:
I want to tell you that I am a good boy. I go to school every day. Will you please bring me a sled and a train. Goodbye.

Your friend,

Dear Santa Claus:
I am a little girl eight years old. I am in third grade. I go to Leesburg school. Please bring me a doll, a wrist watch, a pair of gloves, a new dress. Do not forget the poor people at Christmas time. I guess I will close.

Your friend,
RUTH EVELYN CORYEA,
Volant, Pa.

Dear Santa Claus:
Just eight more days till Christmas. I am a boy seven years old and live on a farm. I like to help my daddy. Will you please bring me a pair of rubber boots, books and a little tractor. I would like a snow shovel too if you think I'll need it.

With love,
DONALD ARDEN RICE,
Volant, Pa.

Dear Santa Claus:
I am a little boy. I am 10 years old. I would like to have a sled and a train for Christmas.

Your friend,
FRANCIS MILTON HEDGLIN,
Volant, Pa.

Dear Santa Claus:
Please bring me a train, a wagon, a Christmas tree and a reindeer.

Your friend,
PAUL FYFFE,
Volant, Pa.

Dear Santa Claus:
I am a little girl eight years old. I don't want much for Christmas. There are many other little children who have no father or mother to bring them anything for Christmas. I want a new dress and a paint set, as I am willing to share up with the toys that you bring me for Christmas. My grandmother is sick. She would like some presents also. My father died four years ago. Don't forget my sister, mother and brother.

Your friend,
EDNA TUNSTALL,
Volant, Pa.

Dear Santa Claus:
My name is Ralph. I am in the third grade. I wish you would please give me a tricycle and a sled.

Your friend,
RALPH HYLE,
Volant, Pa.

Dear Santa Claus:
I am going to write a letter. I am a boy ten years old in the third grade. I have been a good boy all this year. I would like to have a bicycle, a football, an electric train, a pencil box. That is all I want for Christmas. Please bring it for me.

Yours truly,
EDWARD TUNSTALL,

CAPABLE WOLF HUNTER

(International News Service)

HUGO, Colo.—Russell Webb, Karval, Colo., needs neither gun nor dogs when he goes coyote hunting. Webb recently came upon one of the midnight marauders while driving his automobile through the country. He was unarmed and alone, but gave chase. Through fields and pastures he pursued the coyote. The coyote ran under the house. Seizing the animal he choked it to death. Webb now has one perfectly good coyote pelt, without bullet holes or other mutilations.

The White House, in Washington, is considered the most valuable residence property in the world.

COLORADO FLOOD LED TO CELERY RAISING

(International News Service)

PUEBLO, Colo., Dec. 18—The disastrous Pueblo flood is credited with giving Colorada one of its most profitable agricultural industries—the raising of the famous pascal celery.

The flood covered bottom lands east of Pueblo with several feet of silt, fertile soil washed down from the hills and mountains. This soil was found to be peculiarly adapted to the raising of celery. Now Colorado pascal celery is served in the best hotels throughout the country.

Celery raising requires infinite pains, each plant being transplanted twice before it is ready for harvesting. Most of the crop is marketed during the holidays, although some is kept in the trenches as late as April when it commands a high price.

Celery growers realize an average return of $600 per acre. The average cost of handling the crop is $250 per acre, leaving a profit of $350 per acre. Because of the exacting nature of the work, however, 15 acres is about the maximum amount one man can handle.

ONE IN FIVE TRILLION

(International News Service)

LA GRANGE, Ill.—Many a man has been told by some admiring woman that he is a man in a million but it has remained for O. E. Pantke of La Grange to prove himself one man in five trillion. The other evening while playing bridge at the home of friends he drew a hand consisting of 13 clubs, winning a bid of seven. He computes the chance of drawing such a hand as being one in five trillion.

STRANDED CO-ED BUREAU

(International News Service)

CHICAGO—Girl students at the University of Chicago who find themselves financially embarrassed on the campus need be embarrassed no longer. A "stranded co-ed bureau" has been opened on the campus where the girls may borrow from a dime to a dollar for carfare, lunches or other needs.

MUSKRATS HAVE BECOME PLAGUE

(International News Service)

MUNICH, Dec. 18. — Muskrats, imported from America, have become a real plague in Upper-Bavaria. They were originally brought to Europe by enterprising people. But the muskrats, under different climatic conditions, did not develop the fine skin expected, and proved useless for the fur business. Their number increases with terrific speed and they are ravaging fish-breeding ponds and undermining dikes and embankments. The Bavarian government offered bounties for their capture and muskrat hunting has become a special profession which needs particular skill as the animals are very clever and difficult to catch. The record bag is held by Hans Schroedinger, who killed 10 of them in a week.

Bathing Pool Owners Lax In Observing Law

Many Have Failed To Comply With Provisions Of New Legislation

1100 OWNERS HAVE NOT SOUGHT PERMITS

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18—"More than 1100 owners of public bathing places have failed to file their applications for permits to operate, under the terms of the public bathing law, effective September 1st, 1931," said George W. Moore, engineer in charge of this work, today.

"No pool of any sort may be legally operated, until it has been licensed so to do by the Department of Health of the state. Such permit is secured by filing an application with the department, giving all the required information, together with plans, specifications, and descriptions of the bathing place, source of water supply, and purification methods.

"The permit fee is $10.00, and in each instance it must accompany the application. In view of the fact that this law is new, and it will normally take some weeks for inspectors to cover the state, all owners and operators of any type of bathing place whatsoever, are requested to make their applications to the Department at once.

"For the information of all interested parties, it is stated that the operation of any bathing place of a public nature, at the present time, without having secured a permit, is in violation of the law. The initiative in the matter of securing this paper, lies with the bathing place owner. He must acquaint himself with the terms of the act, and conform to its requirements.

"This publicity is being given in this matter, for the information of all owners or operators of bathing places, in order that they may promptly take steps to keep within the law."

Versatile Duce

Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy is a familiar figure on the reviewing stand as he addresses his beloved Fascists, or on horseback, where he exercises to keep fit in preference to the medicine ball. But here is an unusual photo of Il Duce showing him riding his motorcycle in the grounds of his Villa Torlonia. The dictator is said to be an expert on the gasoline steed—but isn't he an expert at everything?

Although the railroads in the U. S. earned $440,000,000 less in 1930 than in 1916 their payrolls were $720,000,000 larger.

The greatest fog duration was recarded at Seguin, Me., in 1907. It remained for 2,734 hours.

In Religious And Faternal Circles

Practice Hour.

All those taking part in the Christmas program of the Primitive Methodist church will meet for practice Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Executive Meeting.

The executive board of the First Congregational church will meet in the church parlors Saturday at 2:30 when matters of importance will be taken up.

Helping Hand Class.

Members of the Helping Hand class of the East Brook U. P. church were delightfully entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Clyde McKee, East Brook.

A tureen dinner was served at 7:30 o'clock at tables decorated suggestive of the Christmas season. Music and games were diversions of the hours and following, the exchange of gifts took place. Fourteen were present and a special guest was Miss Hoffman.

The class plans to have a New Year's eve party at the home of Mrs. William Walton.

M. And K. Class

Members of the M. and K. Class of the Peoples Mission met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. John Caine, Sampson street, with the president, Mrs. Harry Shaffer in charge.

Mrs. Harry Shaffer, Mrs. Christine Warner and Mrs. Harriet Samuels sang and there was special singing by the group.

An exchange of Christmas gifts featured the evening.

A special Christmas party is planned by the class, to honor Miss Margaret Owrey, missionary from the Bible Institute of Nyack, N. Y., who will spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Owrey, Bell avenue.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Olive Dout, Bell avenue, Thursday, January 21. Special guest was Mrs. J. Smith.

Section A Meeting

Members of Section A of the Y. L. B. Class of the Third United Presbyterian church were pleasingly received for their Christmas party Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. Navare on Winslow avenue, with Mrs. W. H. McConnell acting as hostess. Eighteen were present, and two guests who participated included Mrs. D. H. Warnock and Mrs. J. F. Stickle.

The hours were kept busy with games and various contests, and following the leisure period, the hostess served dainty refreshments.

The feature of the meeting was the packing of foodstuffs for the needy which will be delivered to deserving families in the city.

On Wednesday, December 30, the members will be guests in the home of Mrs. R. B. Cowan on Maryland avenue with Mrs. J. W. Alexander as joint hostess.

Willing Workers Class

The Willing Worker's class of the First Congregational church met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Thomas Grey, Cunningham avenue, for the regular monthly session and also the Christmas party.

The early part of the evening was taken up with business, Mrs. Harry Long presiding; after which games and music featured the hours. Prizes were won by Mrs. James Davies, Florrie Davies, Mrs. Harry Jones and Mrs. Harry Long.

There was an exchange of gifts and refreshments were served by the hostess and her aides: Mrs. D. W. Thomas, Mrs. D. T. Evans, Mrs. Isaac Isaacs and Elisabeth Rees.

Mr. and Mrs. David Rees of Sharon were special guests.

Choir Names Officers

Those selected were: president, Mrs. Jesse Strobel: vice president, Edna Strobel: secretary, Mrs. Rachel Davis: assistant, Dorothy Price; treasurer, Barbara Armstrong: assistant, William Strobel.

Plans were made for a tureen dinner on January 14.

G. H. M. Class.

The meeting of the G. H. M. class of the Central Presbyterian church, scheduled for this week, has been postponed until January 21.

L. and E. Class

A delightful Christmas party was held Thursday evening in the manse of the Central Presbyterian church, when Mrs. C. B. Wingerd entertained the members of the L. and E. class, of which she is the teacher.

Christmas suggestions were used about the rooms and an exchange of gifts featured the evening. A surprise was in store for the members in the form of a gift for each, sent by Miss Laura Stevenson, for whom the class was named at the time she was the teacher.

Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson of Youngstown, Ohio, a former member, and Mrs. Edwin Fisher were special guests.

Mrs. Boyd Russler Hostess

Mrs. Boyd Russler, Mulberry street received members of Section Five of the First Baptist church in her home Thursday afternoon. A delicious menu was served at 1 o'clock at a table nicely decorated and Mrs. Louis Garrett, asociate hostess, assisted.

Business matters were discussed, and plans to do overseas White Cross work were made. Exchange of gifts followed.

Open Door Class.

Members of the Open Door class of the Third United Presbyterian church will meet this evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Lutz, Sheridan avenue.

Ladies Aid Party.

Mrs. J. H. Cox, Pine street, was a delightful hostess Thursday afternoon when she entertained the members of the Ladies Aid society of the Central Presbyterian church at a one o'clock Christmas luncheon and party.

The tables were beautifully decorated in greens and flowers suggestive of the season and covers were arranged for 22 with each place marked by a clever favor.

Mrs. Edwin Fisher and Mrs. L. Allen were winners of prizes in the contests which were held during the afternoon. A little niece and nephew of the hostess sang several numbers.

Gleaners Class Party

The Gleaner's Class of the First Baptist S. S. met for their Christmas party. The scene of the party was in the church dining room, which had been beautifully decorated with Christmas greens and small trees.

The program was directed by Mrs. Gladys Crawford aided by Misses Amy Druschell and Mabel Mart.

The Christmas spirit filled the air when the program was opened by the group singing "Silent Night, Holy Night," followed by a prayer by Mrs. N. R. Johnson, teacher of the class. Little Eleanor Mae McKibben gave a humorous reading; a piano solo by Miss Mildred Carson; Mrs. Paul D. Weller rendered a solo "The Quaker Maid"; "Esthers Orn's Christmas" was read by Miss Verna Bailor. The rest of the evening was taken up with games.

At a late hour refreshments were served from tables prettily appointed in tones of the season. Those who served on the lunch committee were: Mesdames Mildred Snyder, Sally Gaston, Betty Lennig, Ruth Irwin, Rena Mayberry and Hazel Russell.

Those on the decorating committee were Mesdames Elsie Fox, Parthena Heath and Miss Grace Davenport.

Section E Party

Members of Section F of the Y. L. B. class of the Third United Presbyterian church met this week at the home of Mrs. Cora Gardner, Bradley avenue, for the Christmas party.

Mrs. W. D. Fullerton presided at a brief business session after which there was an exchange of gifts. A pleasing feature of the evening was the visit of the infant son of Mrs. L. H. Sherman.

Mrs. Charles Longacre assisted the hostess in serving delicious refreshments.

CITY WITHOUT CHIMNEYS

(International News Service)

BOULDER CITY, Nev.—A veritable sea of chimneys without a wisp of smoke is the "village" of Six Companies' residences at this Hoover dam construction town. For there are more than 320 residences in a group ranged in rows on eight streets, none of which are heated by wood or coal. Oil burners and electric heaters comprise the chief mode of heating. The homes were built by the dam contractors for housing of employes and their families, and all are occupied.

ENCOURAGE BIRDS TO EAT IN COLD WEATHER

When a cold snap comes hens ususally reduce their feed consumption. and, in the case of pullets, a threatened molt.

To prevent such serious results, poultrymen are urged to encourage birds to eat as much feed on cold days as on warm days. Moist mashes are recommended for this purpose. To pullets in good flesh and to old hens the regular laying mash can be fed moist.

If pullets are thin and show a tendency to molt, equal parts of ground corn, ground heavy oats and condensed milk, by weight, form a safer mixture. Three pounds of this mash will be sufficient for 100 birds daily. It is a common practice to feed this at noon, but some poultrymen prefer to fed it in the afternoon when the birds are full of grain.

Plenty of fresh water also is necessary for satisfactory egg production. Usually some device can be provided for warming the water slightly. If this is not done, fresh water, slightly warm, can be supplied frequently during the day.

HOME-BURNED LIME IS CHEAP AND EFFECTIVE

Home-burned lime usually is the cheapest lime to be had in sections where limestone is available and where coal can be bought for a few dollars a ton. A kiln is not necessary as a good burn can be secured in an open stack if properly constructed.

A ton of good coal should burn about three tons of lime, and three tons of stone should make nearly two tons of lime. With good stone and skillful burning, a ton of home-burned lime is about as valuable as a ton of hydrated lime or one and one-half tons of ground limestone. With more labor available and less cash to spend, farmers are going back to home-burning of lime.

FARM SHOW TO INCLUDE 14 CLASSES OF APPLES

Barrels, bushel baskets, boxes, plates and trays of apples will compose a colorful display at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg January 18 to 22. These exhibits will be entered in 14 different classes.

In addition to the exhibits of individual growers, there will be a class for the displays of county fruit growers' or horticultural associtions. Each county exhibit will comprise 22 bushels of apples packed in tub-style containers. Not more than 15 varieties nor less then 5 varieties are required and the apples are to be standard for the county represented.

The Gabriel Hiester cup will be awarded to the county hosticultural association having the largest number of members winning premiums in all classes of the fruit exhibit outside the association exhibit itself. The State Horticultural Association cup will be won by the best bushel or box apples shown in the indivual classes.

In the commercial barrel exhibits Baldwin, Ben Davis (or Gano) Northren Spy, Paragon, Stark, Stayman, Rome, and York will be shown. The barrel for this exhibit will be selected by a member of the fruit committee from the ordinary commercial stock in storage upon the receipt of application from the grower.

STATE SHOW ENLARGES FARM MILK DIVISION

Dairymen of Lawrence County will have an opportunity to display their products at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg, January 18 to 22. The milk division of the state show has been enlarged and a total of 79 individual prizes will reward the exhibitors of the winning samples in the coming event.

Three new features are included. A new class is provided for milk from herds free of both Bang's disease and tuberculosis. Another new class is included for farmer-retailers. Each of the raw milk classes is subdivided into three groups acording to the size of the milking herd.

The main purpose of this show is to stimulate interest in the production of quality milk. The quality of the milk is measured by the bacteria count, sediment test, flavor and odor. This means that all samples are submitted to a rigid laboratory inspection, the results of which are recorded and scored. At the end of the show the score card is mailed to the contestant to inform him of the quality of his milk.

To produce a sample of milk with a low bacteria count, it is very necessary to treat all milk equipment to boiling water temperatures, to wash the cow clean, particularly around the udders, and to cool the milk immediately after drawing and to keep it cold until it reaches Harrisburg where it will be put in cold storage at once.

Ordinary transmission and differential lubricants become stiff and non-flowing in cold weather—and engine oils, too, often become sluggish and thick. Have us relubricate NOW and escape hard shifting, burnt engine bearings.

$50,000 Radium In Kansas City Safe From Theft

Thieves Are Afraid Of It On Account Of Burning Qualities

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 18—Radium valued at $50,000 is owned in Kansas City by hospitals and physicians, it was revealed in a semi-official survey conducted here.

The most recent addition to the city's supply was 117 milligrams, valued at approximately $10,000, sent to the Menorah hospital here from Belgium.

Bell Memorial hospital, a division of the school of medicine of the University of Kansas, owns a total of 130 milligrams, contained in needles and packs.

Dr. E. H. Skinner has approximately 250 milligrams in his office and 360 milligrams are distributed in the offices of three other physicians.

The radium is contained in various packages. It may be a needle, a tube, a plaque or a pad. It may be wrapped in glass, platinum, gold, silver, monel metal, brass or beeswax. The various containers are utilized in different treatments, depending on the disease to be treated and its location in the body.

Physicians say that although most of the radium is insured, there is little danger of any of it being stolen owing to its powerful burning qualities which would disfigure anyone not knowing how to handle it.

SILVERSMITH MADE ALL TRACK MEDALS ALIKE

(International News Service)

PEIPING, Dec. 18 — The old myth of the Chinese tailor, upon being told to copy a suit of clothes, reproduced the original with such exactitude that the patch on the coat likewise appeared, fits a recent occurrence dramatically.

Following a track and field meet in which the American Marines and other legation guards were the contestants, the happy moment of awarding prizes came. The Marine band stopped playing, and the first winner was called to the stand to receive a silver medal. He was a quarter-mile sprinter but when he examined his medal, he discovered that it was engraved to the victor of the broad jump.

In the consternation which followed, the officials found that all medals were for the broad jump. The Chinese silversmith had been given a trophy from last year's meet to copy and the officer forgot to add that the words broad jump should only appear on one medal with the others suitably marked for the various events.

PROFESSORS SPEND FORTUNE FOR STAMPS

BOULDER, Colo., Dec. 18— The modern college professor who does research work often spends more for postage stamps than for groceries.

Dr. Edward C. Crabb, associate professor of biology at the University of Colorado, recently revealed a mailing list which included hundreds of names of professors doing similar research in many lands. To these he mails reprints of his studies as they appear in various scientific journals.

In return, fellow biologists mail Dr. Crabb reprints of their studies. In this way professors keep abreast of the work being done in their particular branch of science.

WOMAN HAS TAUGHT MORE THAN 50 YEARS

(International News Service)

CHESTER, Pa., Dec. 18—More than a half century as teacher in the Chester public schools is the record of Miss Laura E. Reaney of this city. With 20 years as a teacher in Chester grammar schools and almost 32 years as head of the science department of Chester High School behind her, she plans to retire at the end of the current school year.

HONOR FRANCO-AMERICAN WORK

(International News Service)

PARIS, Dec. 18—A unique distinction has just been conferred upon Mr. Warrington Dawson, Special Attache at the United States Embassy in Paris. The Versailles Municipal Council has made him an honorary citizen of their little city so famous for its chateau and gardens built by Louis XIV.

Mr. Dawson has lived in Versailles for a number of years and has done outstanding services in the interest of Franco-American friendship.

Illness obliges the American writer to remain cloistered in his home, where he seldom leaves his bed or wheel-chair. His reception-days, however, are perhaps attended by more people than those of any other member of the American colony.

HOSPITAL INSTALLS LIBRARY ON WHEELS

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Dec. 18—Montgomery hospital officials are looking after the literary interests of their patients. A "library on wheels" has been established and every day a hospital librarian will push her cart through the wards and rooms and invite patients to make their selections of books. The volumes are donated by friends of the institution.

GRAB BAG

How thick is the hide of a hippopotamus?

Where are the smalest cows in the world?

What is the gross area of United States?

Correctly Speaking—

"Phase" means appearance or aspect. Say "I began to indulge in all the different kinds of college pleasure," not "I began to indulge in all the different phases of college pleasure."

Today's Anniversary.

Today's Horoscope.

Persons born on this day have ideas that are rather large and sometimes undertake more than can be accomplished.

Answers to Foregoing Questions.

1. Two inches.
2. The smallest cows in the world are said to be found in the South Sea Islands. They are only four feet high.
3. The gross area of United States is 3,026,789 square miles.

Fine Work Being Done For Women By Y. W. Bureau

Unemployed And Employers Brought Together By Friendly Service Bureau

Although the Friendly Service Bureau of the local Young Women's Christian Association was inaugurated just six weeks ago, the tangible results achieved are worthy of the greatest of praise.

Contents of a report given by Miss Emma Moore before this week's meeting of the board, committees and staff show what splendid job this department is carrying on. The purpose of the bureau is to secure employment for women in the business, professional, industrial world.

Interesting in the report are the facts that:

There were 95 applicants during November, practically all of whom were local women. Ten wanted business and professional positions, 90 wanted housework, etc. Of that number, the report states, 14 placements were made.

In the first two weeks of December 35 new applications were made for positions and 11 placements were made.

Totals for the six weeks of Friendly Service are—Applicants, 130; placements, 25; positions filled outside, 7.

Ages of applicants ranged from 15 years to 70. Most of the women are between ages of 15 and 20, the report shows.

The committees back of the bureau is as follows: Mrs. A. B. Fankhauser, chairman, Mrs. M. L. Ailey, Mrs. Earl Douglass, Mrs. C. W. Duff, Mrs. Mary Dyson, Mrs. James Rhodes, Mrs. William Wilson, Miss Fannie Howard, Miss Emma B. Moore.

This department of the Y. W. C. A. is not only in interest of unemployed but serves employers as well. Employers when needing women for business or industrial work call Miss Moore of the Friendly Service bureau, letting her know the requirements of the position and the age and experience of person needed. Real attention is given each case and the bureau has made placements for almost all open positions registered by employers.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

By Central Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—Hollywood, I am told, is preparing to go through with Christmas according to the dictates of its carefully tended traditions. Each star will enact his Yuletide role just as if the cameras were grinding, as, indeed, they may be for some of the more spectacular celebrities.

The Harold Lloyds who with three youngsters in the family, make an occasion of Christmas, will keep up the live three custom. Each year of her life Gloria Lloyd has had a growing fir tree in the house, roots intact and boxed. After the 25th decorations are removed and the tree planted near her playhouse. She has a living memento for each holiday. And she now has her adopted sister, Peggy, and Harold Jr. to share the event.

Ruth Chatterton is the only one of the major stars I can call to mind whose birthday falls on Christmas eve. She is one of the few stars with courage enough to mention birthdays very loudly, anyway.

Maurice Chevalier is about to spend his third Yule season away from Paris where the Maurice Chevalier Dispensaire, free actor's clinic will go ahead with the annual party to which Maurice, 6,000 miles away, is host just the same. He will talk to the ailing ones in his hospital by telephone however.

The rumor that George Bancroft takes a dip in the ocean near his home every Christmas morning may be true and it may be another of the Bancroft publicity efforts—like the story of his awakening each morning to the fumes of a crushed orange waved by a valet before his nose.

Richard Wallace sends out the cheapest card it is possible to make up, with the announcement that the difference saved will be donated to charity. This year he has cornered a card, printed on old wrapping paper by unemployed journeymen printers, which cost him 40 cents a hundred.

George Barbier plays Santa to at least two children's parties every year. . . Carole Lombard telegraphs her greetings. . . Anna May Wong sends custom-built Chinese dolls to each of her friends, each doll appropriate to the receiver's personality

The huge cedar trees in the yards of Richard Arlen, Clive Brooks, Conrad Nagel, Gary Cooper and Eleanor Boardman are my agents whisper, ready to flame with lights.

HOP, SKIP AND JUMP

Students of civics, looking back, will find that the Seabury staff, currently making it hot for Tammany Hall with investigations, was composed almost exclusively of Bluebloods. . . The roster of his inquisitors reads like the Social Register.

The old Silver Slipper night club of checkered memory, will reopen as a Russian place soon, probably to be called the Arbat. . . The Russian places are definitely booming among the tail-coat crowd. . . .

There are rumors of Fatty Arbuckle's return to the stage in a big way, although he is much slimmer than formerly. . . Travelers recently returned say Paris is abuzz over the new law which heavily taxes light ladies of the evening. . . Protest meetings have been held over the thing.

Second-hand car dealers are now giving away depressed stock shares, plucked at random from the curb as an inducement to buy. . . Beggars now flaunt doctor's certificates proving their incapacity for work in the upper Broadway area. . .

And that announcement of great interest to you, will shortly be made in this place!. . .Keep an eye peeled.

PURELY PERSONAL

R. K., Mount Vernon, N. Y.,: I'm sure she's send you her autograph if you write, and probably a picture, too. They love it.

Bert, Clearwater, Fla., Sorry, but I can't give you the address of the club in which Joe Zelli has been officiating, for reasons which I'm sure you'll see if you ponder the problem. The amiable Joe is quitting soon, anyway, after his play, "Papavert," has its Broadway premiere.

Yule Program At South Side School

Next Tuesday morning in the Lincoln and Garfield school auditorium a Christmas program will be presented it was announced today by Principal James M. Hughes. Miss Mildred Updegraff, the dramatics supervisor, is in charge.

IMPROVEMENT CARD NOT YET DECIDED

Frank Miller, Engineer for the city of New Castle, in answer to a query today said he has not yet compiled data in connection with probable engineering jobs to be done in 1932. Annually the engineer compiles an estimate of cost for the probable projects. It is reported the council would like to improve Butler avenue extension and resurface several other streets

MORE SHOES THIS YEAR

(International News Service)

BOSTON.—An increase in the amount of shoes production in Massachusetts were noted in the first eight months of 1931, as compared to the same period the year before, a survey showed. The production of boots and shoes for the first eight months of 1931 was 221,461,421 pairs, of which Massachusetts produced 51,258,577. The increase over the previous year in this state amounted to eight-tenths of one per cent.

Mourning rings are now in vogue. They are usually single stone rings, tourquoise, pearl, chrysoprase, or opal, with a narrow frame of onyx or black enamel.

Report 65,000 Deer Killed By Hunters

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—Between 60,000 and 65,000 deer were killed during the recent season, according to reports compiled today by the board of game commissioners. Approximately three-fourths of the kill was does.

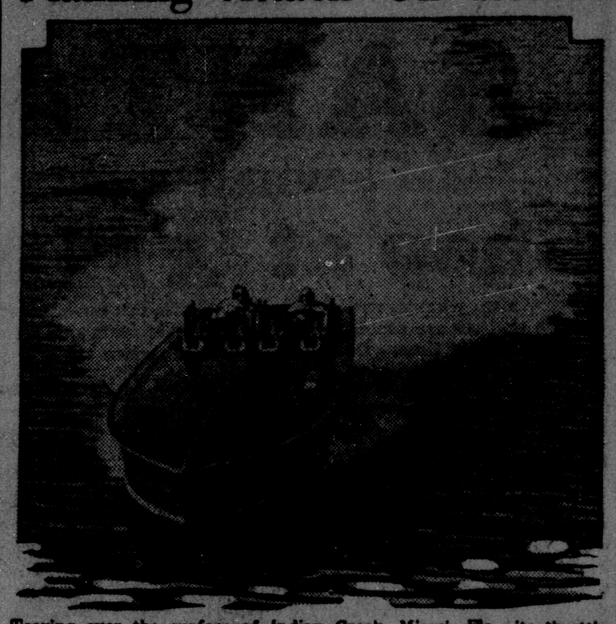
Ross Leffler, president of the board, said that while the kill did not meet the expectation in certain sections it will effect a more proper balance of the sexes and relieve some of the damage to crops and orchards.

On the basis of 1,000,000 deer, the number which the commission estimates in the state, a yearly kill of 600,000 would not deplete the stock, Leffler said.

The commission has received reports of 36 fatal and 58 non-fatal accidents during the big game season. In addition there were seven deaths due to heart failure and two murders.

Because it is estimated that twice as many deer hunters were in the woods than formerly, Leffler asserted that the toll was less in proportion than in a year when only bucks may be killed.

Planning Attack On Record



Tearing over the surface of Indian Creek, Miami, Fla., its throttle full open, Gar Wood's "Miss America IX" is shown as the veteran speedboat racer and designer tuned her up for another attempt to wrest the world's speedboat record from Kaye Don, the English speed king. Wood, who has held the Harmsworth Trophy since 1921, believes his boat is capable of bettering Don's 110-mile-an-hour record and has declared that if he succeeds in setting a new mark he will put Miss America in a museum. Otherwise he will send the craft to Davy Jones.

Delisio Not Guilty; County Pay Costs

Jury Of 5 Women And 7 Men Out All Night On Alleged Drunken Driving Case

After being out all night and until nearly noon today, the jury in the case of Sam Delisio, charged with driving while intoxicated brought in a verdict of not guilty, and the county of Lawrence pay the costs.

The jury, which was composed of five women and seven men, were given the case on Thursday afternoon, after argument by attorneys and a charge by Judge Chambers.

Delisio was arrested by Constable Raymond Talley on the New Castle-Beaver road. Talley and other witnesses maintained that he was under the influence of liquor. Delisio and several witnesses on his side claimed that he was not.

The jury debated over the evidence all night, and when breakfast was served this morning, had not been able to agree. Shortly before noon an agreement was finally reached and the verdict reported.

TO SAVE MT. SHASTA

(International News Service)

MT. SHASTA CITY, Cal.—R. L. Egenhoff, United States engineer, today had been detailed to make a study here of possible ways and means of stopping the mud flows which have been devastating the slopes of Mt. Shasta. Data gathered by Egenhoff will be used by a board of engineer in an effort to determine whether it is possible to stop the flows. The flow last summer was believed to have been due to the light snow the previous winter.

WINS BY A SPLINTER

(International News Service)

BEDFORD, Ia.—Charles Maudlin wins by a splinter! And thus Maudlin became Iowa's first woodchopping champion. He won this title by nosing out Ora Huntsman in the first woodchopping contest ever held in the state here. The winner's time was six minutes, two seconds, while Huntsman finished a second behind him.

Quota Club Is Planning Christmas Celebration For Oakridge Children

Although the calendar placidly says that these winter days are the shortest of the entire year, the little residents of Crawford Oakridge children's home shake their heads in contradition and remain firm in their belief that no days are so long as those before Christmas.

Every one of the 22 children in the home on Atlantic avenue has written a letter to Santa Claus, giving detailed description of just what he wants—and the letters were mailed some time ago. They were mailed to Santa Claus in care of the Quota club. (The Quota club will see that each wish of the boys and girls is answered by a Christmas package.)

Although Christmas eve and Santa will come to Crawford Oakridge on Tuesday, December 22, three days earlier than he will visit the rest of New Castle—even though the children know that—the days for them are long and full of tense excitement.

Plans for the celebration of Christmas next Tuesday evening include the giving of gifts by the Quota club and a program presented by the children of the home who attend Lawrence school. The program of songs, speeches, etc., will be given around the Christmas tree.

INDIANS TO HUNT BISON

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo.—The American bison once the best friends of the Red Man, has again come to the rescue in helping to keep the wolf from the door of at least one tribe of Indians. Faced with the problem of caring for a fast growing buffalo herd, Director Albright of the National Park Service was asked by E. T. Scoyen superintendent of Glacier National Park to allow the Blackfeet Indians and other tribes to use the meat from surplus buffalo. Arrangements will soon be made to slaughter about one hundred head of buffalo and ship the meat about 50,000 pounds to the reservation.

Wampum Man Is Arrested Today In Seventh Ward

Breaks Into Home And Does Much Damage Before Police Arrive On Scene

Answering a hurry call from the West Cherry street district about 8:15 o'clock this morning, Detective John Young and Officers Thomas Lynch and Jim Moore on reaching the home of B. E. Sense, 412 West Cherry street, found that James Aiello of Wampum had broken into the Sense home and after effecting an entrance had proceeded to smash up various articles of the home and act in a very disorderly manner.

They found that after forcing an entrance into the home by breaking in a door and doing much of the damage, that Mrs. Sense had fired three shots at him from a revolver, none of which took effect, but one of which passed through his coat.

When the officers took him in charge, Aiello tried to get rough and his language was very abusive and he was brought in handcuffed. He is being held in the city jail pending a thorough investigation by the police.

Tech Student In Auto Accident, Loses His Leg

Buffalo, New York, Young Man Has Leg Amputated After Crash Near Titusville

(International News Service)

TITUSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 18.—C. H. Perch, 29, of Buffalo, N. Y., student at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh, was confined to the hospital here today following amputation of a leg as the result of an automobile accident.

Perch and Thomas Weldon, also of Buffalo, and a student at Carnegie Tech, were injured when the automobile in which they were returning home for the holiday vacation overturned near here late yesterday. Weldon was treated for abrasions and body bruises.

MILLER IS TAKEN TO HUNTINGDON

Employed Wife Feels Effects Of Depression

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 18—If the wife is earning $1,200 a year and the husband nothing, can the latter be jailed for the support of two children?

W. C. Nicholson, of McClellandtown, was hailed into court today for failing to support his family. He said that his wife receives $1,200 a year as a school teacher in the South Union township school district while his trucking business has been reduced to nothing. He asks that the order by which he has been paying $25 a month be suspended during the depression.

Slippery Rock Man Elected President

BUTLER, Pa., Dec. 18. — S. L. Cheeseman of Slippery Rock was elected president of the Butler County School Directors' Association at the closing session of the annual convention today. He succeeds Rev. J. Harvey McCormick, also of Slippery Rock.

Other officers of the association are: Vice presidents, Roy Ferguson of Forward township, and Robert Stroup of Fairview township; treasurer, L. G. Stoughton, Center township; secretary, John S. Jameson of Fairview township.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

New Books Are Brought To Local Library Thursday

Late Novels May Be Asked For At Mahoning Next Monday

Here are some titles of books publisned during 1931 which have been entered on the shelves of the Mahoning branch of the New Castle public library, brought on Thursday from the main building by the branch library, Mrs. Gladys Johnston:

Keyes—Sady Blanches Farm.
Olivier—Dwarf's Blood.
Milin—Vintage of Yon Yee.
Austin—Starry Adventure.
Kay-Smith—Susan Spray.
Jordan—Mackerel Sky.
Sutherland—Way of a Man.
Moore—Raven Rough.
Sinclair—Fool's Goal.
Farnol—Over the Hills.
Widdemer—Truth About Sovers.
Gerard—Strange Young Man.
Luther—Corcorans.
Blindness—Border Trail.

These books are new for the local library and were also brought here yesterday:

Verne—800 Leagues on the Amazon.
Colver—Hilltop House.
Verne—From Earth to the Moon.
Lutz—Honor Girl.
Dreiser—American Tragedy.
Beach—Son of the Gods.

MAHONING BOOK CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. HYDE

The Mahoning Book club met on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. A. C. Hyde, North Cedar street, with an attendance of 14 members and one special guest, Mrs. W. H. Downing.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, followed by an afternoon of social chat and exchange of books. Mrs. W. L. Jenkins will receive the club at her home in two weeks.

OKLAHOMA TRIP

Miss Lila V. Henshaw, employed by a local concern, and her mother, both of New Castle, are enroute to Tulsa, Okla., where they will spend the holidays.

W. A. G. Club Has Christmas Party

The W. E. Weitz home, decorated with Christmas wreathes and cut flowers, was a pretty setting for the gathering of W. A. G. club members Thursday evening. Three tables of 500 were in play and the evening event was perfect in every way.

After cards the members and two special guests, Mrs. Harlan Haun, of Akron, and Mrs. A. J. Hand, of Pittsburgh, went to the dining room and were served a delicious menu. Christmas colors prevailed. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Haun.

Later the son of the hostess, Billy Weitz, distributed gifts which had been set under the Christmas tree.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Mrs. Harlan Haun, of Akron, O., is visiting Mrs. W. E. Weitz, of West Madison avenue.

Mrs. A. J. Hand, of Pittsburgh, is a guest at the home of Mrs. Earl Horner, West Madison avenue.

Miss Jane Keifer, of Harmony, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Oliver Shaffer, of Newell avenue.

Mrs. Grace Byerley, of Wabash avenue, has returned home after an extended stay in Columbiana, Salem, Warren and Niles.

J. J. Broughton, of Pittsburgh, spent Thursday in this ward.

The condition of Jane M. Cochran, of Clayton street, who has been very ill is about the same.

John Perrill, of Willard, Ohio, came to New Castle Wednesday to see his brother, T. H. Perrill, of West Madison avenue, who was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital for treatment.

David Jones, local resident and Baltimore and Ohio clerk, has returned home from Tionesta where he had been on a hunting trip.

RETURN HOME

Roy Lawson, and J. P. Morgan, of this ward, and Mr. Marshall, of East Side New Castle, have returned home from Allegheny National Forest where they were hunting big game. Mr. Marshall was fortunate in getting a deer.

KEPHART GETS BUCK

D. R. Kephart, of West Clayton street, has returned home from a big game hunting trip in Clearfield county. He bagged a four point buck while there.

Mr. Kephart was accompanied by Roy McConahey, of Allen street, who was fortunate also and brought back with him a doe. The deer were shot on the last two days of the season.

ALL CHILDREN ARE INVITED TO ATTEND LIBRARY STORY HOUR

The Christmas story hour which will be conducted Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the Mahoning branch library is absolutely free and all boys and girls, regardless of whether they have borrowers' cards or not, are invited to attend.

Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian, will tell the stories and they promise to be interesting from start to finish.

INSTALL OFFICERS

Officers were installed last night at a meeting of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen No. 955 and the Mabel Wilson auxiliary, at Malta hall.

PLANNING DINNER

Mrs. E. L. Foster, Mrs. C. H. Thompson and Mrs. Emma Olmstead were appointed committee in charge of arrangements for the installation dinner of the Ladies Auxiliary to the O. R. C. on Thursday, January 7. The appointment was made at the regular meeting of the auxiliary Thursday afternoon at the City hall.

MOVE TO WARD

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shives have moved from East street to 206½ East Cherry street.

ON VACATION

Charles Dungan, Jr., of Newell avenue, a student at the Glendale Junior College, Los Angeles, California, is enjoying his Christmas vacation, according to word received by his parents. He will return to classes December 28.

MOTHER IS ILL

Mrs. D. C. Schnebly of Newell avenue is at Cherry Tree, Pa., with her mother, Mrs. Margaret J. Tonkin, who is very ill. Mrs. Tonkin's condition is such that her recovery is doubtful.

CANTATA PRACTICE

Another rehearsal of the Christmas cantata that will be presented at the Mahoning M. E. church Sunday evening will take place tonight at the church.

Foreigners In Shanghai From 43 Countries

Confusion Of Tongues Is Increasing In China City

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 18.—The French Concession here must take world honors as the modern Babel. According to the new census the population of 15,149 Europeans and Americans, is composed of nationals from forty-three different countries. These are in addition to the Concession's 440,886 Chinese residents. Furthermore, confusion of tongues is increasing, for in seventeen months 2,224 non-Chinese and 18,891 Chinese were added to the census figures.

Despite the fact that the Concession is French territory, there are 250 more Americans than French living there, while the British with 2,625 dominate those two. The American group numbers 1,572. Russians muster 5,671, the highest of all non-Chinese.

Offering an interesting comparison with living standards in the foreign community of Peiping, is the fact that the census shows only one Chinese servant for each two foreigners in the French Concession. In Peiping it would probably work out at four to five Chinese servants per foreigner. The boat population for the Concession is 19,381.

The astounding list of nations represented in the census includes the following: French, German, American, British, Argentine, Armenian, Austrian, Belgian, Brazilian, Bulgarian, Chilean, Cuban, Danish, Egyptian, Georgian, Greek, Dutch, Hungarian, Italian, Japanese, Lett, Lithuanian, Mexican, Norweigian, Persian, Peruvian, Polish, Portuguese, Republic of St. Domingue, Rumanian, Russian, Serbian, Swedish, Swiss, Czechoslovakian, Turks, Tonkinese, Uruguayians, and Yugoslavians.

ROMANCE ON WANE

(International News Service)

DENVER—Romance is on the wane in Denver. Figures recently released by the clerk of the county courts show that during the first 11 months of this year only 1,756 marriage licenses were issued in Denver, as compared with 2,167 for a similar period in 1930. During the same period 1,204 divorce suits were filed, compared with 1,198 for the first 11 months of 1930.

OPEN EVENINGS UNTIL CHRISTMAS

Two Lads From Darkest Africa Size Up New York

Youths Brought From Jungles By Explorers Uncomplimentary

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Two black lads from the heart of darkest Africa, brought here by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, eminent explorers, have a none too complimentary opinion of New York and New Yorkers.

Both being of the opinion (as expressed to their interpreter) that "All these people must be crazy," it is a safe assumption that they think the metropolis a virtual "mad house." The two situations which elicited this comment from the African natives included a traffic jam on Fifth avenue and the perfectly ridiculous sight of a train flying through the air on elevated trestles without an engine.

The two visitors are here as caretakers for the collection of animals that the Johnson brought back to the Central Park Zoo from their latest invasion of African jungles.

"These American people build houses in the air like birds," the natives said, referring to the far-famed New York sky-line.

"Fifth avenue is a swell government road," they conceded, but thought all pedestrians and motorists traversing it were loony because they couldn't seem to make up their minds when they wanted to go.

They liked Harlem, but couldn't understand why so many Negroes were driving around in automobiles. "Only whites ride in automobiles back home," they remarked in wonderment. In Ugandi blacks earn only $4 per month.

"Hello, yes," is the limit of the boys' knowledge of English, a phrase which they use for any and all purposes. At present they are sleeping on the floor of the vacant pen in the elephant house at Central Park, preferring this resting place to a hotel billet.

POLICE WARNED ABOUT FORGER

Police authorities here have been warned to be on the lookout for the possible appearance in this district of a bad check passer and forger, who has been operating throughout a wide area of the country and may appear here at any time.

The man in question has many aliases, among them being Claude E. Schroeder, C. E. Sherer, Clyde Sanderson, Earl Williams, Earl C. Gray, Earl C. Grey, Clarke Shubert, C. E. Scoville and William E. Neuman.

He is described as being 23 years of age, five feet 10 3-4 inches in height, weighing about 160 pounds and having light curly chestnut colored hair and blue eyes.

Hunting Stories Very Humorous In Allentown Region

(International News Service)

ALLENTOWN, Dec. 18. — With hunting stories flying thick and fast during the deer season, Allentown comes into the limelight with a few contributions that merit the "tall" category. Instances of close calls with serious injury have been related and some, despite their grim possibilities, are more or less mirth provoking, mostly at the expense of the hunter telling the story.

One hunter was justly proud of his buckskin gloves, with hair outside, but they led to nimrods firing shots through his right and left sleeves; another hunter was pleased with his entirely black hunting outfit, until he was mistaken for a bear; still another young local hunter equipped himself with a lavish hunting outfit,only to return home with the declaration he would never hunt again after seeing a comrade shot down and mortally wounded.

One local nimrod suffered a wounded leg when members of his own party and others fired at two fleeing bucks, while two more were forced to lie for hours behind a huge stone while other hunters used the opposite side of the rock for target practice.

NAMES OF 5,000 YOUNGSTOWNERS TO BE ELIMINATED

(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 18—Names of about 5,000 persons today will be eliminated from the files of the board of elections. These persons registered about two years ago and records reveal they have not voted since that time.

Plans are being made to unite small precincts in the city, which will save, it is estimated, $150 for each precinct at every election.

Another Peace Petition for Hoover

Determined to continue their efforts in the cause of international peace, members of the Christian Endeavor Union recently called upon the President at the White House with a petition renewing their pleas for international friendship. U.; President Hoover, and Dr. Daniel A. Poling, of New York, International President.

Chimpanzee Gives Science Pointers On Baby-Rearing

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 18.—At the phycho-biological laboratory at Yale University is one of the most interesting 14-months old children known to experimental science. It is not a human but an ape child, a female chimpanzee. Dr. C. F. Jacobsen, instructor in the department of psycho-biology at Yale, has brought up this ape infant from the moment of her birth, to study how a developing ape compares with a human baby.

Dr. Jacobsen, who had disclosed the the first report of his observations concerning this young ape at National Academy of Science recently, later on amplified his statement. He said:

"Our chimpanzee is a female, now 14 months old. She is now in the Yale laboratory here. We are continuing our studies of her physical behavior and psychological development.

"What I wanted to see was how an isolated young ape grows up physically and mentally.

"In the first three months her weight doubled, in six months it was three times as much as at birth. The growth of teeth also was faster than of a human child of the same age. At three months, the chimpanzee grew as much as a human baby at 10 months of age. At the end of the 12 months, our female chimpanzee had the physical development of a human child of three years.

"The most important things is that a chimpanzee of this early age is far more independent and active than a corresponding human.

City Folks Get Wised On Butter

Charleroi Milk Company Official Tells Why Jarring Does Not Make Butter

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Dec. 18.—"City folks" have been wondering for a long time why milk doesn't churn into butter as it jangles over roads in large tank trucks enroute to bottling plants from the pastures.

Frank Wagner, local milk company official, gave the answer. Here it is:

"Milk must be warm to churn. The milk is shipped at a temperature of about 50 degrees, enroute, even in the warmest weather, it seldom changes more than one degree. This is due to the fact that the tanks are glass-lined and are protected with a three-inch cork filler between the glass and the outside cover of aluminum.

"Often we are asked if the tanks must be filled to prevent churning. We often ship with the tank only partly filled, but it makes no difference. The milk reaches its destination in exactly the same state as when it was put in the truck.

Slayer Given Ten Year Term

Uniontown Judge Sentences James Thomas To 10 To 20 Years Solitary Confinement

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 18—Jas. Thomas, 38, today was under sentence to serve from 10 to 20 years in the Western penitentiary following his conviction for the death of Luther Cole, shot and killed by a volley from the defendant's gun as he was walking along the road with Mrs. Thomas.

The jury requested that no mercy be shown Thomas and the court directed that he serve his term in solitary confinement.

PITTSBURGH'S ART MOST INTERESTING

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 18.—Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania artists will have a chance to show their studies in Italy—Cradle of famed painters and sculptors.

In search for suitable art objects to exhibit at the International Exposition opening at Bologna early in 1932, Attilio Gaudio, of Milan, agent-delegate for the exposition, arrived here to look over galleries and private collections.

Gaudio also brought a diploma, medal and the cross of merit for Frank Vittor, Pittsburgh artist, for the latter's bust of former President Roosevelt. The bust, shown in Bologna last year, was one of the prize winners in the sculptural art section.

Gaudio likened Pittsburgh to his own home.

"New York? Not so much," said he. "But Pittsburgh has power. It's dramatic. It's like Northern Italy, my home. I am much more at home here.'

Research Has Not Lessened

Activities In The Big Laboratories Of American Plants Never Cease

Activities in the big industrial laboratories have not been lessened The great industries of the country where research departments are essential units in their organizations are looking far beyond the downward trend of the present business cycle. Science continues to function no matter what the output of a plant may be or whatever may happen to dividends. In the long run the application of science, pays, and the relation of research to profits is such that the microscope and the test tube must be kept busy should all the rest of the plant lapse into idleness.

Research and its accomplishments should be taken into consideration in making forecasts for the discovery of today may be a dominating influence in the industrial and financial world tomorrow. But the forward look is unusually a long one Experience shows that the time lag between experimental and de elopmental work in the laboratory and commercial production in the plant averages three years so that the trained observer should be able to tell with some degree of certainty just what the position of a company may be at a given period all other things being equal.

But all the factors must be taken into account. The discovery in the laboratory today will inevitably lend to its application in one form or another in the practical field of business tomorrow. But that discovery may mean a new industry or an expansion for one and no losses for another: or industrial research may put in a new leader and oust an old one.

Scientists now peering down the barrel of a microscope, gazing into the world of the infiniteismal may be staking out the claims for a discovery which will revolutionize an industry. An inquisitive nose poking into a chemical beaker may uncover the secret of a synthetic dye which will rival the royal purple of ancient Tyre. Sensitive fingers may be now adjusting the chemical balance that may produce a formula for a man-made silk that puts Nature's methods to shame—Maurice Holland, in Forbes Magazine.

How Fine China Can Be Tested

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18. — "Fine china can be tested by holding it before a strong light. High quality china is made of 50 per cent bone ash and is translucent." Thus spoke Hensleight Wedgwood of Staffordshire, England, visiting here. He is six generations removed from the founder of the famous Wedgwood table pottery works. One hundred and seventy-two years spent in glorifying the three meals mankind eats a day is the story of his family. Josiah W. Wedgwood put the business on a commercial basis in 1759 though his ancestors were skilled in the art as early as the sixteenth century.

At 16 years she will be 61.6 inches tall and will weight 112 pounds.

An autograph of Thomas Lynch, Jr., a signer of the Declaration of Independence, was sold in New York City in 1929 for $9,500. It was signed, on August 22, 1775, and was on a receipt for 50 pounds, in payment by South Carolina for a slave, who had been executed, and who had belonged to Lynch's father.

Pilot A. L. Gilhousen claims the long distance night visibility record. He saw Reno, Nev., at midnight while flying at an altitude of 13,000 feet with mail and passengers over Redding, Cal., which is 175 miles from Reno and on the opposite side of the Sierra mountains.

Radium injected into the left arm of a normal person travels through the heart and lungs and reaches the right arm in from 15 to 22 seconds, but in disease may require 45 to 60 seconds to cover that course through the human system.

Under normal atmospheric conditions the visibility of a light depends upon its height and intensity, the distance due to the former being known as the geographic range, and to the latter as the luminous.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

All Kiddies Have Dread Of Dentist

Train Youngsters To Have Teeth Filled Without Fuss

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D. Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

Many children live in mortal dread of the dentist. Some older children and adolescents hardly can be driven to his office, but in vain are tortured by their parents who force them thither. Other children go with fear and trembling.

Children who from infancy have the proper food and who from the time they are very young, visit the dentist every four or six months, rarely ever have occasion for fears about the matter. Perhaps when we know enough about foods and have character enough to utilize such knowledge, we will have little need of a dentist for filling cavities or extracting teeth.

It is safe to assume, however, that the infant by and by will need dental work, certainly dental care. Pick out now a dentist who will care for his teeth for years. Choose one who has sympathy and understanding of children, and expect to pay him reasonably for his time. This dentist will advise the parents on the care of the baby's teeth and will fill the smallest cavity in the temporary set as soon as he discovers it. Pain then will practically be ruled out and the permanent set of teeth will have been properly prepared for.

* * *

As you go with the child for the first time to the dentist, about the time the toddler is two or younger, let him first get acquainted with the dentist who will first show the child his tools, have him sit in the chair, will scratch gently about this toddler's teeth, just for gradual adjustment. As soon as possible leave this child alone with the dentist and go shopping. When the first cavity must be filled out of sight and hearing of the child; go away and return in due time with a toy for the child.

Don't promise the toy "if you didn't cry." Promise and deliver it whether he cries or not. Silently assume, however, that he will not cry. Say nothing about crying. Merely leave him at the dentist's office in a cool and quiet manner. The purpose of the toy is to prepare him for co-operation in the future. He will be less likely to cry as he looks forward to it. A certain lad before five used to beg to go to the dentist so he could "have another toy"—and those toys provided were relatively inexpensive. He and his older brother and sister, soon after entering school, began making their own dental appointments and have done so since then and have taken the responsibility for keeping these engagements, going from home to the dental office alone. They go with no more dread or ceremony, apparently, than when they go to school in the morning.

* * *

But suppose you have a child of six or fourteen who has terrifying fears of the dentist. Don't tell him it won't hurt; tell him he will be brave. Select some choice reward he is to receive on return from the dentist, regardless of how little or how much he co-operated, not to help him this one time merely, but to prepare him for better co-operation and greater courage for the future. When he cries and complains, keep calm and say nothing. By all means don't shame him and call him a baby.

COLLEGE QUARTET AT UNION CHAPEL

Township Students Enjoy Numbers Of Westminster Musical Group

Featured by a special appearance of the Westminster college male quartet and other Westminster musicians, the regular weekly assembly program at the Union Township high school yesterday afternoon proved most interesting.

Prof. Alan B. Davis, director of the college's conservatory of music, led the singers in their numbers. Supervising Principal Roy F. Conway presided.

Following is the complete afternoon program:

"The Drum"—Quartet.
"The Flies"—Quartet.
Piano solo, "Venitiane" by Godard—Paul McKnight, Westminster student.
"The Lost Chord"—Quartet.
Trumpet solo, "La Cauquataine" by Gabriel-Marie—Edgar Schaffer, Westminster student, winner of a high school trumpet competition last year in Westmoreland county.
"Swing Low Sweet Chariot"—Quartet.
"Sweet Kentucky Babe"—Quartet.
Trumpet solo, "Intermezzo" by Mascagni—Edgar Schaffer.
"The Big Brown Bear"—Quartet.
"The Story of the Tack"—Quartet.

As a fitting close to the delightful program, the quartet and the students together sang the verses of the Christmas hymn, "O Come All Ye Faithful."

FINAL PRACTICE FOR ENTERTAINMENT

Final practice for the playlet "The Dream Dolls," which will be presented by children of the members of Shenango Chapter, No 303 O. E. S., will be held in the East Lodge room of the Cathedral, Saturday morning at 9:30.

All the children taking part will be present with their costumes.

The playlet will be presented Monday, December 21, in conjunction with the annual Christmas program for the children. It is under the direction of Miss Eva Smith, assisted by Miss Jean Jackson.

Caruso's Coin Collection Valued At Almost $20,000

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Enrico Caruso was an enthusiastic collector of gold coins from many nations, including the United States, England, France. Italy and other European countries, it was shown in surrogate's court when his widow, Mrs. Dorothy P. B. Caruso, filed a final accounting of heractivities as administratix of his New York estate. The report revealed that the famous tenor, who died on August 2, 1921, in Naples, had accumulated a collection of coins worth $19,610, of which nearly $17,000 was in United States money.

The American items included a $10 gold piece, issued in 1795 which is now valued at $90; a quarter eagle issued in 1798 worth $20 and two $50 gold pices, dated 1815, now valued at $160 and $170 each.

Mrs. Caruso told the court that she received a total of $295,810 as estate, that she has disbursed a total of $280,536 to his heirs and now has an aggregate of $15,274 on hand for distribution to the heirs.

The estate was divided as follows: Half to his daughter, Gloria, and one-eighth each to Mrs. Caruso two sons, Randolph and Enrico Caruso Jr., and a brother, Giovanni Caruso.

DON'T HESITATE

Tomorrow don't hesitate to come into our market and give us the once over. You will find our prices on good quality merchandise is just as reasonable as you can find anywhere. All we ask is a legimate margin of profit on every article you buy. It might be termed as "Modern Merchandising Methods," to give you one article below cost and soak you for another, but I am a little old fashion and I say that it isn't right.

Xmas time the happiest time of the whole year is fast approaching. Some of us have been more fortunate than others. A lot of good families are in need right now—of something to eat. Now when you start out to buy Xmax gifts THINK—Don't go and buy a lot of stuff that will be of no use. I have put together a list of articles that would make a nice gift to anyone and it is packed in a nice basket:— 4 lb. pork loin 60c, 2 lb. lard 17, 5 lb. flour 15c, ½ bu. potatoes 30c, 2 lb. beans 10c, 4 loaves bread 20c, 3 lb. macaroni 23c, 1 lb. butter 33c, 2 lb. sugar 12, 2 lb. rice 10c, 1 lb. coffee 19c. Now don't forget your unfortunate neighbor. We are going to sell this basket of meat and groceries to you at $2.49. I don't think you can beat it. We can furnish these in large quanities—so if you are on a committee for your club, or corporation see us first.

We will have some more of Dick Ferris's turkeys for Xmas. Dick and Mrs. Ferris have been feeding their turkeys all they can eat. Corn, oatmeal, buttermilk and good clean water, and they have developed into regular little dumplings. Dick Ferris is one of the scientific poultrymen of Lawrence county. Ducks and geese we'll have lots of them and believe me we have not neglected to see that our ducks and geese will have had plenty to eat. Our chickens have been in our brooder house out on my farm for a month and we have fed them buttermilk and oatmeal to get them in the right condition. You know we dress them while you wait—removing all the entrails immediately so there is no possible chance of the food stuff which is left in the entrails at the time of slaughtering forming a sour gas and circulating through the carcas and producing a nasty taste which you cannot eliminate.

Now for the folks who do not care for poultry. I have purchased one of the blue ribbon baby steers at the Cleveland live stock show, a roast or steak from this dear little thing would sure make some feast. Just as soon as you decide on your menu come in and place you order, whether it be a chicken, duck, turkey, roast of beef or a steak, or a leg of beautiful home dressed lamb, then you can rest assured that you will get the best.

Don't forget that delicious golden fruit and nut cake that Mr. Elliott has made. It isn't in a tin box and I'm not going to throw my picture in because you don't have any use for them—So I am going to sell these 2 lb. fruit and nut cakes at the low price of 85c. We give S. & H. Green Stamps and deliver to your home free of charge.

Night School Students Writes About Ocean Trip

Recently in the Americanization class of the Lincoln and Garfield school which is held every Monday and Wednesday evenings, Professor James M. Hughes who is in charge, conducted an unusual contest, "The Story of An Immigrant". The 75 or more students who hope to become naturalized wrote or told the story of the time they were preparing to leave their country for America.

Miss Felicia Bukowska who has been in this country for two years wrote an essay which was judged the best in the night school classes. Miss Bukowska is only 19 years of age. She has attended the Americanization school since coming to this country and her following essay should prove an example of the work the students do at night school.

"The Story Of An Immigrant"

Not very long ago, about two years ago, I was a passenger on a big steamship. I had been living on the other side of the ocean.

My home was very very far from here. It was very hard for me to leave my dear country, leave brothers, family, friends and school.

The day I had to leave for the train all my friends came over to my house to bid me good-bye and wish me good luck on my journey in that new country. More than 20 of my friends walked with me to the train.

More tears, more kisses for me and the last signal; good-bye everybody and the town I used to live in.

That wasn't all, there was another scene I had to pass through. I stopped in Warsaw, the capital of Poland, for one day to see my brothers for the last time, perhaps. (My brothers are in Warsaw University and they couldn't come home then). I still can see my brothers trying to cheer me up, but with eyes full of tears.

They came with me to the ship, kissed me good-bye and oh, when I think of it, it's hard to stand.

When all the passengers were in their cabins, the ship gave one long whistle and started to sail. The orchestra was playing, supper was on the tables, but no one was feeling like eating.

On the next morning you could see just a few people, the rest had become sea sick. I wasn't sick on the first or second day. I got used to that boat, but on the fifth day and night I wished I had not started. I was so ill.

When our ship was in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean, it was so violent I thought I never would be in this country. The ship was rocking just like a little nut shell, water was going away above the top of the ship. All people had to stay in their cabins. While I was in bed, that gave me just the very feeling of a swing, you could hardly hold yourself in it. Everything was falling off the tables on to the floor.

Not always was the ocean violent. I had a few beautiful days when the ship was sailing quietly and the orchestra was playing on the top of it. I never could stay in my cabin. The sky and ocean seemed to look alike whenever you looked, water and water all around.

When at last the long journey came to an end, we could see the shores of America, beautiful lights all around, all the boats and ships in the port, it was so pretty I could not divert my eyes.

On the thirteenth day of my journey I came to New York, from New York on the train to New Castle Now I am here in this country of the free.

As a very nice memory of this country I will always remember the Night School in the Lincoln and Garfield school on Long avenue, under the control of Mr. James M. Hughes.

YOUNG GIRLS ARE OWN SANTA CLAUS

(International News Service)

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 18—Two youthful skeptics who didn't believe in Santa Claus took the matter of Christmas presents into their own hands here.

They also took the presents.

Police reported two girls, ages 10 and 11 and names withheld, broke into a house where a church had stored its Christmas gifts and removed a box of playthings.

Traced, they told officers their parents couldn't afford presents, they didn't believe in Santa Claus anyway and decided to get their own gifts.

McElwee Bill Is Centre Of Interest

Would Allow Poor Boards To Contract Labor In Return For Aid

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 18.—One bill that has attracted favorable attention in the House of Representatives is that of Representative McElwee of Lawrence County which would give authority to Poor Boards in the state to contract labor in return for orders for assistance.

If the bill is passed and signed it would permit a Poor Board to use men on county or civic projects, crediting their labor for material assistance granted. In other words, it would take away the stigma of charity from assistance orders and permit an able bodied man to render service for the aid he received.

"TO LET" SIGN ON ARMSTRONG HOME

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 18—"To let" A sign bearing those two words today marks a big three-story red brick house here which for years was a political center of Pittsburgh.

It was for 37 years the home of the late county commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, long a power in county and city politics.

The house has been given up by members of the commissioner's family and is to be leased or sold.

Japan tells China in the sign language that there is not room enough for both in Manchuria and that the sooner the latter country gets out the better for her.—The Charleston (W. Va.) Daily Mail.

Unemployment Apt To Affect Health of Tots

Lack Of Nourishment Is Contributory Cause Of Many Maladies

APPEL DISCUSSES SITUATION IN STATE

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18—"After all, the most serious aspect of the unemployment distress of the state of Pennsylvania, is its possible effect on health—particularly of the children," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health, today in discussing the present economic stress.

Lack of proper nourishment is a great contributing cause to many maladies. Overcrowding of living quarters, with lack of sufficient heat, and resultant lack of ventilation, as well as a shortage of clothing may reasonable be expected to lead to sharp excesses in various communicable and respiratory diseases, during the coming winter months.

Then there are serious health problems in the matter of tuberculosis, lowered vitality, loss of resistance to disease, reduced mental alertness, and mental instability, which may readily be seen as continuing throughout the life of the generation so affected.

Every form of epidemic disease which the winter will bring, is now prevalent. Exposure to more or less infection is almost certain to everybody. Can the body resist the onslaught of these forces? If it is weakened by the lack of needed nourishment, if the food supply fails to contain the necessary elements which bulwark the constitution against disease—in short—if it meets the enemy in a weakened condition, the results can readily be foreseen.

How best to meet this situation in every city, town, hamlet and countryside of the state, is the problem that presses with increasing intensity on every citizen of the commonwealth; as well as every physician, nurse and employee of the State Department of Health.

State Winning Battle Against Dreaded Disease

Number Of Diphtheria Cases Falls Off Sharply In Single Week

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—Further evidence that the battle against diphtheria is being won in Pennsylvania is seen in the latest reports to Dr. J. Moore Campbell, Chief of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases, of the Department of Health. In a single week, the number of cases reported fell from 159 to 98—a drop of 61 in seven days.

Commencing at a date in late September, with 60 cases reported for a week, the trend went steadily and normally upward until the high point of 159 per week was reached in late November. Then turning suddenly, the curve shot perpendicularly downward until it reached a level of only 98 cases at the beginning of December.

The reports for the weeks covering this month, will be watched with eager interest, to determine whether or not the steps taken for immunizing are going to result in the lowest number of diphtheria cases ever reported to the Department of Health. The present results are very gratifying.

Diphtheria ceases to be the deadly menace it was a few years ago.

Held at Hartford, Conn., in $5,000 bail for the shooting of her former husband, Michael Smith, Mrs. Lowendich Posner Smith pleads self-defense, asserting that Smith beat and abused her. Police say the shooting followed an attempt at reconciliation. Smith is in a Hartford hospital, where his condition is critical.

BRIDGE CRAZE SWEEPS ALL LEVELS

Life's Span Is Increased Ten Years By Science

Children Born Today May Expect To Live Longer Than Parents

CONTROL DISEASES AMONG CHILDREN

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18—"A child born today may expect to live ten years longer than one whose birth occurred 30 years ago," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretary of Health, today in discussing the work of the pre-school division of the Bureau of Child Health.

"This statement is true largely because of the results achieved in the field of life saving in infancy and childhood, by wiser care, purer milk, and a better understanding on the part of both physician and parents as to how to protect the health of the child in the home.

"Very slight progress has been made in controlling many of the diseases incident to middle life. These years, as well as the later ones, show a constantly mounting curve of illness and death. Ailments of the heart, blood vessels, lungs, kidneys and brain continue with alarming regularity to claim their toll of victims annually.

"They fill our hospitals, and create a vast army of individuals of small value to themselves, or those round about them. They lay an added burden of expense on their families, friends and the community at large. It is true that the better understanding and application of the rules of health, as well as the clearer knowledge of the causes and remedies for many bodily ills, has brought to maturity and middle life an army of those who under former conditions died in childhood. But as they leave middle life they find the road more difficult, and fall exhausted at the portal of old age.

"But in the field of child health, from infancy to school age, we have taken great and marvelous life saving strides. The death rate heads constantly downward. Not perhaps in each succeeding year—but the trend through the years is steady and consistent. And because of the success here, it can be said that the child born today may reasonably expect to live ten years longer, than if he had come into the world some 30 years ago."

SQUATTERS COLONY HUTS TO DISAPPEAR

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 18—For health's sake homes of fifty squatters on Seattle's tideflats are charred ruins, burned recently by order of the city health department. The huts, many of them simply holes in the earth, roughly lined with boards and roofed with gunnysacks, were the only homes of the tideflat men.

Many of the occupants stood in the cold spring rain to watch despairingly the destruction of three blocks of cottages. Most of them picked up their cooking utensils, coal oil lamps and bed rolls, to wander aimlessly away.

The wholesale burning came after the health department reported the huts and their manner of maintenance were a menace to public safety.

Build Sewers To Aid Unemployed

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—Speeding up all types of work that might enable boros and cities to help the unemployed, Dr. Theodore B. Appel, chairman of the Sanitary Water Board, has issued the following permits, for additional sewage facilities:

Coatesville Chester county, Meadville Crawford county, Gettysburg Adams county, Reading Berks county, Radnor Township Delaware county, Paxtang Dauphin county. In each case, detailed plans submitted by the city or boro to the Sanitary Water Board, were carefully studied by engineers, finally approved, and permits issued.

Cost Of Beautifying Capital Is Enormous

Several Thousand Spent Each Year To Keep Capital Grounds In Shape

Crews Of Workmen Summer And Winter Attend To Spacious 13 Acres Of Ground

By GENE MYERS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—Beauty, a rare attribute, is likewise costly.

At least, when the term is applied to the "front yard" of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania—just a mere matter of 13 acres.

Fifteen men work throughout the year, summer and winter, beautifying the spacious "lawn" which extends around the main state buildings on Capitol Hill.

Immense flower beds and row upon row of new and old trees, are always kept in spic-and-span order for the eye of wary politicians who stroll about occasionally to note how state funds are expended.

Crews Kept Busy

At any time of the day, and every day, crews of workmen are busy planting new trees, uprooting others, touching up flower beds or even "feeding the trees"—literally, for trees need food, the workmen will tell you, as much as humans do.

When H. L. Lichtenthaler, superintendent of public grounds, goes out to feed the trees, he and his men drill holes in a circle six feet in diameter, extending outward. The holes are dug deep enough to hold one pound of "tree food" the incisions and subsequent feeding, incidentally, is a bit more difficult than strewing fertilizer on Mr. Average Citizen's front lawn and flower beds.

Twenty-three new trees, each costing from $75 to $210, adorn the "front yard" and, as in automobiles, "it's not the original cost—it's the upkeep." Tree surgeons this year cost the state $4,355. The surgeons keep the bushes and branches pruned and trimmed, and sometimes "double in brass" by performing tree dentistry operations.

Plants Eat Heavy.

Speaking of natural appetites, the flowers give the trees a close run in gastronomical feats. Do the flowers eat! Plant world "confections" cost the state about $70 a ton. Mixed to contain just the right amount of this-and-that by chemists, the average yearly cost is $385 for the fertilizer. The "flower candy" also is fed to bushes, shrubbery and grass.

Springtime turns the young man's fancy to amorous adventures, but it turns the "flower-man's" thoughts to Work, with a capital "W" please. Last year 15,000 tulips, 10,000 crocuses and 48,000 hyacinths were planted. The bulbs cost anywhere from $30 to $60 per thousand. Bulbs bought this year cost the state $1,247.

The biggest job has not yet been mentioned. That consists of keeping the kids off the velvet grass and watching that innocent young swains don't wander too near the flower beds and unobtrusively pluck a pretty one for a pretty maiden.

Sauerkraut Of Chinese Origin Research Shows

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 18— Exploding the theory that sauerkraut, once so lowly regarded, was of German origin, Roy Irons, secretary of the National Kraut Packers' Association has revealed, after intensive research, that the dish is really of Chinese origin.

Germany, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Russia, England and France have all claimed "credit" for discovering sauerkraut, but the association's investigation has refuted all their claims.

Sauerkraut has been traced to the period of Shi-Hwang-Ti, one of China's ancient heroes and an emperor of the Chim dynasty who built the great Chinese wall, according to Irons. It was indubitably known to earlier Chinese, but the association can't prove it.

The Chinese of old knew little of the chemistry of foods, but they knew sauerkraut prevented beriberi, so they ate it. They didn't even commit hari-kari when they pronounced it "hsien bai tsai," or sour vegetable.

And speaking of what we call sauergraut, the Danes call it suhrkaal; in Holland it is suurkood, and other designations are sourerout, sowercrawt and even chouroute.

DOG TRAINED TO GUARD BIG STILL

(International News Service)

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Dec. 18—Police have found a speakeasy in Lectsdale. That's not news, of course. But the news might develop any time if somebody wants a drink badly enough to bite a dog in order to get it.

The speakeasy, a raiding party found, was run by negroes. A dog was on a leash at the entrance and had been trained to sound the alarm at the approach of white people.

Girl's Offer To Wed For $10,000 Brings Many Queer Letters

By ROBERT L. WIPER
International News Service Special Correspondent.

CHARLEROI, Pa., Dec. 18.—Shy maidens with lonely hearts, too timorous to emulate Mary H. Clowes, 20, pretty New Eagle waitress, in her offer to marry for $10,000 are seeking to "cash in" on Mary's offer!

This week she received a score of letters from girls and women who asked that they be given all the letters of proposal which Mary has rejected. One West Virginia woman, in asking for the address of a suitor in Alexandria, Va., naively remarked she was partial to Virginia folks.

Business Proposition.

Another attempt to capitalize on the publicity surrounding the attractive waitress came from a resident of Indiana, Pa., who takes a business-like view of love affairs. He offered to obtain a husband for Mary provided she gave him ten per cent of the $10,000 at the conclusion of the deal.

Nearly 500 letters have reached the girl. But not all of them are proposals. Some congratulate her for "spunk", others contain well meant and kindly advice, many ask her to reconsider and let love come naturally regardless of the cash consideration, while others—well the others, she says, are downright mean."

Each day's mail brings an allotment of letters from jokesters and men seeking a laugh at her expense. One college fraternity man in Pittsburgh said he would accept her proposition, but only on the installment plan—$2 down and $2 a week. He insisted, too, that her pet dog with which she was recently photographed, also must be "thrown in".

Is In Earnest.

"I pay no attention to these letters," Miss Clowes said. "I'm in earnest about the proposition and I'll make a good wife for the man I marry."

There are other sidelights to the situation. A widow recently wrote the girl telling her of destitute circumstances and asking for the address of a Pittsburgh firm which had offered Miss Clowes a position. "I can get work for my daughter there, perhaps," the message said. Miss Clowes forwarded the address at once.

The last letter she received was in Spanish. She remarked:

"I can't read it but the man must be in earnest. It's three pages long and beautifully written."

Winter Nighties Look Like Real Evening Gowns

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Dec. 18—It's not a nightie but an evening gown! That's what every woman is saying about the almost naughty-looking nighties coming out for cold winter nights. They have bodices and skirts, sleeves n'everything.

This new nightie is by no means the shapeless slip donned several years ago and a very far cry from Grandmother's stiffened high-necked, long-sleeved muslins.

Clairgand is showing a decidedly dressy chemise de nuit in salman satin cut on the bias, with a swirling skirt and lace-incrusted bodice. Another in pale pink georgette has the skirt open at the side-front and a little lace-incrusted bolero. Either one would look very smart for the simple dinner at home.

Annek uses white georgette for a very chic nightie with little fitted bodice all shirred in one with the little puffed sleeves. A ribbon girdle passes through the lowest row of shirring and ties in the front row. The skirt is full and straight.

Bias cuts are used for new slips and panties eliminating all bulk about the waist and hips. A pair in pink crepe satin has a flat yoke and circular fullness at the bottom. The slips are finished with a band of Binche lace.

Very tailored and trim are little dance sets in firm satin that come with panties well-fitted about the hips and brassiere to match.

AUDACIOUS SHOPLIFTER

LONDON.—The height of "nerve" was revealed in police court here when Margaret McKenzie, 40, was on trial for shoplifting. After stealing fourteen articles from six departments of a large store "she had the audacity to ask for one of the company's bags in which to carry the stolen goods home," said the prosecution. She was arrested on the day before her wedding. A fine of $12 with $30 costs was imposed.

'Daddy' Browning Was Always Gentleman Is Testimony From Girl

Young Girl Seen With 'Daddy' Browning Is Witness At Divorce Proceedings

Were Only Interested In 'Diatetics' Girl Contends—Other Stories Untrue

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—"Daddy" Browning was a perfect gentleman whenever he rode in his limousine with the two Jenis sisters, one of them, Marion, the younger, declared as the Browning defense in his wife's divorce action began.

"Peaches" Browning has charged that her elderly husband indulged in improper conduct during long rides in the country with the two blonde girls who have attended the hearing and listened hautily to graphic accounts of what went on in the back seat.

It was all untrue, Miss Jenis said. She is the one Harry Connors, private detective, thought he saw on "Daddy's" lap.

In fact, it was not love at all that drew Miss Jenis and Browning together. It was a plain case of diatetics. When the girls met "Daddy" early in 1928 at a dance given by the Crescent Club, Marian was suffering from indigestion.

Browning is a raw food enthusiast and for a number of years has eaten raw vegetables and fruits and even oats himself, so he tried to convert the 20-year-old girl to his health doctrine.

"Diatetics was our chief topic of conversation," the girl said. "That was what interested me in him. He told me about certain foods to eat and loaned me four books on diatetics. It cured my indigestion."

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Battery B, Forty-Third Regiment, First Artillery of Pennsylvania, a Lawrence county organization, joined the Pennsylvania Reserves at Tenallytown, Pa., August 14, 1861. It was assigned to the First Brigade. It was in the thickest of the fight in many of the most important battles of the Civil War. Among these were the battles of Mechanicsville, Bull Run (Second Battle), South Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, The Wilderness, Spottsylvania Courthouse and Cold Harbor. Many of the men re-enlisted at the expiration of their first enlistment, while others returned home In all there were 334 men connected with Battery B during a period of four years. In the period of its activity, four years, its guns fired 11,200 rounds of ammunition. The battery was mustered out at Harrisburg June 9, 1865.

FIXTURES STOLEN FROM VACANT HOUSE

Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Carl Lockard were called to make an investigation of the depredations reported by a Mr. Cohen, owner of a property at 1117 Moravia street. The officers found on their investigation that toilet equipment and other hardware of the house had been removed entirely. An investigation is under way in an effort to locate and . rrest the thief.

Old-Fashioned Touch

Boy Runs Into Automobile In Crossing Street

Little Girl Is Slightly Injured Running Into An Automobile

Harrison Ippolito of Wampum was driving the car of Mrs. Carrie Coulter east on Long avenue Thursday in front of the Star Market, when a boy named Steve Bilensky, came out from between two parked cars and started to run across the street.

He was hit by the left front fender of the automobile and thrown to the ground. He claimed he was uninjured and refused the services of a physician.

W. T. Montgomery of R. D. No. 4 was enroute east on Long avenue near School street, when a little girl ran out on Long avenue into the side of the automobile. She was taken to a physician, where it was found that she had sustained a bump on the lip. She was taken home by her mother. Her name was not secured.

Howard E. Truby of 22½ North Mill street was enroute west on Neshannock avenue, when a car parked on the wrong side of the street pulled out and hit and damaged his car.

Lawrence W. Smith of 667 Superior street was enroute west on Washington street near Ray street, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license IN525 going in the same direction, tried to pass his machine and in doing so hit a mail box and knocked it off the post to which it was attached.

Police Investigate Theft Of Jewelry

At First Thought To Have Been Mislaid By The Owner

Police authorities are now conducting a thorough investigation of the disappearance of two rings and eleven dollars in cash from the apartment of W. J. Caldwell in the Hamilton Building, North Mill and North streets. It was at first believed that the articles taken, a gold ring with diamond setting valued at $150, a ladies ring of Old Gold also eleven dollars in cash, might have been mislaid and would turn up. They were first missed between 12 o'clock and 1 p. m. December 15.

As these articles have not been located by the owners, the authorities are convinced that their disappearance is due to the work of a thief and are now busy along that line.

Engineers To Hear About Air Products

"Air Products and Their Uses in Industry" will be the subject of a talk by Justin Toben, engineer for the Linde Air Products Company of Pittsburgh, before the Engineer's Society of New Castle in the Y. M. C. A. banquet room Monday evening.

The talk will be illustrated with motion pictures. Mr. Toben will be assisted by E. J. W. Eger and C. E. Redding, also of the Pittsburgh office.

New Rabbit Breed Produces Fur Like That Of A Beaver

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—A new breed of rabbit, with fur the color and texture of beaver, has been developed after twelve years of scientific expsriments.

Dr. C. F. Friend, rabbit fancier and organizer of the Rex Rabbit Breeders' federation, announced perfection of the breed today prior to the opening this week of the first display of the new offspring of the lepus cuniculus family.

The rabbit, scientifically attributed to a mutation or a biological changes in cells, reached its present development in this country after discovery 12 years ago in France.

Through application of the mendelian law, Dr. Friend reported successful experiments have also been carried out in the developments of rabbits bearing fur closely akin to ermine, seal and chinchilla.

Commercial use of the fur to replace beaver and seal, in addition to use of the meat as food, is one of the aims of the federation.

"This rabbit," Dr. Friend explained, "is the closet thing now to natural beaver fur. Its continued breeding, however, depends upon the successful development of a strong strain on which the federation is now working."

Dr. Friend said the first Rex rabbit was discovered 12 years ago in France by the Abbey Gillette, who found among the offspring of a neighbor's brood, a rabbit of distinctly different fur characteristic Giving it the name "Castorrex," the abbey conducted experiments of his own but the strain soon became weak and development in this country was started with the new Rex rabbit and the consequent result.

The ermine rabbit, Dr. Friend reported, was produced through a series of cross-breedings which resulted in perfect matchings of colors. A strong strain of these species is also being sought.

Chicagoans To See Letters Of Old Irish Heroes

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—Chicagoans of Irish extraction are rejoicing over the acquisition by the University of Chicago of a large collection of letters and documents by and about important figures in 19th century Irish history.

James "The O'Gorman" Mahon one of the leaders in Ireland's struggle for independence, was the writer or recipient of most of the letters.

His correspondents included such famous names as Charles Stewart Parnell, Daniel O'Connell' John Redmond, T. P. "Tay Pay" O'Connor Justin McCarthy and his wife, William E. Gladstone and his wife, Lord Palmerston, Lord Castlereagh, the Earl of Dunraven, Admiral Beresford, the Duke of Connaught, Pope Pius II, and Cardinal Manning.

Some of the Parnell letters were written from prison. Included also are a number of documents bearing on the Anglo-Prussian bank project.

According to Prof. T. P. Cross, authority of Irish history and literature at the university, Mahon was the last of the famous Irish daredevils and soldiers of fortune whose exploits and adventures took him to all parts of the world and whose deeds were the talk of at least three continents during the past century.

AT 78 AND 63 THEY REWED

(International News Service)

WEST PLAINS, Mo.—Divorced almost two score years ago, Mrs. Narcissis Gyles 78, and Elvis Pool 63, have re-wed. The remarriage was the bride's fourth matrimonial venture and the groom's second. The pair separated 32 years ago because Pool would not give up a theatrical career.

Culbertson-Lightner Have Increased Lead In Contract Battle

Ely Culbertson Chooses Theodore A. Lightner As His New Partner

Lenz And Jacoby Are Now Nearly 5,000 Points In Arrears In Bridge Battle

(The following description of last night's play in the bridge match between exponents of the approach-forcing and the "official" system of contract bidding was written expressly for International News Service by Mrs. Josephine Culbertson, originator with her husband, Ely Culbertson, of the approach-forcing system.)

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON
World's Greatest Woman Bridge Player
Copyright, 1931, By International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—I took a holiday from contract bridge by sitting at a table in the crowded press room and analysing the bidding and play of each hand as my husband and his new "favorite partner," Mr. Theodore A. Lightner, resumed the battle of one thousand one bridge hands with Mr. Sidney S. Lenz and Mr. Oswald Jacoby.

The role of the analyst differs slightly from that of the player in that you can look at the mistakes of all the players entirely dispassionately. Sometimes that is not so easy when you are sitting at the table.

The psychic suicide committed by Mr. Jacoby in which he took a non-vulnerable penalty of 1000 points was the outstanding feature of the evening's play. More spectacular as an example of the fault of a system was the defeat of the grand slam bid in hearts.

Comfortable Lead.

A comfortable lead of nearly 5000 points which we have established is a pleasant reserve against possible adversity in the days to come.

The most spectacular gain made thus far throughout the match was recorded on the second deal of Rubber No. 53 as a result of a so-called psychic overcall by Mr. Jacoby after Mr. Lightner had opened the bidding. Although the contract was only to take 7 tricks, Mr. Jacoby failed by 5 tricks and thus was penalized 1000 points, not vulnerable.

North, Mr. Lenz

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 Dia.
1 Heart	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

Interesting Hand.

The only tricks made by Mr. Jacoby were two trump tricks. Of course, Ely and Ted could have made a game, but the sacrifice of game was richly compensated. The defensive play on this hand was extremely interesting.

Another score for the approach-forcing system was made on the first deal of Rubber Number 51. The hand and bidding were:

Mr. Lenz
S—A K 7
H—A 7 4 2
D—K Q 10 8
C—5 3

Mr. Culbertson	Mr. Lightner
S—10 9 8 5 2	S—Q J 6

H—J 10 5 3
D—J 5 3 2
C—A J 4

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 Clubs	Pass	2 Clubs	Pass
Pass

My husband holding only 1-2 honor-trick but three playing tricks, followed the principle of this system by keeping the bidding open for his partner. Mr. Lenz with 4½ honor-tricks, passed and Mr. Lightner played the hand for a penalty loss of 100 points, a mere bagatelle when, as can be seen, the hands makes a game in hearts or no trump.

OLD CLAY TABLETS ARE GIVEN TO COLLEGE

(International News Service)

DALLAS, Texas Dec. 18—Ten clay tablets, written hundreds of years before the birth of Christ and recently placed on exhibition in the Evangelical Theological College here give unusual insight into religious and business customs of the times.

"One calf, one fat lamb, one fat ram, two sheep, two rams, one she goat, one lamb and one ewe lamb, all dressed for the market and delivered on the fourth day of the month," is the inscription on one tablet that evidently belonged to a butcher near Drehem.

The other nine tablets give records of animals used in the temple sacrifices. One portrays a precaution against forgery, as the temple scribe rolled the entire tablet with the temple seal before the clay had hardened.

Two of the tablets are believed to have been written before the time of Abraham.

The signers and their families of the Declaration of Independence were proscribed as traitors by the British government, and rewards of 500 pounds were offered for their apprehension.

Adventure Galore

Given up for lost when he failed to return from a fishing trip in the Gulf of Mexico, Ralph "Jerry" Selz, aviation cadet at Randolph Field, Texas, turned up three months later after a most remarkable series of adventures. Picked up by a rum-runner after his boat had been swept into the Gulf by the tide he was transferred to a Swedish ship, which took him to the obscure port of Tres Ninos, Honduras. From there he hiked through Honduras, Guatemala and Salvador until he reached La Union, where Capt. Calcutt of the motorship City of San Francisco gave him transportation back to San Francisco.

East Brook High Senior Class Play Is Well Attended

Senior Class Presents "The Hoodoo" In Splendid Manner

"The Hoodoo" the play presented by the senior class of East Brook high school, Wednesday evening, was very well attended. A matinee was presented in the afternoon to over one hundred pupils of Hickory Heights and East Brook schools. An appreciative audience of nearly four hundred witnessed the play in the evening.

Between acts interesting numbers were rendered by Wilford Paul and Lowell Anderson on their Hawaiian guitars. Special dancing by Miss Jean Barisch, accompanied by her partner, Frank Taylor, added to the enjoyment of splendid production.

All the parts were well delivered due to the expert guidance of Miss Glasgow. The synopsis of the play was as follows:

Act —The lawn at Mrs. Perrington-Shine's home. An Egyptian wedding present. Trouble for the the groom.

Act 3—The library. Trouble for the burglar. Eloped at midnight.

CHOIR WILL SING

Wife and the "Other Woman"

HORSE-CAB GOES IN PARIS; WOMEN ARE GOOD PILOTS

(International News Service)

PARIS, Dec. 18—American visitors to Paris next summer will probably look in vain for an old-fashioned horse-cab to drive around the boulevards or through the Bois de Boulogne on a fine day. The final disappearance of the new fiacres that survive may be expected now that the Colonial Exposition has been closed. Last year there were only eight cabs left, but the exhibition was welcomed by the old coachmen as a kind of Indian summer.

To please the old-fashioned visitors and country cousins, some of the old carriages were patched up and brought out. At the present time, there are 215 fiacres plying for fares in the capital. But by next summer, it is predicted that there will be no more than one or two, and after that, the taxi-cabs will have it all their own way. And thus, another bit of old Paris will disappear forever.

NEWSPAPER BERATES SPOILS SYSTEM, 1841

(International News Service)

DUBUQUE, Ia., Dec. 18—The matter of nepotism one of the charges which has been made against United States Senator Smith W. Brookhart, by his Republican opponent, Louis Cook, is not a new thing in Iowa.

Recently a newspaper, yellowed with age but still untattered, which was printed here on May 28, 1841, was brought to a local newspaper office. On the front page is a lengthy tirade on the spoils system.

Tyler had been inaugurated. His successor has held office only a short time and according to the editor the entire system of federal employes had been changed with lightning rapidity.

The White House site was selected by President Washington and Major Pierre Charles l'Enfant when they laid out Washington in 1791.

ONE of the queerest things about the world in general is that one-half of its inhabitants say such and such a thing can't be done under any circumstances, and the other half of the world disproves the statement by doing it.

Take the matter of living on a certain income, for instance. If one were to write to the women who run the "answers to the love-lorn" columns in the daily newspapers asking if a couple can live on $30 a week, the answers in all cases would be "No," and yet there are thousands in this wide country of ours, who are living on this amount each week, not because they want to prove it can be done, but simply because they have to.

High wages are not paid in every industry. There are many branches of trade that give men only $25 or $30 a week, and, as many of these men are married, they must live on it. Of course, people say it is awful for a married couple to have to exist on such a small amount, especially in this time when butter and eggs soar to unheard-of prices and a porterhouse steak costs almost as much as a young calf cost not so long ago. And maybe it is awful, but the fact still remains they are doing it.

Many people are under the impression that married men are given the upper hand in business. As soon as the marriage knot is tied, some men expect a good fat raise from the high-and-mighty boss, and they don't get it. What's to be done? Quit and get another job, or stay and try to live on $30 a week?

Marriage Brings Caution.

When a man marries he immediately senses his responsibility, and instead of quitting and taking a chance on another job he stays at his old position, with the ultimate result that as cares and costs multiply he never will take a chance. His one big opportunity, as a rule, is gone. As the years roll by his family increases, the weight of his responsibility increases accordingly and the thoughts of some day quitting the job for something bigger and better decreases. But withal he still gets along on $30 per.

Another married couple questioned as to how they got along on $30 a week had a budget system more or less perfected, and they knew almost to the penny where the money went as it was earned. It kept a family of three.

The husband was a soldier and served on the other side. When he came back from the war he went for his job and, like many thousands of service men, found that while salaries had soared in other businesses it seemed that theirs stayed stationary. But let his wife tell the story.

"Jim and I were engaged just when the war broke out, and, feeling the call, he enlisted. It was agreed that as soon as the war was over we would be married and that is exactly what happened. He received his discharge from the service in the early part of 1919, a few months after the armistice was signed. It was not long before the wedding bells were ringing for us. Jim had saved a little money from his small pay in the army, and I, too, had saved from my salary as a stenographer. Jim was making only $5 a week more than I when we married.

"This gave us something to start on. We had enough money to buy furniture. Therefore, when we went into our home everything was owned by us. We were spared the ignominy of having collectors call, as I am sure we would never have been able to pay for anything if we had bought it on the installment plan.

More Failures Than Successes.

"And for those who contemplate marriage on this salary I would advocate much thinking on both sides, as the old saying, 'When Poverty comes in the door Love flies out the window' is pretty near true. I am not basing my conviction on my case, as I think we are really getting along, but from cases of those around us. There are more failures than successes in trying to live on a $1500-a-year salary.

"Theory has it that a family should not pay any more for rent per month than the amount the head of the house earns in one week, but this is an impossibility or at most an improbability in these days of high rents and little houses.

"The table is one of the biggest problems I have to contend with. the changing prices of foodstuffs are worse than the stock market. One day meat is one price and the next day it is either more or less costly. I have found that buying in chain stores is better for a family of low income. The prices, even though they change, are more staple than in the neighborhood delicatessen shop, and they are not nearly so high. I've seen delicatessen stores charge as much as 50 per cent more for an article than the chain store. One can readily account for the phenomenal success of chain systems. The groceries we buy are not of the fancy type. We leave those for the people with fancy incomes. But what we buy is good.

"The clothing problem is not as hard for us as it would be for many people. Much of my little girl's clothing is made by me, as is also much of my own clothing. The young girl of today is passing up a wonderful opportunity to get married because of the clothing expense. I've found that I could make dresses for around the house at night at a cost of about $1, while the same dress would cost several times as much in the stores. It is the same with other wearing apparel. I even have some nice silk underwear, but only because I could make these dainties, which would cost about three times as much if bought in some shop and not likely to wear as well as my home-made kind.

"I've even gone so far as to make my husband's shirts, but I find on an average it is poor economy. By the time one buys material of a good quality, a neckband and buttons and thread the cost is just about the same and sometimes more than one pays for a fair quality shirt in any men's store.

"My husband usually buys his necessities at sales. Every clothing store runs a sale at least once a year, where things are sold at a reduction, and he takes advantage of these sales. It is the same with his suits and overcoats. By buying these latter articles at sales the savings are much and permit him to have a little better quality than he could have if bought otherwise. Of course he doesn't have to buy an overcoat every year—in fact, he couldn't—and he gets on an average of three suits every two years, costing about $30 each. He gets two pairs of shoes, at $6 per pair, while his collars, shirts, socks, underwear and other incidentals bring the total up to about $90. The remaining $110 of our clothing budget goes to buy clothing for my little girl and myself.

"We have to spend about $40 a year for light and gas, as all our cooking is done on a gas range. Twenty dollars for insurance promises either of us a decent burial, and that is all.

"For vacation $70 is allowed. My husband gets two weeks' vacation with full pay each year. One week is spent at home, while the other sees us at some resort. We really have more than $70, for there is no expense that week for the table in our own home. It is sufficient for a week at a low-priced boarding house, and permits us some pleasure—but, believe me, no riotous living. A person living on $30 a week can only see a cabaret from the outside.

"A dollar a week spending money seems an awfully small amount for a man, but that is the best we can do. We married for better or worse, and it is just as much his bargain as mine. But, it seems adequate under the circumstances. We have allowed this amount exclusive of what we spend on pleasure. I dare say most of his spending money is spent on tobacco.

This woman like others questioned as to living on $1500 a year, declares it is a risky undertaking, and as foolhardy almost as betting on the race horses. There's a great element of chance that it may not pan out, and when it doesn't two lives are virtually ruined. If there are any children, which is the rule more than the exception, then the harm is greater. But it proves that a family does live on $30 per, even though half of the world says it can't be done.

Remember that these facts and figures are all only measuring lines for the budgets of your incomes. Each case is an individual one and will have to be practically demonstrated to your own satisfaction. Also you must cultivate a proper sense of values; know what is most important to fundamental hapiness and go after it, buying the cloth of life before spending your earned money for its fringes and trimmings.

Being thrifty isn't being stingy. It doesn't mean endlessly going without; but it means getting the most for your money. Try budgeting (no matter how your friends laugh), which means only wise and deliberate expenditures, sailing up the financial stream with a sure hand on the helm, instead of just drifting down it, sometimes toward the rapids, with the sharp rocks waiting below.

One of the most showy of burials in Westminster Abbey was that of David Garrick. It cost $7,500. There were 33 mourning coaches alone and each was drawn by six horses.

Must the Indian Reform?

SHALL the Indians be permitted to dance as they have always danced, or should their ceremonies be toned down into conformity with the usages of a civilized society? The Indian Bureau, the Indian Rights Association, the Catholic Bureau of Indian Missions, are as one in the fight against the immoral practices of the secret dances. The only people who are not against it are they who have been fooled into thinking that the Indian dances are a kind of pagan Virginia reel.

An Indian living with his people has no way of escaping these ceremonies. He must either participate in them or be run off the reservation and have all his property confiscated—this is the law of the chief who is elected by popular election, although the control of things falls into the hands of a clique. About six men hold the governship and no one else ever gets in.

There are certain minor abuses in the realm of the dance which the Indian Bureau would like to abolish. For instance, they would like to forbid the "potlach" of the Indians of the northwest. During this ceremony the redmen will give away anything, with the result that when the ceremony is over they and their families are utterly destitute. The reformers are also interested in restraining the use of peyote in the Indian ceremonies. Peyote is obtained from a kind of cactus and is a narcotic not unlike morphine or opium.

Most of the objection to this reformation is made by painters and writers and students of aboriginal customs who would like to have the redmen remain just as they are now and forever more. They do not take into consideration one of the prime biological laws—that no living thing can stand still and survive. The Indians must adapt themselves to twentieth century customs or die.

The ceremonious dance of the Yumas, the sacred dance which is divided into two parts—the first part, only, is the tourist allowed to visualize.

We know not what lies in us till we seek;
Men dive for pearls—they are not found on shore.
The hillsides most unpromising and bleak
Do sometimes hide the ore.

Chinese Criminal Must Pay In Pain

May Be Beaten Or Tortured, But Justice Never Tries Moral Suasion

Bandits Usually Beheaded In Public Places Without Any Of Law's Delays

Because of the Buddhistic conception of life and the general inclination of the Oriental mind toward deductive reasoning, the Chinese criminal code is diametrically opposite to the European, in that the Chinese do not seek to influence the culprit's morals, but consider only the physical side of the punishment.

Chinese look upon the human being as sensitive only to pain or death, therefore they do not touch the mentality of the subject in any of their punishments. The worse the crime, the more heavily the criminal pays in physical pain.

Any crime less than murder is punished by blows of a bamboo stick, the difference being shown by the number of blows, thickness of the stick, and the end which is used. The less serious crimes like counterfeiting, thievery, or disorderly conduct, are punished by jail, the wooden stocks, or the cage.

Murders are either executed in some modern manner as hanging or shooting or the old method of strangling with silken cords twisted. Korniloff, the notorious leader of a gang that terrorized the North China district in the vicinity of Harbin, was executed in this manner in 1927.

Bandits Beheaded

The Hounhouzes, or brigands, are usually beheaded in a public place, or shot, after which the heads are displayed in latticed crates hung on telegraph poles. Another punishment inflicted on the Hounhouzes is strangling in a device similar to the stock, but made of iron in which there are large screws for tightening the yoke about the neck or with a cord knotted and twisted by a stick inserted in loops.

No Chinese ever attempts to cheat the penalty of death after once he is sentenced. This may be explained by his belief in future incarnations and by the difficult conditions under which he lives. Death is to him often liberation from the tortures of life.

Prisoners under death penalty are often driven in gangs to execution by only one policeman and their arms are bound only by a frail rope which could easily be broken. Chinese policemen frequently are boys of not more than 17 years. But escape is never attempted. On a death sentence in China torture can be bro[ught] off by money and the prison[er] then killed quickly and mercifu[lly].

Accusers Careful

One oddity of ancient Chinese law which has been handed down to modern times is that the accuser must remain with the prisoner until he is convicted, and should the accusations be proven false, the accuser must pay the penalty imposed for that crime.

Chinese judges follow the code of the American Indian fighter, that is, "Shoot first, and question later." The Sui case is an example. This man was a high official in the Chinese Government at the time of the construction of the Chinese Eastern Railway and was executed for a trifling offense.

In 1927 the Chinese, as an apology for this mistake, erected a monument in his honor in Harbin. Also, a street in that city was named for him.

Square Dinner Plate Favorite; Why? Mystery

Manufacturers Find There Is A Growing Popularity For Them

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 18—Why does a meal served on a square dinner plate look better—or taste better—than one served from a round plate? Or does it?

Members of the Pottery Manufacturers of America are still uncertain of the answers. But even science hasn't answered them, they pointed out.

For twelve months the ceramic art department of Ohio State University carried on a survey, financed by the general education committee of the Rockefeller Foundation, to determine the reason for growing popularity of square plates. So the manufacturers were informed at their annual convention here.

And at the end of the year, the survey revealed just what the manufacturers knew—square plates are more popular than round ones. But it didn't determine why.

"For nearly a year" Arthur E. Boggs, director of the department, told the convention "we have been studying tableware designs and while we know there is a distinct trend toward the square dinner plate we haven't reached any conclusion as to why this is so.

"It may be that square ones are easier to wash. I haven't enough experience to say. It may be that while the roast beef of our fathers clicked psychologically with round plates the light foods of today are more suited to a square one.

"Housewives evidently believe a square meal should be served on a square plate. And what housewives think runs the pottery business. Anyway, plates on the square are going strong."

They are also going "modernistic," Bogg disclosed under the influence of the modernist movement in all arts and crafts. "Plates" said Boggs, "are just following suit."

A Christian nation is one in which cold and homeless people suffer while nice warm churches are unused.

Little Red School House Still Stands

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18.—If R. A. "Dad" Maynard, instructor of journalism in Manual Arts high school for the last 17 years, ever returns to his boyhood home of 60 years ago in Macon, Mich., he'll see children still attending the little brick school house where he learned his "three R's", he revealed here.

The school house has been restored by Henry Ford and put back into use as an experiment to determine whether the "little red school" was as good an educational factor as the modern school plant, according to Maynard.

The school was abandoned in 1868.

Since restoration of the old school—and it was considered old when Maynard went there 60 years ago—he has exchanged several letters with Ford, and his picture, both as a boy and as he is now, adorn the school walls.

The school opening was September 21, Maynard's birthday.

TEN-TON STEAM ROLLER PUTS FINISHING TOUCH TO STREETS

Curious Watch State Men Ameisite Business Thoroughfare—Grant, Croton Next

If you were one of the hundreds who stood by to watch the mammoth 10-ton steam roller which is now familiar downtown, you will be interested to know that it is being operated by the State Highway Department of Highways, the local branch of which is now engaged in leveling with ameisite East Washington street from the diamond to Cascade Park.

Motorists will appreciate the ability of the particular roller when they learn that the department was responsible in eliminating the bumps along Wilmington avenue recently. The work carried on by the state is the fulfillment of a recent law whereby the states takes over maintainance of city streets which happen to be on state highway routes.

New Castle has nearly 10 miles of streets that are on state routes, Superintendent Lightner said today. He added that ameisiting will be continued on Croton avenue, Grant street and a section of Butler avenue.

NO CHRISTMAS BONUS

(International News Service)

BERLIN.—This will be a poor Christmas for the majority of white collar men, office and shop girls. More than eighty per cent of the big German firms will not be in a position to grant Christmas bonuses to their employees, which in previous years used to amount to an extra month's salary in most cases and to a weekly salary at least. Most of the firms, especially department stores will probably grant their clerk's a small gratification in proportion to their sales, but such a regulation only applies to shop men and girls.

NEWS REEL USED IN COURT

(International News Service)

BERLIN—A movie was used as evidence in a court action against the communist Hans Heidrich, accused of slapping the face of a police chief during riots on May 1, 1929. Heidrich, who was sentenced to several months in prison, appealed to a higher court, which had the news reel of the riots thrown on a screen in the courtroom. The photographers testified that the scenes shown in the movie were actually photographed in the street at that date. Counsel for Heidrich asserted that the unwarranted brutality of the police justified an attack on the police chief.

Philadelphia Will Pay 25,000 Workers

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 18.—The spirit of Christmas is abroad in the land after all, 25,000 municipal employes here decided today as they were notified their December 15 pay will be issued in currency starting tomorrow. Up until late last night, it appeared as if the city workers would be paid in scrip and left to their own devices as to cashing it.

After long deliberation, however, E. R. Cox, president of city council, came to the rescue with a plan for filling the treasury by juggling other funds, so tomorrow there will be two million dollars available to meet the overdue payroll.

Cox's plan calls for immediate payment of two million dollars from tax funds to the sinking fund, which will in turn loan the money to the city to meet the payroll due three days ago. Council will approve the plan at its session this afternoon.

Leaders, however, still faced the problem of meeting the payroll due December 31—and so far they haven't worked out a plan to take care of it.

Gunnery Of U. S. Coast Artillery Hit By Economy

Costs Money To Make Ammunition And Less Is Used

By HOBART C. MONTEE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18. — The drastic economies made mandatory upon the United States Army, especially in the matter of ammunition, has made it difficult for the Coast Artillery to maintain its former high standards of gunnery, it was revealed today.

In his annual report of coast artillery activities for the past year, made public today, Major General John W. Gulick, chief of this branch of the service, said their had been progressive improvement in organization, training, equipment and general efficiency of all Coast Artillery organizations, but he regretted the stringency of ammunition supplies.

"Inability to hold preliminary firings has been keenly felt by many organizations," his report stated. "However, the results of sea-coast target practice during the past fiscal year were generally satisfactory. Due to reductions in target practice allowances, it was possible to hold only one battle practice during the year. This was held at Fort Story, Va., where troops of the Harbor Defenses of Chesapeake Bay and student officers attending the Coast Artillery school participated. Battle practices provide valuable training under approximate war conditions and should be continued.

"Although no experimental long range firings were conducted during the past year, investigation of methods of fire control extreme ranges has continued. Based on the results of aerial position finding tests held at San Francisco, and long range firings by the 16-inch guns in Panama, detailed instructions have been prepared for 16-inch firings which it is planned to conduct in Hawaii in the fiscal year of 1932."

The report revealed that 17 per cent of all battery officers commissioned in the Coast Artillery Corps are on foreign service, due the policy of maintaining foreign garrisons at authorized strength. But this and the policy of assigning Coast Artillery officers to duty outside the Coast Artillery branch have resulted in the Coast Artillery regiments in the United States being maintained at considerably less than their authorized commissioned strength.

General Gulick said that during the period covered by the report he had personallly inspected all Coast Artillery activities in the United States, the Panama Canal, Hawaiian and Philippine Departments. All, he said, were found to be in excellent condition.

Major attention was given during the year, the report said, to the development of anti-aircraft defenses. Joint anti-aircraft and air corps exercises were conducted in Hawaii, in the vicinity of Fort MacArthur, Cal., and in the Philippine Islands. "On account of limited funds and personnel, these exercises were of value for combined training rather than for further test of the purpose and organization of the proposed intelligence unit for which a more elaborate layout, such as that employed in the May, 1930, exercise at Aberdeen Proving Ground, is required. However, the exercises enabled effective training in the operation of lookout systems and the utilization of various means of communication, including commercial wire lines," the report stated.

PARISIANS SLOW TO GIVE UP THEIR 2-HOUR LUNCHES

(International News Service)

PARIS, Dec. 18.—Paris is gradually going American. Freshest signs of it come by way of the abolition of the time-honored two-hour lunch period which has always been a sacred institution for every Frenchman. The fact that time may mean money even in this gay town may bring about a gastronomic revolution which would be nothing short of miraculous.

Anyone who has spent any time in France will find it reasonably hard to believe that the normal, natural Frenchman has any serious idea of ceasing to take his midday meal slowly and seriously. However attractive, however wholesome the snack quick lunches of Paris, they will probably cause no serious injury to the noble art of eating.

With some of the famous restaurants going out of business, one after another quick-lunch counters and automatic bars are making their appearance. Small hot and cold dishes, sandwiches, cakes and the usual drinks may be obtained at any hour and there is no cover charge.

TO AID CHINA IN STUDY OF SOIL

(International News Service)

BERKELEY, Cal., Dec. 18.—Although the soils of China have been farmed for more than 3,000 years, they still offer much for geologists to study, and Charles F. Shaw, professor of soil technology at the University of California, for this reason, is preparing to assist in the supervision of a new geological survey of China's farming soils.

As the result of Prof. Shaw's preliminary soil reconnaissance of a portion of China a year ago, a new soil survey department has been established by China.

"The soils of China," said Prof. Shaw, "have been farmed for more than 3,000 years under conditions of organized government and more or less stable land tenure. Yet in spite of the long use and vital position of the soil in Chinese life, soil studies in China have been exceedingly limited."

While in China Prof. Shaw will study regions recently visited by devasting floods, including the valley of the Yangtze river and the section through which the Hwai river and its tributaries flow.

TO FILM REELING DRIVERS AS EVIDENCE

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 18—Reeling motorists will get in the movies, the kind that will bring jail sentences instead of fat contracts, if Captain Frank Ervin, head of the police traffic bureau, is able to work out his plans.

The Captain's anger was aroused over the number of persons who, through lack of evidence and appeals, escape jail after being arrested for driving while intoxicated. He has purchased a moving picture camera at his own expense and plans to photograph all such motorists, and in the event of an accident, film the wrecked machine

The films, Ervin plans, will be offered as evidence at trials where the defendant denies charges of intoxication. Ervin believes the films would have more weight with a jury than testimony of police officers or physicians and that pictures of wrecks would graphically depict the possibilities of death and injury in liquor accidents.

"Motion pictures have been admitted as evidence before and I feel the plan would result in many more convictions," Captain Ervin pointed out.

Parrot Uses Talk Of 100 Years Ago

Bird Repeats Words It Heard Spoke By Owner's Great-Grandmother

Horse Eats Pastry To Score Revenge For Master On Another Driver

A parrot which still repeats snatches of conversation which she used to hear between men and women who lived a hundred years ago, is reported to Animal News Club by Douglas S. Malcoln, of 26 East Tenth street, says the New York Evening Post.

Mr. Malcolm writes: "My people were Dutch Tories, who at the Revolution moved from Pennsylvania to Canada. My great-grandmother took a parrot with her. Polly has outlived four generations and is almost through the fifth.

"She has always been an exceedingly clever imitator, getting not only the character phrases of the person, but the very inflections and intonations of the voice. And so, as she has come down through the years she has brought along with her a most uncanny and accurate record of the different members of each generation of the family.

"As a child I remember hearing her repeat my grandmother's caustic remarks," writes Mr. Malcolmn. "'For Mercy's sake, Tommy, wipe your feet!' or 'Drat you, Tommy! Hang up your overalls!' Tommy was my grandmother's brother. She also had two sisters, Julia and Lillith, who, according to the custom of that time in the best circles of Canadian society, smoked pipes. I remember hearing Polly say 'Julia! Julia! Where's my pipe?" Or, 'Lily, bring out the baccy!'

Losing Memory Now.

"Polly has forgetten all she learned in the generations between my great grandmother and the present time. She even pays no attention to the people about her. She is living wholly in her childhood. She is saying over what my great-grandmother's family said.

"My great-grandmother's name was Susan. She had a blind sister named Katie. My mother could not bear to listen to Polly because of the way she brought these dead people to life. It was too weird. She'd say in my great-grandmother's voice 'Katie! Katie! Mind your step. You'll fall and break your neck!'

"And then she'd bring Katie to life with the answer, 'Mind your business, Susan! I ain't done it yet?'

Tale Of A Horse.

"Fred Rendulic's little story about how he feeds cakes to a favorite horse reminds me of a most amusing incident I once witnessed," writes Boine Grainger, of Patchin place.

"I was walking up Sixth avenue one morning. Near Fourteenth street my attention was caught by two horse-drawn delivery wagons. The wagon in front was a baker's wagon, the one behind it a laundry wagon. The respective drivers had gotten into some kind of a mix up and were quarrelling noisily. As the carts drew up in front of a restaurant and stopped, both drivers jumped down. The driver of the baker's wagon opened the rear doors of his cart, took out a huge tray of charlottee russes and went into the restaurant. The laundry driver followed him, both still expressing their wrath loudly.

"The laundry horse investigated the rear of the baker's wagon in front of his nose. He found the doors wide open and he saw with evident pleasure that the cart was filled with the charlotte russes. Without delay he waded into the feast. His forelock, mane, eyelashes and nose got plastered with cream. The flaky filling clung to his whiskers and drizzled onto the sidewalk, and he munched on.

LOTTERY BUSINESS GOING ON ROCKS

The lottery business one of the most flourishing in Germany in the last years, is now on the verge of demoralization. People are complaining that the $6 asked for an eighth of a ticket is too great an expense for the average German. Their faith in the possibility of winning is also disappearing. "The only one who really wins on every lottery ticket, is the Reich, which collects a 6 per cent tax." It is estimated that the total lottery profits of the Reich this year will be ten million marks, a decrease of 66 per cent against receipts of 16 million marks last year.

HOW TOWN WAS NAMED

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa.—Place names in Pennsylvania usually have a clearly-perceived origin but the town of Benezette got its name from a unique source, according to Charles E. Baer, district state forester. According to Baer, a youth named Bennie is responsible for the name of the town. In pioneer days of the settlement, wild animals roamed the region. Bennie was seized by a bear, dragged from his home and vanished in the woods. His father followed the bear tracks and returned with the staggering news: "Bennie's et."

Four Hundred Present At Christmas Festival

All Departments Take Place In Y. W. C. A. Festival Last Evening

Four hundred people filled the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. on Thursday evening and witnessed a colorful and bright Christmas festival, the equal of which has not been given there in years.

There were songs and dances, pantomimes and dialogues by boys and girls and women of the following organizations: Union high, Sciota street, Elm street, Benjamin Franklin, George Washington, senior high school Girl Reserve clubs; dormitory girls, cafeteria staff, Eva Bowles club, Italian Girls, Square Circle and Merry Circle of the International Institute. Members of the board of directors and Blue Triangle club also took part. In all, there were almost 200 people in the program.

Each of the numbers were presented in a gay festive manner and the crowd of spectators enjoyed every minute of the evening. The program came to close at 9 o'clock and as the audience left the building they were given apples by several members of the Blue Triangle club of business girls.

Aside from furnishing a pleasant evening and an opportunity for all groups of New Castle's "Y" to get together, last night's event illustrated the splendid spirit and sisterly feeling which is always so manifest in the daily programs of the association.

Servants enter hall and light candles, children decorate the windows, mantel and doorways with mistletoe, ivy and laurel to bring good fortune and holly to keep the witches away.

"Deck the Hall"—By Ben Franklin Girl Reserve Glee club.

A Christmas Parable—Mrs. Katherine Dandridge, of Eva Bowles club.

Waits Carol—George Washington Girl Reserves.

Dialogue—Elm Street Girl Reserves, Otha Simmons, Emma Taylor and Anna Simmons.

Country Dance—Senior High School Girl Reserves.

Country Games—Scioto G. R. clubs.

The success of the festival was largely due to the efforts of Miss Julia Gordan in assembling the groups, Miss Espedita Abruzzini of the Italian department of the International Institute, Miss Josephine Sroczynska, of the Polish department, Miss Marian Wilson of the Girl Reserves and Miss Rosa Brown of the Elm Street Y. W. C. A.

WILL GET HEARING ON DISORDERLY CONDUCT CHARGE

Hugh Spencer was causing considerable trouble and acting in a disorderly manner about 2:10 a. m., today at the home of L. K. Genkinger on Butler avenue. The police were called and Spencer was arrested. He will be given a hearing this afternoon at 4 o'clock before Mayor W. H. Gillespie.

Mary Clowes Is Given $10,000, And No Strings

Wilkinsburg Man Offers Mary Clowes Money To Support Her Parents

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Dec. 18.—Mary Clowes, 21, pretty New Eagle waitress who offered herself as an "auction bride" to any man willing to give her $10,000 and provide for her aged parents, got a Christmas present today.

It was a check for $10,000 from a Wilkinsburg man who said he had no matrimonial intentions but had sent the money to aid her parents.

Miss Clowes, mindful of a suitor in Buffalo who earlier in the week sent her a check for the same amount, and which returned from a Buffalo bank marked "no account," deposited the check she got today and sat back to await developments.

Seek Sister Of Scranton Man In New Castle

Was Suffocated In Fire Occuring In That City Yesterday

Police authorities here received a message today from S. J. Rodway, superintendent of police in Scranton, Pa., to the effec that in a fire at 316 Cedar avenue, that city yesterday, Arthur Sellno, aged 65, met death by suffocation.

He has no relatives in that city, but it has been learned by the Scranton authorities that he has a sister, Mrs. Emma White, in this city. The police here are making every effort to locate the sister and would appreciate any information that might lead to her being located. Any information should be given to the police here at once.

Officers Inspect Troop F Tonight

Major Wolfe And Captain Shelton To Arrive This Afternoon To View Outfit

The last quarterly inspection this year will be held at the Neshannock avenue armory of Troop F beginning at 8 o'clock this evening and will be viewed by Maj. Samuel B. Wolfe, commander of the second squadron, 103rd Cavalry, Pennsylvania National Guard, and Capt. James M. Shelton, U. S. Cavalry instructor for the 103rd regiment.

The local outfit is prepared for the inspection and the guardsmen anticipate a hard drill. They will wear dress uniforms for the occasion. Capt. Harvey G. Bintrim, commander of the troop, Lieut. George F. Mitchell and Sergt. George Seyffert, top sergeant, will direct the drill tonight. The public is invited to watch the inspection.

McKEE RETURNS TO WALTER REED

Dorsey McKee, local World War Veteran, returned to the Walter Reed hospital in Washington last evening, and will undergo a series of operation starting next week, to improve his health.

Mr. McKee was gassed during the war, the effect of which has impaired his health and during the past few months the condition has become greatly aggravated.

A Battle to the Debt

It looks as if Representative Collier of Mississippi, Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, believes in doing his fighting at close range. He is shown getting perilously near to a clinch as he leans over to question Secretary of State Stimson during the stormy battle raging over Congressional ratification of the debt moratorium. The tenseness of the situation has been further aggravated by the sensational attack on the President by Representative McFadden of Pennsylvania, whose remarks led even to mention of impeachment.

John Abel Heads Credit Bureau

Local Business Man Re-elected President Of Credit Exchange

Re-organization of the board of directors of the New Castle Credit Exchange was effected at a meeting held in the offices of the Credit Exchange Thursday afternoon, all the old officers being re-elected to serve for the coming year.

They are:

President—John Abel.

First vice president—Walter Dietterle.

Second vice president—A. C. McCoy.

Treasurer—J. C. Miner.

Election of new directors was made at the annual meeting of the Credit Exchange held during November, but the election of new officers did not take place until yesterday's meeting, the start of the fiscal year.

The directors recommended the president and secretary on the fine showing made during the past year, the financial statement showing the organization to be in an unusually strong position.

Engineers Will Meet Monday

Monday evening, December 21, the Engineers' Society of New Castle will hold its regular meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Justin Toben, engineer for the Linde Air Products Company of Pittsburgh will speak on "Air Products and Their Uses in Industry" with slides illustrating his address. He will be assisted by E. J. W. Egger and C. E. Redding, also of the Pittsburgh office.

FILES BANKRUPTCY

PITTSBURGH,. Dec. 18.—S. J. Workley, of Wurtemburg, Lawrence county, today filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in federal court. Liabilities were listed at $17,929.15 with assets of $16,707.89.

As Pop Neptune Went Berserk

Here's a perfect illustration for the old doggerel "Heaven help the sailors on a night like this." Even the most titanic of our ocean liners shiver in every rivet when old Father Neptune flies into a rage and boils over in the manner above pictured. Photo was made on the crossing of the S. S. Europa and explains why the liner was 36 hrs late in docking at New York. Decks had to be roped off to prevent travelers being washed overboard.

"Bat Girl" in Court Debut

Healthy and happy and apparently oblivious of the keen interest aroused throughout the nation by the story of her alleged mistreatment, little Edith Riley, of Washington, D. C., is shown leaving the court at the Capital, where her father and stepmother are on trial charged with cruelty to her. The child's brother, Francis, testified that their stepmother had poured scalding water on Edith and that his little sister was kept in a closet for four years, being beaten more often than she was fed. Attendants from Gallinger Hospital, where she is being cared for, are with Edith.

State Congressmen "Disown" McFadden

By ARTHUR C. WINER
Special Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 18.—Representative J. Howard Swick has absolutely no sympathy with Representative Louis T. McFadden of Canton, representing the fifteenth Pennsylvania district, in his efforts to bring about rejection of President Hoover's debt moratorium.

Along with the other members of the Pennsylvania delegation, Mr. Swick has "disowned" McFadden and denounced McFadden's speech in the House in which he accused the President of being a German agent and selling this country to Germany and the international bankers. Congressman Swick feels the moratorium should be ratified and will vote for its ratification.

Astonishes Capital

Mr. McFadden, who was long chairman of the Important Banking and Currency Committee, astonished the Capital into disbelief and resentment with his attack against Hoover. Without losing any time the Pennsylvania Republicans promptly cleared themselves of any association with McFadden in the attack by meeting and voting full confidence in the President. McFadden, it is believed within the delegation, has damaged himself personally within the Keystone State by his ill-advised remarks.

The exact nature of the Pennsylvania Congressman's charges were clearly revealed when Representative Beedy, Republican of Maine got attention in the House chamber, coolly branded the whole McFadden speech as a contemptuous lie, and demanded that McFadden get to his feet and defend himself. McFadden merely sat in silence, unable to prove in any way his allegations levelled against the White House.

Beedy further discountenanced McFadden when he said he would not go into personalities but that if he wished he could cite facts which would reveal why the Pennsylvanian was fighting Mr. Hoover. He declared McFadden had come under a "pernicious" influence, and once more McFadden sat in silence.

It is seldom that the House hears such charges bandied about as Beedy hurled at McFadden and McFadden's failure to defend himself led many to feel that he would have a difficult time in retaining his prestige in the Keystone State.

AUTOS IN COLLISION THURSDAY EVENING

J. A. McNeal, 411 South State St. Marion, O., was enroute west on Grant street at North Jefferson St. last night and was crossing Jefferson street when the car of Lee Clark of Sheridan avenue, enroute south on Jefferson street, hit and damaged his machine to some extent. Mr. McNeal followed the Clark car to its home destination and when Mr. Clark refused to be responsible for the damage, according to the police, McNeal went to Alderman W. E. Marshall and preferred charges against Clark.

MRS. THEODORE ROSS FOUND NOT GUILTY

Under direction of the court a verdict of not guilty was returned by a jury today in the case of the commonwealth against Mrs. Theodore Ross, charged with abortion and attempted abortion in connection with the death of Mrs. Viola Conti last summer. Action of Judge Hildebrand was due to the fact that testimony of physicians who had attended Mrs. Conti was not definite as to the cause of her death.

War isn't as pleasant as peace in some ways, but it doesn't fatten those who defend enemies of the country.

Sparks From New Castle Motor Club

The Right Of Way

There are few motorists who would intentionally interfere with the speed of an ambulance rushing some person to the hospital. Likewise, they would not impede the progress of police cars or fire trucks answering calls that might mean the saving of life and property. Nevertheless, they, unwittingly perhaps, do this very thing when they fail to give the right-of-way to these public vehicles on errands of mercy.

Members of police and fire departments often risk their lives willingly in order to save others, and the motorist who fails to allow them free passage contributes to this risk. This is especially true of the bulky equipment on wheels required to fight fires.

While municipal traffic regulations require that private cars give right-of-way, they are not in every instance obeyed. Therefore, it is important that the motorist should realize the necessity of pulling to the curb and stopping. If he fails to do so, he is responsible for the resultant mishap.

It is quite possible that parked cars make it impossible to pull to the curb, but the motorist can pull over next to this line. There is no excuse for failure to do so.

Universal Certificate Of Title Laws Essential To Stamp Out Theft Of Cars

While excellent progress is being made in curbing the stolen car "racket" and approximately 95 per cent of the automobiles which fall into the hands of thieves are recovered, enactment of universal certificate of title laws will do more than anything else to entirely stamp out this criminal activity.

This statement was made today by R. W. Bolsinger, President of the New Castle Motor Club, which is affiliated with the American Automobile Association. He declared that automobiles now attract thieves because in many localities they may be disposed of easily and with little risk.

"In some states," he continued, "they may be transferred and the vehicle registered under the name of the new owner, or supposed owner, with practically no check on the actual ownership. Naturally, these states have become the dumping ground for stolen automobiles. It is within the province of the states—especially those which do not have certificate of title laws—to stamp out the stolen car industry and in this way safeguard the car owner and the community in general."

The A. A. A. club executive pointed out that a model certificate of title or anti-theft law has been drafted by the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety and offers a pattern for effective State legislation. He continued:

"This law has already been enacted in seven States and the District of Columbia, namely, Arizona, Delaware, Idaho, New Mexico, North Dakota, Pennsylvania and Virginia, while Oregon changed its existing law to more closely conform to the Uniform Code drafted by the National Conference. In addition, 14 other States have some form of certificate of title laws, but 26 States have failed to take legislative steps toward requiring an adequate title and it is in these States that the stolen car racket flourishes."

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. A. R. Flack accompanied by Mrs. Amanda Flack of Plaingrove, visited the latter's son, Glenn Flack, at the Jameson hospital prior to his removal to the Hospital of Birmingham, New York. He left on the 8:15 train. His brother A. R. Flack visited him a few minutes before he started.

Mr. Oliver Murphy of near Jacksville, his son Archie of Ellwood City, Rev. Grey and Clyde Allen of Isle called on Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Warren Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Harlan and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harlan and Glenn attended the funeral of Vida Wimer at Lower Zion Saturday.

DOMESTIC TROUBLE MAKER IS JAILED BUT ON DRY CHARGE

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., Dec. 18—Domestic troubles and dry law evasions just don't go hand in hand. So Zachary Sementuch learned when police were called to quiet a private spat and found a quantity of alleged liquor and a ten gallon still Sementuch was hauled before a justice of the peace and held for court.

Navajo Blankets Work Of Women

Indian Squaw Still Uses The Primitive Distaff; Controls The Industry

For Two Centuries Their Creations Have Won Praise For Remarkable Skill

Among the Pueblos in the 18th century, cotton and wool weaving became secondary to the making of baskets and decorated pottery, while the Navajos, on the other hand, almost ceased to make baskets and pottery and concentrated upon the making of wool blankets, for barter with their neighbors and sale to the outpost traders.

The Navajos have never adopted the spinning-wheel and still use the primitive distaff, a slender round stick about two feet long, pointed at both ends, thrust through the center of a round wooden disk. The wool is respun once, twice, or even four or five times, to make it hard and even.

For first class blankets both worp and woof are of wool, spun fine and very tight, so that the texture of the weave shall be firm and smooth. Whatever the pattern undertaken, the blanket will generally be alike on both sides, although the most skillful weavers are able to weave in several more intricate styles.

A few Indian men have always been engaged in weaving—belts, ceremonial dresses, sashes and, rarely, blankets; but among the Navajos the women have developed and controlled the industry for two centuries.

From Sheep to Loom.

Under the matriarchal family system the sheep belong to them, and, although the men help at shearing time, they alone carry through every process from washing to the finished blanket. At nightfall the shepherdess takes refuge with her flock from coyotes and storms under the rim of some shelving canyon. On any summer day, far out on the desert pasture, the young girl with some little brother or sister will be seen sitting on horseback on from one scanty pasture to another.

In front of a leafy summer hogan, the older women set up their looms under a tree or a brush shelter from the sun; moving on horseback when necessary, and taking equipment and children with them. When the blanket is finished, the weaver scours it in clean sand, rolls it up in a pad behind the saddle, and with a baby in front on the saddle or on a babyboard, or slung in a shoulder blanket on her back, and often a small child tied to the saddle-strings, gallops away to the nearest trader to exchange it for provisions and luxuries.

The beauty of the rug consists quite as much in its symbolic designs as in the color and finesse of the weaving. The earliest blankets were plain white or striped black and white—articles of utility merely.

Navajo women are inarticulate: they do not sing nor chant nor even tell the bedtime stories which are a part of the education of children—all their art impulses seem to have been expressed in the colors and designs of their blankets.

The principal figures on good weaves—old and new—are mountains and rivers, trees, clouds, rain, arrow (male and female), whirlwind and lightning; squares, crosses (swastika, double bar, and other), zigzags, diamond, rectilinear fret—all of which may be reduced to straight lines, the limitations of the loom making curves very difficult to weave. But the expert modern weaver occasionally puts in very complicated figures of the Yeihitshai dancers, stalks of corn, or animal forms very much conventionalized.

Her Work is Arduous.

After all, the Navajo weaver is more remarkable than the work of her hands. To appreciate the Navajo blanket, one must visualize a dark, shy, silent creature who can ride half-broken horses with a baby on her back and a child behind the saddle; who climbs and walks and carries burdens as well as her menfolks; who builds her own house—a leafy shelter in summer, a wattled storm-proof circular hogan in winter.

She must cook two meals a day on a tiny fire of twigs and brush or grass, where fuel is scarce, and whenever the family happens to stop at the moment. With her children she drives and herds the flock, takes it far to water, protects it from wolves and coyotes and storm in some rock canyon.

At washing and shearing time the men assist, then the whole tedious, difficult process of rug-making fills the intervals of her laborious days. When the wool is carded, spun from two to five times, and dyed with the simplest, rudest equipment, she hangs her loom of two upright poles and a frame upright under some cedar tree and, sitting on a blanket on the ground, she weaves upward as far as she can reach, then loosens the web, rolls and sews it at the bottom, and begins again to weave upward until it is finished.

She follows no visible pattern. For generations she has been weaving out of her imagination, yet design, color, and proportion in the hands of an experienced weaver come out nearly perfect. Apparently she does not even count the stitches—her skill enables her to follow her vision. Like the painter she lays on the color and like the etcher she must get it right the first time, for it cannot be altered successfully when once woven.—Mary Roberts Coolidge, in The Rain-Makers.

IN SILENCE CAMPAIGN

(International News Service)

ROME—If Prince Boncompagni Ludovisi, governor of Rome, succeeds in his present campaign Rome will soon lose its record as the noisiest city in Europe. Unnecessary hooting will be punished by fines running from $5 to $10.

It has been learned that most of the elements found on the earth, iron, sodium, copper, etc., also are in the sun.

Plane To Speed 1,000 M. P. H. At 10 Mile Height

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 18—Designed to streak through the stratosphere at a 1,000-mile-an- hour clip, an all-metal plane with an air-tight pilot's cabin has been constructed and is undergoing tests at Dessau, Germany, G. S. von Heydekampf, Philadelphia research engineer, revealed here.

Completed last August, the plane is the product of Professor H. Junkers, noted airplane builder. It is now undergoing preliminary tests before being taken into the stratosphere, the engineer said.

Two unmarried, unattached scientists are being sought now to fly the ship next summer into the stratosphere.

Junkers anticipates the plane will reach a maximum speed of 1,000 miles per hour at a height of about ten miles. The ship is a monoplane with a 40-foot wing spread and a tail 60 feet long to aid in supporting its weight in the rarified atmosphere. The cabin is artificially supplied with oxygen.

Duralumin was the metal used in construction of the ship. This metal also was used in building the U. S. S. Akron, world's largest airship which recently became a unit of the American navy.

83 TONGUES SPOKEN IN SOVIET UNION

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Dec. 18—Europe, second tiniest of the five continents, has 34 different countries wherein no less than 120 different languages are spoken. Out of these 83 alone are spoken in the Soviet Union.

Nearly 81 million people speak German as their native language, Russian is talked by 71 million, and the English speaking number 47 million. It is interesting that there are more Italian-speaking people in Europe than French, namely 71 million and 70 million, respectively.

PARIS, Dec. 18—Eat, drink and breathe properly is the simple secret for a long and happy life according to one who has already celebrated his one hundredth birthday.

He is Dr. Gueniot, the Grand Old Man of the French Academy of Medicine, as hale and hearty as many of the much younger members with fine, clear eyes and ears that hear as well as they ever did.

Dr. Gueniot has had his seat in the Academy for more than half a century. He believes that any person may attain a good old age by living up to simple rules.

BIGGEST TODDY TO CURE AN ELEPHANT

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, O., Dec. 18—One of the largest toddies ever concocted was on record here. It consisted of ten gallons of moonship whiskey and a half barrel of water and was administered in one dose to cure an elephant's cold.

Tusko, ten-ton elephant, was the recipient of the old-fashioned remedy. Ever since he was auctioned off for $200 by the Oregon State fair board to pay for feed and housing bills, the giant pachyderm has shivered, sneezed and coughed his disapproval of a very large cold in the head, or wherever it is elephants keep their colds.

The animals mood became so vicious that his keepers became alarmed. After downing the toddie in several huge gulps, Tusko's surly manner turned to glee. He hammered the ground with his leathery trunk, hurled bales of hay about his shed and then rumbled down on his hay mattress to sleepit off.

DAILY TRIP AROUND WORLD FOR BISHOP

(International News Service)

UTICA, N. Y., Dec 18—A daily jaunt around the world without leaving his diocese may be taken by the Rt. Rev. Charles Fiske, bishop of Central New York, author of a number of books on religious topics and frequent contributor to Schribners and Harpers.

In a recent address the bishop proved that his district in Central New York was the largest diocese in the world. He declares his diocese covers more ground than all the churches in Europe.

He can start in Rome taking a side trip to Carthage, Venice, Genoa, Florence and Smyrna. Other towns in his parish include Antwerp, Copenhagen, Paris, Mexico, Russia, Denmark, Cleveland, Poland, Oxford, Belfast, Syracuse, Pompey and Virgil.

TO ELIMINATE TRAIN WRECKS WITH RADIO

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 18—Railroad men here and in other parts of the country are said to be greatly interested in the invention of William Naken, 16, living in Albany Park here. The device is designed to prevent railroad collisions and tests have indicated that it is an entire success, according to Victor J. Evans, attorney who is obtaining patents for the boy.

A short wave radio set installed in each of the locomotives of two approaching trains emits electrical waves which are picked up by receiving sets in the opposing trains, causing air brakes to be applied automatically, bringing both trains to a stop.

Williams first tried out his idea on toy electrical trains and later secured tests on standard railroad equipment.

Powerful X-Ray Shows Secrets Of Evolution

Has Been Possible To Effect Mechanical Changes On Living Matter

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Dec. 18.—One of the most important secrets of evolution is believed to have been uncovered by Dr. Vasil Obreshkove, of Columbia university and Dr. Aden J. King, of the College of Medicine, Syracuse university.

The two workers have been experimenting with a 300,000 volt, three-phase direct current X-Ray apparatus.

By hurling 100,000 volt X-Rays into certain cells of crustacean creatures at their periods of life stages, the biologist and the chemist have succeeded in producing a hunch back on a water flea and peculiar changes in the structure of appendages of a waterbug the size of a dot.

Not only have they been able to affect mechanical changes in living matter, but have succeeded in determining to a great degree what effect the rays have on the consumption of oxygen by the creatures.

Evidence of a gradation in oxygen consumption of living matter treated with the X-Ray has been noted by Dr. Obreshkove, lending strength to the theory of the power of radiation.

It was believed that the changes on the water flea caused by the X-Ray in a few seconds might have required thousands of years during the ordinary course of evolution.

The flea's offspring underwent an X-Ray bombardment and displayed queer u-shaped backs.

Dr. King and Dr. Obreshkove believe they have only begun to solve this problem, which has baffled the best minds for years.

Dr. Obreshkove has been granted a leave of absence from Columbia in order to work with Dr. King. The X-Ray apparatus was obtained through a $15,000 endowment fund from the Chemical Foundation, Inc., of New York City, and the Hendricks Fund of the College of Medicine.

When the average boy is one year old he will weigh about seven pounds less than his height in inches; at two years he will weigh six pounds less; at four years the weight will be almost four pounds less.

TINY KITTEN AND RABBIT FAST FRIENDS

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 18—A strange friendship between a sleek rabbit and tiny black kitten has sprung up in the home here of George J. St. Lawrence.

Just how the small rabbit found its way to the St. Lawrence home is a mystery. It was found in the yard and later brought into the house, where the kitten immediately adopted it as a playmate.

Day in and day out, Mrs. St. Lawrence says the pair are together. They are inseparable. They eat together, but different foods. They sleep near one another and rarely engage in fistcuffs.

"Sometimes, however," Mrs. St. Lawrence said, 'the kitten becomes irritated at its long-eared friend and slams it to the floor with a sweep of its paws.

"The bunny, however, takes the slaps good naturedly and everything turns out all right when the kitten licks the rabbit's nose."

Mrs. St. Lawrence says the kitten was grief stricken ore entire day when the rabbit disappeared from the house.

"It literally hunted for its friend under the beds and everywhere."

The friendship returned, however, when the bunny came home late that night.

Vets Have Many Toys Ready For Needy Kiddies

Report Is Submitted To Post At Meeting Wednesday Evening In Legion Home

VENISON FEED IS SERVED MEMBERS

Christmas will be made merry for several hundred deserving children this year, through the efforts of the Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

F. L. Wimer, general chairman of the toy committee which is operating a toy mission in Apple Way, reported at the post meeting Wednesday evening, that toys have already been packed and labelled for 120 families, of which the post has knowledge.

In addition, they have many more toys and are looking for others, as they hope to visit all whom Santa Claus will not reach this Christmas season. Each day now finds an increasing number of members of the post at the toy headquarters, putting the finishing touches on toys that have been contributed to the Vets in this worthy effort.

The post went on record Wednesday evening at their meeting as being still as strongly in favor of paying the balance of the Adjusted Compensation certificates, or "bonus" as ever before, and telegrams were ordered sent to Senators David A. Reed, James J. Davis, and Congressman J. Howard Swick, urging them to delay action on the debt moratorium problem until after the bonus question had been settled.

Following the close of the meeting, a venison feed was enjoyed, the deer meat having been secured during the recent season by several of the members of the post who were on a hunting trip in Forest county. Some of the ladies auxiliary members donated pies for the feed.

Sun-Rays Make Babies Strong, Says Specialist

Mothers Should Let Youngsters Romp About Naked

By KINGSBURG SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Mothers, if you want your babies to grow up strong and healthy, take their clothes off and let them romp in the natural rays of the sun.

This is the advice of Dr. J. Lawn Thompson, baby specialist of Washington, who has introduced sun-ray treatment for new-born babies at Providence hospital.

"We have found that babies subjected to natural sur-ray treatment have developed much more rapidly than those kept beneath sheets and blankets in their cribs," Dr. Thompson told International News in an interview. "They develop more strength; have a happier disposition, and are less subject to restlessness," he added.

"We generally start the treatment the day after birth. Their eyes are shaded and they are placed on a bed beneath a specially prepared glass window through which the sun shines. We restrict exposure on the first day to about five minutes. This is gradually increased until the second week, when we give them larger space and let them turn and tumble to their heart's content beneath the rays of the sun."

Dr. Thompson said that the less clothes put on babies and young children, the healthier their bodies would be. He strongly advised use of this natural sun-ray treatment in the home but explained it could be obtained only through use of specially treated glass, such as Vita glass.

"Glass used in ordinary windows has metal and other minerals in it," he said. "These act as an insulator on the sun rays and reduce the beneficial properties of the rays to almost nil. A screen outside the window has the same effect.

"One must have 'cured' glass. Window panes of this treated glass can be installed in urseries just like ordinary glass, and affords a wonderful treatment in winter not only for babies, but adults. Sun-ray treatment is one of the best remedies for malnutrition known to medical science."

DARING TRAVELERS ON THEIR WAY HOME

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 18—Nearing the completion of their air-water trip around the world, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Healey Day of Ridgewood, N. J., are on their way home after their arrival here from Japan.

The couple left New York May 8, sailing for London. In England they assembled their light airplane, christened the "Errant," which Day designed and which the couple built themselves for their globe circling trip.

From London they flew to Shanghai by easy stages, arriving there October 20 after many exciting adventures en route. Their clothing was burned in a hotel fire at Bagdad. At Calcutta they both were striken with fever. In Burma they made a forced landing in the jungle and near Shanghai narrowly escaped death when their landing gear was damaged.

NEW CASTLE-SCOTT PLAY HERE TONIGHT

FLOOR SEASON OPENER STARTS AT 8 O'CLOCK

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh Announces Starting Line-up For Tonight

Scott Bringing Fast Team—Game To Be Played On Washington Floor

George Washington junior high school's gymnasium is expected to be filled tonight when the Red and Black clad passers of New Castle high play Scott high of North Braddock, 1930 Pennsylvania champions, in the opening contest of the 1931-32 basketball season for the local schoolboy quintet. The game starts at 8:00 o'clock.

Thursday afternoon Coach Phil Bridenbaugh sent the squad through the final workout. Practices have been going on for some weeks. The local passers were proclaimed in good early season condition for the opening tussle against the champs. The drills were mainly light Thursday.

New Castle will be pitted against an opponent that proved one of the best fives ever to hold the Pennsylvania crown. Scott will have four members of the 1930 team who helped to capture the laurels. Johnny Krutilis all state guard will be in the lineup. Ralph Ferguson forward, Victor Bache center and Anthony Phillips are the three other members who will face the Bridenbaugh machine.

Again this season Scott shows promise of having another titular combination. To date Homestead high with a fast team tasted defeat at the hands of Scott as did Wilkinsburg high. Homestead bowed by a 24-19 score while Wilkinsburg fell by the wayside by a 35-17 count. So you can readily see what New Castle is being pitted against for an opening game.

Coach Bridenbaugh announced today that his starting lineup will consist of Andy Lasky at center, John Uram and John Teplica at forwards and Bus Reiber and Nick Uram at guards. To date the local boys have chalked up one practice game. In a game merely to get the boys together the Senior high cagers trimmed the All Stars 25-13.

In the workouts the New Castle team has demonstrated that it is fast. For a team which is at such an early stage of the season, New Castle appears impressive. Andy Lasky, lanky and faster than last season has been one of the most impressive players on the squad. He starts his second year tonight. Nick Uram who was named on the W. P. I. A. L. team last season will be holding down a tough berth tonight at guard. He will be forced to watch probably Krutilis, the best in the state in 1930.

Reiber at the other guard position should have his hands full. At the forward posts will be an experienced lad and a passer who is just starting his schoolboy career as far as athletics are concerned. John Uram diminutive but shod with lightning may trouble the Scott team tonight. His speed and way of getting away from the recruits in the practices indicates that he may be a menace to the champs.

John Teplica, a former Ben Franklin junior high boy will occupy the berth left vacant by Francis Wainio. His work has been noticeable throughout. He is a good defensive player and a dead shot under the hoops. The fans will take their first glimpse of the New Castle high Red and Black team tonight. A big crowd is expected to watch this attraction. It is seldom that a school opens its season with a championship five.

The game will be played in the George Washington junior high floor, located on Euclid and North Mercer street. The junior high court is one of the best in this district. The seating arrangement has been completed.

Admission price to the game is 50 cents. Reserved seats also sell for 50 cents. The game acording to Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner will start at 8:00 o'clock.

Coach John Reed of the North Braddock team stated today that Ferguson, last season player was injured in football and may not start the game tonight. Coach Reed announced his starting lineup as follows:

New Castle		Scott
Teplica	F	Krul
J. Uram	F	Vanie!
Lasky	C	Bache
N. Uram	G	Krutilis
Reiber	G	Phillips

Referee—Leslie Harr.

LEWIS MADE MANAGER

(International News Service)

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Dec. 18.—William H. Lewis, of Waynesburg, Pa., has been named manager of the University of Maryland boxing team for this season. Lewis is a senior.

WESTMINSTER TOPS WOOSTER

Titan Basketeers Nose Out Westminster College 42 to 41 In Thrilling Game

WOOSTER, O., Dec. 18.—The Westminster college basketball team of Pennsylvania, Conference champions, opened the Wooster College floor schedule here last night by a thrilling 42 to 41 victory over the local cagers.

At half-time the score favored the Westminster team 22 to 15. At the beginning of the second half Jimmy Courtney, star Wooster forward began popping them in from all angles and soon the Wooster team was up on even terms with the visitors. "Bud" Brownlee a tall lanky Titan center kept pace with Courtney by dropping seven through the hoops for field goals, and made three from the charity line. Kocheran and Siljander also played fine ball for the invaders.

The summary.

Hamas	F	Baxter
Siljander	F	Courtney
Brownlee	C	Talbot
Rice	G	Walket
Kocheran	G	Bole

Subs—Wooster: Sekerak. Field Goals — Hamas 2, Siljander 3, Brownlee 7, Kocheran 4, Rice 2, Courtney 9, Talbot 3, Walket 2, Bole 2. Fouls—Westminster, 6 out of 13. Wooster, 9 out of 17. Referee—Jenkins.

Dukes To Play Saints Tonight

St. Mary's Floor Team Hosts To Pittsburgh Quintet Tonight

DUQUESNE'S FIRST TEAM WILL START

St. Mary's basketball floor tonight will have the Dukes of Duquesne as the attraction. The Saints are ready for a tough battle with the team coached by "Chick" Davies, former New Castle boy. The Dukes won in their game here last year and the locals are anxious to atone for this defeat. The Duke Freshman team plays the St. Mary's Reserves in the first game at 8 o'clock.

Coach Arnold "Fiz" Fraser has a fine group of players wearing the St. Mary's uniforms this year. Francis Uhle is perhaps one of the best guards in the Tri-State district and it is a safe bet that his man tonight will not get a great many baskets. "Bub" Jones another ball-hawk like Uhle will also be in the thick of the game and with this pair of guards the Saints can rest assured. Kulich and Gennock will look after the scoring of the game for the locals with Alexander jumping center.

Lineup Unknown

Just what lineup Coach Davies will use it not known. He has promised to use his first team throughout the game. Last year the Dukes tried to get away with a few subs, but the Saints became so dangerous that Coach Davies was forced to keep his regulars in the game.

A real game is assured. The fans of New Castle always get their moneys worth when the Dukes play here. It is understood that Coach Elmer Layden of the Duquesne football team will be with the Dukes tonight as will Joe Bach and Graduate Manager John Holahan. A fine reception will be tendered the Dukes after the game in the church basement. Business Manager "Joe" Travers has been making arrangements for the comfort of Duquesne University players and coaches during their stay here.

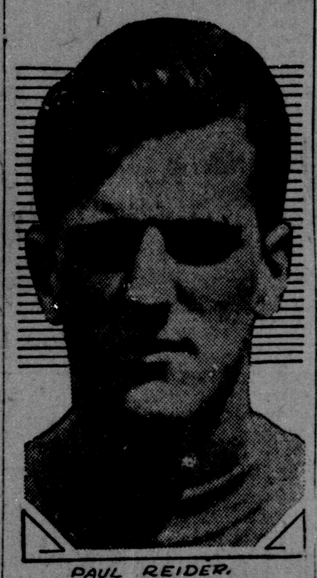
Paul Reider Pitt Captain

Named Unanimously At Dinner Given Players And Coaches

AWARD LETTER TO ELLWOOD CITY BOY



PAUL REIDER.

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 18.—Paul (Bulldog) Reider of New Castle, the mighty right halfback of Pitt's 1931 eleven, whose deeds on the gridiron have been inscribed in the hall of fame, today became captain of the 1932 varsity.

Marking a deviation from Coach "Jock" Sutherland's previous practice of appointing captains, Reider was elected by members of the team and the election was unanimous.

Reider, a junior in the school of physical education, came to Pitt from Bellefonte academy where he won fame on the gridiron. Half way through the 1930 season he displaced Josh Williams on the right halfback berth and has held the job ever since.

Daring Player.

With Warren Heller as his aide, Reider last season worked up one of the most remarkable ball carrying systems ever to grace the Pitt gridiron. It was Heller to Reider and when Reider got the ball it was anything from 20 yards to a touchtown.

Reider's election as captain proved a happy choice. He was cheered to the very "timbers" of the festive hall as Coach Sutherland presented him to the gathering. Paul responded briefly and pledged his all to bring Pitt through the 1932 season victorious.

The dinner tendered the football team and coaches of the University of Pittsburgh was given by Chancellor John G. Bowman last night. The dinner was held at the University club.

Reider demonstrated his leadership qualities in the Army game when he called signals after Bobby Hogan was injured in the first few mintes of play. His daring drove the Panthers to a 26-0 victory.

Incidentally Reider is the second New Castle boy to be honored by the captaincy of Pitt football teams in the past five years. Alec Fox, former New Castle high lineman, was captain of the Pitt Panthers a few years ago.

Carnegie Five Trims Hillsville

At the half the score was deadlocked 4-4. The Carnegie team opened with a fast attack in the third quarter and soon passed their foes. Gallagher and LaRocco were the best for the winners while Porter and Navarro featured for the losers.

Any team desiring games with the Carnegie team are asked to write to R. Viggiano, 506 South Jefferson St.

The summary:

Carnegie 18		Hillsville 10
Gallagher	F	Elliott
LaRocco	F	Marshall
B. Cooper	C	Porter
Chicora	G	Centeby
Campbell	G	Navarro

Subs: Carnegie, Perrett. Hillsville Groce, Zarlingo, Latchow, and Smeigh.

Field goals: Gallagher 3, LaRocco 3, Marshall 2, Cooper and Elliott.

Stricter Supervising Needed For Grid Game

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Des. 18—Breaking the silence that has shrouded him since being dropped as a member of the State Athletic Commission, Frank Wiener, former chairman of the Keystone State's boxing czars, declared he advocates stricter supervision of football as the chief solution for the large number of fatalities.

"It is regretable that such a wonderful game should take such a toll of our young men," Wiener said. "I believe that the only solution to cut down the number of fatalities and not spoil the game would be the strict supervision of the physicians and coaches in charge of the various teams, and that the coaches should not hesitate as long as they do in making institutions.

"Young men in the prime of their lives always want to fight hard for their Alma Mater and hate to be taken out. A well-balanced team has a great many substitutes and they should be thrown into the game sooner and the boys should not be allowed to dictate when they should be removed."

Wiener suggested that when the teams are within 10 or 15 yards from a goal line that penalties for offside, etc., should be cut to a minimum of about two yards for an offside play."

He cited two games which, he said were lost because a five-yard penalty was imposed for offside within the 10 yard line. They were the Penn-Cornell and the Army-Navy games.

Helpfulness cannot be standardized. Giving until it hurts is not a true measure of charity. Some are more easily hurt than others.—The Toledo Blade.

NEW GAS ACTUALLY SPLITS A SECOND!

THE PLACE . . . Refrigeration room of The Seaboard Terminal Company

THE CAR . . . Ice-covered for 12 hours at 29° below freezing

THE GAS . . . . New Winter TYDOL Gasoline

STARTING TIME: ½ Second

Stop-watches clicked in the bitter, freezing air of the cold room.

We believe the New Winter TYDOL to be without an equal. And to get factual proof for this belief, TYDOL was tested against well-known competitive gasolines.

All we ask is trial in your car.

And we believe that your motor, or any motor, will lose its sputter, its wheeze, its long, gear-grinding start—instantly.

Always super-power, high-test, anti-knock. Now—split-second starting at no extra cost.

WINTER VEEDOL
(100% PENNSYLVANIA)

This can of VEEDOL Motor Oil was frozen solidly in this cake of ice, and kept there for 12 hours at 29° below freezing. Even under this extreme cold test, VEEDOL was ready to gush instantly to every bearing and to every moving part of the icy motor.

Don't let a slow-flowing motor oil ruin a fast-starting gasoline. Always use cold-proof VEEDOL and instant starting TYDOL together and you'll have the perfect combination for winter motor protection.

TESTED IN THE WORLD'S LARGEST REFRIGERATOR . . .

The Seaboard Terminal, where half-second starting at 29° below freezing was made a fact, has 1,600,000 square feet of floor space in refrigerated rooms. Zero temperatures are common. But this motor, frozen here for 12 hours, started in four-tenths of one second!

Freed As Killer; Suspected In Second Murder

Fornier Ellwood City Man Is Held In Beaver As Suspect

BEAVER, Pa., Dec. 18—With less than a month of freedom since his parole from the Western Penitentiary, Domineck Crusone, of Ellwood City, is held by county detectives and state police as a suspect in the killing of his brother-in-law Andrew Carbone, former prohibition agent of Donora and Ellwood City, February 17, 1931.

Crusone was arrested by County Detective C. J. O'Loughlin and State Trooper John T. Eddleman after an investigation by a relative of Carbone. Police were told revenge was the motive for the crime.

Crusone was married to Carbone's sister at Donora and they came to Ellwood City to live. Later Carbone, who had been active in procuring dry evidence in Donora came to live with them. On the night of the alleged killing, Crusone is said to have argued with his wife concerning the presence of a still in the house.

Carbone attempted to act peacemaker. Crusone it is charged by police, then fatally wounded Carbone. The body of Carbone was found next day in a box car at Bakerstown, Butler county. Police say the box car was consigned from Ellwood City. Crusone was arrested following the killing but released for lack of evidence.

A short time later he was arrested as a suspect in a killing in Washington county. He was convicted of second degree murder in Washington county and sentenced to the Western penitentiary for from 10 to 20 years. Relatives in Ellwood City and Pittsburgh, becoming afraid of him, sought the aid of police, it is said.

Thirteenth Chair To Be Presented Again For Charity

Action Results After Many Outside Requests For A Reproduction

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 18—After the pressure of opinion and requests the school authorities have consented to permit the Senior Class of the local high school reproduce its mystery sensation "The Thirteenth Chair" on Saturday evening but this time it will be presented for charity.

The school authorities have had no rest since the high actors scored their success in the play last Friday. They have been deluged with requests for a reproduction. In the previous show the play was produced to a packed house, but tomorrow every available space is expected to be taken. A worthy cause is behind this movement and local townsmen will give every bit of co-operation for its success. The proceeds of the show will go toward taking care of needy school children.

Faculty Passers Defeat Geneva

Lloyd Scores Winning Goal In Last Ten Seconds Of Play In Extra period

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 18.—Ellwood high faculty passers emerged 24-22 victors over the Geneva college prexies as a result of a fast play from Hensley to Lloyd in the last ten seconds of an extra period last night in the Lincoln gymnasium.

The score was 19-13 for the visitors at the half. Ellwood tightened its defense for the remainder of the time and at the scheduled end of the contest the score stood at a 22 deadlock. An extra period was played which resulted in one basket and a victory for the locals.

Lloyd and Wolfe were the high scorers for their respective teams with four baskets. Uber Hensley and Hawke each got two for Ellwood. Davies of Geneva was next high with three buckets to his credit. Caplan played a fine defensive game for the locals.

The high faculty tossers have been practicing for a long time and have developed into a formidable aggregation.

The lineup:

Ellwood 24		Geneva 22
Lloyd	F	Wolfe
Uber	F	Edgecombe
Bell	C	Fleharty
Gills	G	Tilghman
Hawke	G	Scarth

Subs—Ellwood: Hensley, Montgomery, Caplan; Geneva: Tilghman, Scarth, Davies.

A delightful Christmas party was then enjoyed. An exchange of gifts brought some happy moments. The next meeting on January 21 will feature an installation officers.

Daufen-Varner Wedding Event

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 18.—A wedding of unusual interest to many in this vicinity occurred Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock when Miss Wilhemina May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Daufen of the Ellwood-Zelienople road, became the bride of Adam Levaughn Varner of St. Marys, W. Va. The wedding occurred at the parsonage of St. Mark's Lutheran church at Middle Lancaster with the pastor, Rev. Wilbert T. Wilson, as officiant.

The bride was attractively attired in a gown of blue crepe with matching accessories and carried a bridal bouquet of roses. Miss Margaret Daufen as her sister's bridesmaid was charmingly gowned in blue crepe also and carried a bouquet of roses. Frank Smith of Pleasant Hill served as best man.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Varner are well known in this vicinity, the bride having graduated from the local high school with the class of '29 and also graduated from Duffs Business college at Beaver Falls and the groom is at present employed at Zelienople.

Following the ceremony the couple left by motor for St. Marys, W. Va., where they will be the guests of friends. Upon their return they will reside at Zelienople.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Daufen, the bride's parents, will entertain a number of their friends at a wedding dinner and reception at their home Saturday evening.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Market Rallies Briskly After Lower Opening

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—All sections of the market rallied briskly this morning after the industrial and specialty favorites had been driven to another low average level. Atchison led a spectacular advance in the rails; pressed on all sides by a bullish "drive" the bears covered a part of their short position in United States Steel and other stocks which have been under pressure since Monday.

There has been accumulating evidence of the over-crowding of the shorts in the industrial and utility stocks, which sooner or later called for a corrective. Atchison's 5-point jump to 87 demonstrates how this corrective "works" in a stock in which short selling has been in progress. American Tobacco B moved ahead 2 points. United States Steel, which fell to a new low at 36 in the first period, recovered to 38¼. American Tel. and Tel. at 113¾ showed a loss of 1½ points, the stock selling ex-dividend $2.25 a share.

A good gain in retail trade and a better than seasonal increase in bank clearings were the most favorable features of the weekly business reviews. Copper Metal stiffened to 7¼ cents a pound and at least no further cuts were announced in gasoline prices. In Wall Street it was stated that the bulk of "necessitous selling" of industrial stocks and utilities had probably been completed, and that the rails were showing a stronger trend in expectations of an agreement on railroad wages. Bonds were steadier.

THREE COIFFURES ARE APPROVED

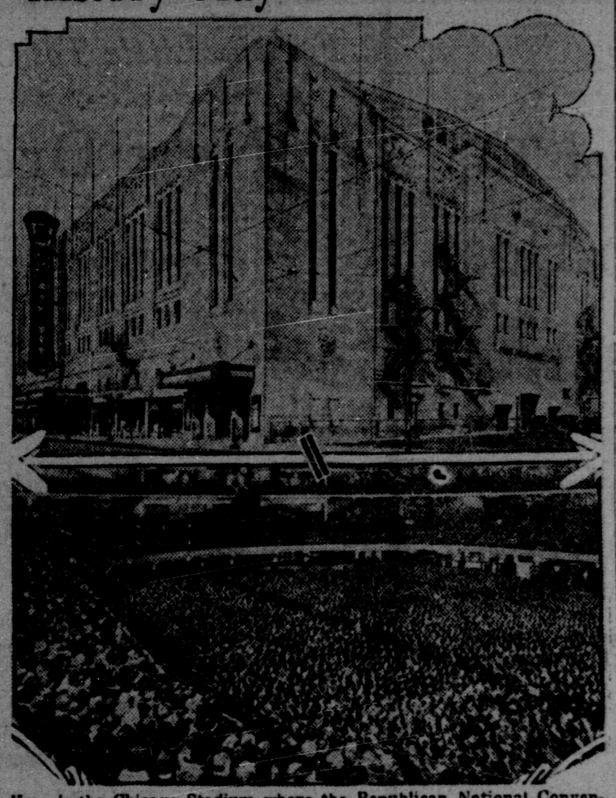
NONSENSE

Bon Voyage to the Bon-Bon

Accompanied by his counsel, Peter Luria, Kid Chocolate, famous Cuban boxer, is shown as he boarded the S. S. Morro Castle at New York for his return to his native Cuba to face statutory charges brought by Rosario Mora, to whom he is said to have been engaged. It may be added that Chocolate is not going back of his own volition, as Uncle Sam is deporting him.

History May Be Made Here



Here is the Chicago Stadium where the Republican National Convention will be held on June 14, having been chosen by a vote of the G. O. P. National Committee 86 to 14. The Stadium will seat 21,000 and is artificially cooled. Lower panel is an interior view of the huge auditorium, giving a good idea of its enormous capacity. Although the building is practically new, by the end of 1932 it may have assumed an historical significance; for the next President of the United States may be nominated there.

REFER COMPLAINTS TO TAX ASSESSOR

Joseph Kusnieczek, Chart street, and Mrs. Stella Dzik today appeared before council which met in the city building. They complained their property tax assessment was too high and requested a reduction. Council did not take any action other than to refer the complaints to County Assessor Bion Cover.

And a civilization has about reached bottom when the government's ability to jail a criminal inspires universal wonder and admiration.—The San Francisco Chronicle.

Many Cities Face Shortage In Water Supply

Emergency Sources Are Turned To By East-Central Communities Of State

NOVEMBER RAINFALL LIGHT IN DISTRICT

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18.—Reiterating his warning concerning the conservation of the public water supply, Assistant Chief Engineer H. E. Moses, of the State Department of Health, called attention to those communities that have been compelled to resort to emergency sources in order to meet the domestic need.

Seven communities in the east-central part of the state have been granted permission by the Department of Health, during the present water shortage, to resort to some form of emergency supply. In one town, two additional supplies have had to be connected up for use. These places are: Tremont, Millville, Greencastle, Blossburg, Weatherly, Phillipsburg and Curwensville. These total a poplation of nearly 20,000 people.

The month of November, just ended, in some parts of the state showed a deficiency in rainfall in such amounts as to aggravate the low water condition already present. Reports continue to come from district engineers of the Health Department in various sections of the commonwealth, showing that the situation is fast becoming acute. Nothing but a plentiful rain fall will prevent a serious condition in those communities in the state where the water supply is abnormally low.

It is the part of wisdom to be careful in the use of water now, in order that the dwindling supplies may be conserved. Streams are low. Underground supplies have not been replenished since last year's drought. Serious trouble is on the way, and will arrive soon, unless copious rainfall reaches , followed by heavy winter snows. Since we can not be sure that these will come in such abundant measure, let us discount the future by saving water now.

TALKS TO JUDGE, SENTENCE STERNER

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 18—Martin Barry, 21 was sentenced to serve 18 to 36 months in the county workhouse here for theft of an automobile. As he was led from Judge Harry H. Rowland's courtroom, he turned and said:

"Do you know I can double that?" queried the judge. "Mark those papers 'no parole.' "

State Hospital Is Overcrowded

Limits Of Capacity Passed At Elizabethtown Institution For Crippled

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18— The Pennsylvania State Hospital for Crippled Children, at Elizabethtown, passed the limits of its capacity at the beginning of December, it was learned from Dr. Theodore B. Appel, Secretar, of Health, today.

The present building, numbering 3 units, and its equipment was intended to care for not more than 100 patients at one time. On December 1st, there were 101 children being treated at the institution.

An announcement that is even more vitally interesting, is the statement that an even 100 little folks have been approved for entrance, but can not be admitted because facilities are already overtaxed. These will be taken in, however, as rapidly as discharges make room available.

Ten boys and nine girls were admitted during November, while ten boys and three girls were discharged. Six more admissions than discharges brought the November list to 101.

It is of interest to note how evenly between the sexes, handicapped children seem to be divided. There are 48 boys and 53 girls at present in the institution, while the waiting list shows 51 boys and 49 girls.

This hospital, which was opened March 21, 1930, is designed and equipped for the surgical correction and treatment of all types of orthopaedic conditions, and functions to render the maximum benefit to the greatest possible number of crippled children. The county medical director, in each county of the state, indicates such children in his unit, as are eligible for entrance under the law.

MANY OLD BILLS UNCOVERED FOR TAXES

(International News Service)

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 18—The modern savings banks has not entirely replaced coffee pots, tin cans and other receptacles as depositories according to evidence gained by tax collectors here.

When the time came for the payment of taxes here, people trooped to the collector's office, bearing with them a large number of old-fashioned large sized bills that, supposedly went out of circulation many months ago.

That the money had been kept in the homes of the possessors is evident as the bills would have been destroyed and replaced in modern bills had it been put into a savings bank, the collector said.
